This chart can be used for determining degrees of kinship when there is no statutory means of computation. First, determine the common ancestor of the decedent (D) and the person in question. Then, compute the number of degrees from the person in question to the common ancestor and then to the decedent.