PREFACE

WE are proud to present our 2004 edition of the Legislative Manual. Our writers and editors have labored many hours to bring you the most current and complete work of its kind in our state.

We are also pleased to announce that the Legislative Manual is also available on CD-ROM, in a Windows compatible format. Our CD-ROM edition also offers many special features not available in our book version, making it an unusually valuable reference tool. Please contact us at (800) 444-4041, Ext. 2 for further details.

Our mission is to provide you, our reader, with helpful and accurate answers to questions concerning New Jersey government. We want to be your primary source of information to the people and places that comprise the government community. Of course, we are most interested in your thoughts or comments. If we can serve you better, please let us know.

As is customary in our preface, we report the death of a number of prominent New Jersey leaders since the previous edition of the Manual. Among the more prominent losses have been:

John J. Fay, Jr., a former Senator and Assemblyman from Middlesex County, who was also Executive Director of the New Jersey Commission on Cancer Research and an advisor to Governor McGreevey;

Thomas Connery, Jr., a former Senator and Assemblyman from Gloucester County who also served as chairman of the State Racing Commission;

Howard Fairhurst, who served in the Assembly during the 1960's, representing Hudson County;

Charles Catrillo, a former Assemblyman from Hudson County;

Richard F. Connors, who served as a Superior Court Judge in Hudson County for 27 years;

Joseph M. Nardi, a former Superior Court Judge in Camden County who was also a former Mayor of Camden;

Peter B. Cooper, a Superior Court Judge who served for many years in Essex County;

Arthur Salvatore, a former Superior Court Judge in Mercer County;

Edward Schwartz, a Superior Court Judge who served in Essex County;

A. Warren Herrigel, a former Superior Court Judge in Hunterdon County; and James E. Quinn, a retired Superior Court Judge from Sussex County.

All of the above will be remembered beyond their years of service for their contribution to the health, safety and welfare of the citizens of New Jersey.

We thank the many contributors to this publication, especially those who faithfully and conscientiously respond to our numerous requests for information.

STATE SEAL and OTHER STANDARDS

THE STATE SEAL

New Jersey's state seal was designed by Pierre Eugene du Simitiere and presented in May, 1777, to the Legislature, which was then meeting in the Indian King Tavern in Haddonfield.

The three plows in the shield honor the state's agricultural tradition. The helmet above the shield faces forward, an attitude denoting sovereignty and thus particularly fitting for one of the first governments created under the notion that the state itself is the sovereign. The crest above the helmet is a horse's head.

The supporting female figures are Liberty and Ceres, the Roman goddess of grain, symbolizing abundance. Liberty, on the viewer's left, carries the liberty cap on her staff. Ceres holds a cornucopia filled with harvested produce. Below them is a scroll bearing the motto "Liberty and Prosperity," and the year of statehood, 1776.

Although the seal's major elements have kept their relative positions for more than 200 years, there have been a number of lesser changes. The staff that Liberty now holds with her right hand she once held in the crook of her left arm. While the female figures now face straight ahead they at one time looked away from the shield. The cornucopia that Ceres now holds upright was once inverted, its open end upon the ground.

THE STATE FLAG

The New Jersey state flag is defined and described in Joint Resolution No. 2 of 1896, which reads as follows:

Joint Resolution to Define the State Flag.

1. BE IT RESOLVED by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

The State flag shall be of buff color, having in the center thereof the arms of the State properly emblazoned thereon.

2. The State flag shall be the headquarters flag for the Governor as Commander-in-Chief, but shall not supersede distinctive flags which are or may hereafter be prescribed for different arms of military or naval service of this State.

3. This act shall take effect immediately.

Approved March 26, 1896. (P.L. 1896, page 176.)

Under Chapter 170, P.L. 1965, the official colors of New Jersey for use on the state flag and for other purposes were established by statute as buff and Jersey blue.

THE STATE FLOWER

The state flower of New Jersey is the violet, as officially declared in Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 4 of 1913 that passed the Assembly and the Senate on March 28 and April 2, respectively, of that year.

Later, in 1971, the Legislature adopted a bill officially designating the violet, Viola sororia, as the state flower. Garden clubs feared the earlier concurrent resolution had no permanence in law.

THE STATE BIRD

The Eastern Goldfinch is the New Jersey state bird, having been so declared by Chapter 283 of the Laws of 1935. (R.S. 52: 9A-1).

THE STATE TREES

The official state tree is the red oak, Quercus rubra (formerly known as Quercus borealis maxima). The red oak was authorized by a joint resolution signed by Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll June 13, 1950. The state memorial tree is the dogwood, Cornus florida, authorized by Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 2 of 1951.

THE STATE BUG

The honey bee, Apis mellifera, is the state bug, having been so designated by Chapter 42 of the Laws of 1974. The Legislature enacted the bill, A-671, and Gov. Brendan T. Byrne signed it June 20, 1974. They were encouraged by a group of children from the Sunnybrae School in Hamilton Township, who came to the State House with a presentation that included a song and a poem.

Despite the official designation, scientists do not classify the bee as a bug. The bee is listed in the order Hymenoptera, which means "membranous wings," while true bugs are listed in the order Hemiptera.

THE STATE ANIMAL

The state animal is the horse, Equus caballus, so designated in Chapter 173 of the Laws of 1977. Gov. Brendan T. Byrne signed the law Aug. 14, 1977, while attending the farm and horse show at Augusta, Sussex County. Two students who had championed the horse as state animal, Michael J. McCarthy, of the fifth grade of Our Lady of Victories School, Harrington Park, and James R. Sweetman, Jr., of the eighth grade of Freehold Intermediate School, Freehold, were present at the bill signing.

THE STATE FOLK DANCE

The square dance is the state's official folk dance, so designated by Senate Joint Resolution 19, signed by Gov. Thomas H. Kean on Jan. 20, 1983.

THE STATE DINOSAUR

The Hadrosaurus Foulkii was designated the state dinosaur by Chapter 161 of the Laws of 1991. Gov. James J. Florio signed the law June 13, 1991, in a ceremony attended by pupils and teachers of Strawbridge Elementary School, Westmont, who had campaigned for the designation for more than 10 years.

Fossil remains of the 25-foot-long, duck-billed creature were unearthed in a Haddonfield marl pit in October, 1858, by William Parke Foulke.

THE STATE FISH

The brook trout, Salvelinus fontinalis, is the state's official fish, having been so declared by Chapter 342 of the Laws of 1991. The Legislature passed Assembly Bill 2608 and Gov. James J. Florio signed it Jan. 8, 1992, at Hopatcong Middle School, Hopatcong.

THE STATE SHELL

The state shell is the knobbed whelk, Busycon carica gmelin, having been so designated by Chapter 89 of the Public Laws of 1995, signed by Governor Christine Todd Whitman April 13, 1995. Commonly known as the conch shell, the shell of the knobbed whelk is large, solid and pear-shaped, coiling from left to right, as seen from its apex. It is yellowish gray in color, with brownish purple axial streaks in juveniles. The shell is found on all beaches and bays of New Jersey.

THE STATE TALL SHIP

The A.J. Meerwald, a Delaware Bay oyster schooner launched in 1928, is the state tall ship having been so designated by Chapter 9 of the Laws of 1998. The ship, constructed of oak planks laid over oak frames, is 115 feet long and has a beam height of 22 feet, 3 inches. From its home port in Commercial Township, the A.J. Meerwald is operated by the Delaware Bay Schooner Project as a floating classroom, promoting ecological and historical awareness of the bay and the waters of New Jersey.

THE STATE FRUIT

The highbush blueberry, Vaccinium corymbosum, was designated the state's official fruit by Chapter 245 of the Public Laws of 2003. The legislation was inspired by fourth grade students at Veterans Memorial Elementary School in Brick, site of the bill signing by Governor James E. McGreevey on Jan. 12, 2004.

THE STATE SONG

New Jersey does not have an official state song.

Governor Richard Howell wrote a stirring song, "Jersey Blue," which his state militia men sang as they marched across Pennsylvania to help put down the Whiskey Rebellion in 1794. Although the song was said to have a rallying effect upon the dispirited Jersey soldiers, it was not officially adopted as the state anthem.

A 1939 contest produced a recommendation in favor of a song by Samuel Monroe, but the Legislature did not act upon it. In 1956 the Department of Education reported that it had reviewed proposed state songs but found none of sufficient merit.

On Nov. 20, 1972, the General Assembly approved, 48-6, a Senate bill declaring "I'm from New Jersey" the official State song. The composer was Joseph Rocco "Red" Mascara of Phillipsburg. The bill was not signed into law, however.

On June 12, 1980, the Assembly by voice vote passed ACR-121 designating the song "Born to Run," by Freehold native Bruce Springsteen, as the state's unofficial rock theme. The resolution was referred to the Senate's Government Committee, which did not release it.

Legislation signed into law Jan. 5, 1996, directed the New Jersey State Arts Council to hold a competition, to include eight songs already being considered by the Legislature and others that may be submitted, and to recommend three songs, in priority order, to the Legislature for possible designation as the state song.

On May 23, 1996, after having evaluated 215 entries, the council recommended "New Jersey My Home," by Patrick Finley, Teaneck; "In New Jersey," lyrics inspired by a former 4th grade class of the Van Holten School in Bridgewater, music by Terre McPheeters; and "Be Proud to be in New Jersey," by Mark and Ellen Winter, Springfield.

As the 2004 Manual went to press, the Legislature had yet to act on the council's recommendation.

The DOCUMENTS

This section of the Manual contains the documents upon which the national and state governments are built. In order, its entries are:

- Declaration of Independence
- United States Constitution, Table of Contents
- United States Constitution, with Amendments
- Dates of Ratification
- Dates of Ratification by New Jersey
- New Jersey Constitution, Table of Contents
- New Jersey Constitution, as Amended

DECLARATION of INDEPENDENCE

In CONGRESS, July 4, 1776.

The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America.

WHEN, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; that to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present king of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his Governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operations till his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature, a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the mean time exposed to all the dangers of invasions from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migrations hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of and superior to the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes on us without our consent:

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses:

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies:

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments:

For suspending our own Legislatures and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to compleat the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of cruelty & perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow citizens taken captive on the high seas to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrection amongst us, and has endeavoured to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare, is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms: Our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in our attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace friends.

WE, THEREFORE, the representatives of the UNITED STATES of AMERICA, in General Congress, assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the World for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name, and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare, that these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that, as Free and Independent States, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which Independent States may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred Honor.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

Supporters of the concept of a balanced federal budget have urged the state legislatures to call a convention to formally draft a proposed constitutional amendment to that effect. The convention would be the first of its kind in history. All 27 adopted amendments, and others that were rejected, have been put forward by the alternative method of congressional action.

Opponents of the proposed convention argue that it might open the entire Constitution to revision, allowing the delegates to propose amendments for such things as prayer in the public schools.

Action by two-thirds of the states—a minimum of 34—is necessary to execute the convention call. Thirty-two states initially endorsed the proposal. In 1988, however, the Alabama and Florida Legislatures rescinded their endorsements, and Louisiana did the same in 1990.

As of Jan. 1, 2004, the New Jersey Legislature had not endorsed the proposal.

NEW JERSEY STATE CONSTITUTION

This Constitution replaced the Constitution of 1844, which had replaced the original Constitution of 1776.

This Constitution, ratified on Nov. 4, 1947, by a vote of 653,096 to 184,632, was prepared by the delegates elected June 3, 1947, to a Constitutional Convention created by Chapter 8, Laws of 1947. They met at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, from June 12 to Sept. 10, 1947.

The Constitution became effective Jan. 1, 1948, with the exception of the Judicial Article, Article VI, which became effective Sept. 15, 1948.

Under Chapter 43, Laws of 1965, another convention met at Rutgers from March 21 to June 14, 1966. It proposed the State Senate should have 40 members instead of 29 and the General Assembly, 80 instead of 60. On Nov. 8, 1966, the voters approved, 890,710 to 506,884.

The Constitution has been amended 57 times; another 14 proposed amendments have been rejected. A complete list of the proposals, and the votes for and against each, appears under the heading "Referendums Since 1947" in the section of the Manual devoted to election returns.

The Manual editors have inserted bold-face lines to indicate the parts of the Constitution that have been changed by amendment. For the wording of the original text, see the Legislative Manuals of 1948 through 1953.

ARTICLE II

ELECTIONS AND SUFFRAGE

SECTION I

1. General elections shall be held annually on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November; but the time of holding such elections may be altered by law. The Governor and members of the Legislature shall be chosen at general elections. Local elective officers shall be chosen at general elections or at such other times as shall be provided by law.

2. All questions submitted to the people of the entire State shall be voted upon at the general election next occurring at least 70 days following the final action of the Governor or the Legislature, as appropriate, necessary to submit the questions. The text of any such question shall be published at least once in one or more newspapers of each county, if any newspapers be published therein, at least 60 days before the election at which it is to be submitted to the people, and the results of the vote upon a question shall be void unless the text thereof shall have been so published.

Article II, paragraph 2 amended effective December 8, 1988.

3. (a) Every citizen of the United States, of the age of 18 years, who shall have been a resident of this State and of the county in which he claims his vote 30 days, next before the election, shall be entitled to vote for all officers that now are or hereafter may be elective by the people, and upon all questions which may be submitted to a vote of the people; and

(b) (Deleted by amendment, effective December 5, 1974.)

(c) Any person registered as a voter in any election district of this state who has removed or shall remove to another state or to another county within this State and is not able there to qualify to vote by reason of an insufficient period of residence in such state or county, shall, as a citizen of the United States, have the right to vote for electors for President and Vice President of the United States, only, by Presidential Elector Absentee Ballot, in the county from which he has removed, in such manner as the Legislature shall provide.

Article II, paragraph 3 amended effective December 5, 1974.

4. In time of war no elector in the military service of the State or in the armed forces of the United States shall be deprived of his vote by reason of absence from his election district. The Legislature may provide for absentee voting by members of the armed forces of the United States in time of peace. The Legislature may provide the manner in which and the time and place at which such absent electors may vote, and for the return and canvass of their votes in the election district in which they respectively reside.

5. No person in the military, naval or marine service of the United States shall be considered a resident of this State by being stationed in any garrison, barrack, or military or naval place or station within this State.

6. No idiot or insane person shall enjoy the right of suffrage.

7. The Legislature may pass laws to deprive persons of the right of suffrage who shall be convicted of such crimes as it may designate. Any person so deprived, when pardoned or otherwise restored by law to the right of suffrage, shall again enjoy that right.

SECTION II

1. (a) After each federal census taken in a year ending in zero, the Congressional districts shall be established by the New Jersey Redistricting Commission.

The commission shall consist of 13 members, none of whom shall be a member or employee of the Congress of the United States. The members of the commission shall be appointed with due consideration to geographic, ethnic and racial diversity and in the manner provided herein.

(b) There shall first be appointed 12 members as follows:

(1) two members to be appointed by the President of the Senate;

(2) two members to be appointed by the Speaker of the General Assembly;

(3) two members to be appointed by the minority leader of the Senate;

(4) two members to be appointed by the minority leader of the General Assembly; and

(5) four members, two to be appointed by the chairman of the State committee of the political party whose candidate for the office of Governor received the largest number of votes at the most recent gubernatorial election and two to be appointed by the chairman of the State committee of the political party whose candidate for the office of Governor received the next largest number of votes in that election.

Appointments to the commission under this subparagraph shall be made on or before June 15 of each year ending in one and shall be certified by the respective appointing officials to the Secretary of State on or before July 1 of that year.

Each partisan delegation so appointed shall appoint one of its members as its chairman who shall have authority to make such certifications and to perform such other tasks as the members of that delegation shall reasonably require.

(c) There shall then be appointed one member, to serve as an independent member, who shall have been for the preceding five years a resident of this State, but who shall not during that period have held public or party office in this State.

The independent member shall be appointed upon the vote of at least seven of the previously appointed members of the commission on or before July 15 of each year ending in one, and those members shall certify that appointment to the Secretary of State on or before July 20 of that year. If the previously appointed members are unable to appoint an independent member within the time allowed therefor, they shall so certify to the Supreme Court not later than that July 20 and shall include in that certification the names of the two persons who, in the members' final vote upon the appointment of the independent member, received the greatest number of votes. Not later than August 10 following receipt of that certification, the Supreme Court shall by majority vote of its full authorized membership select, of the two persons so named, the one more qualified by education and occupational experience, by prior public service in government or otherwise, and by demonstrated ability to represent the best interest of the people of this State, to be the independent member. The Court shall certify that selection to the Secretary of State not later than the following August 15.

(d) Vacancies in the membership of the commission occurring prior to the certification by the commission of Congressional districts or during any period in which the districts established by the commission may be or are under challenge in court shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointments were made within five days of their occurrence. In the case of a vacancy in the membership of the independent member, if the other members of the commission are unable to fill that vacancy within that five-day period, they shall transmit certification of such inability within three days of the expiration of the period to the Supreme Court, which shall select the person to fill the vacancy within five days of receipt of that certification.

2. The independent member shall serve as the chairman of the commission. The commission shall meet to organize as soon as may be practicable after certification of the appointment of the independent member, but not later than the Wednesday after the first Monday in September of each year ending in one. At the organizational meeting the members of the commission shall determine such organizational matters as they deem appropriate. Thereafter, a meeting of the commission may be called by the chairman or upon the request of seven members, and seven members of the commission shall constitute a quorum at any meeting thereof for the purpose of taking any action.

3. On or before the third Tuesday of each year ending in two, or within three months after receipt in each decade by the appropriate State officer of the official statement by the Clerk of the United States House of Representatives, issued pursuant to federal law, regarding the number of members of the House of Representatives apportioned to this State for that decade, whichever is later, the commission shall certify the establishment of the Congressional districts to the Secretary of State. The commission shall certify the establishment of districts pursuant to a majority vote of the full authorized membership of the commission convened in open public meeting, of which meeting there shall be at least 24 hours' public notice. Any vote by the commission upon a proposal to certify the establishment of a Congressional district plan shall be taken by roll call and shall be recorded, and the vote of any member in favor of any Congressional district plan shall nullify any vote which that member shall previously have cast during the life of the commission in favor of a different Congressional district plan. If the commission is unable to certify the establishment of districts by the time required due to the inability of a plan to achieve seven votes, the two district plans receiving the greatest number of votes, but not fewer than five votes, shall be submitted to the Supreme Court, which shall select and certify whichever of the two plans so submitted conforms most closely to the requirements of the Constitution and laws of the United States.

4. The New Jersey Redistricting Commission shall hold at least three public hearings in different parts of the State. The commission shall, subject to the constraints of time and convenience, review written plans for the establishment of Congressional districts submitted by members of the public.

5. Meetings of the New Jersey Redistricting Commission shall be held at convenient times and locations and, with the exception of the public hearings required by paragraph 4 of this section and the meeting at which the establishment of districts is certified as prescribed by paragraph 3 of this section, may be closed to the public.

6. The Legislature shall appropriate the funds necessary for the efficient operation of the New Jersey Redistricting Commission.

7. Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary of this Constitution and except as otherwise required by the Constitution or laws of the United States, no court of this State other than the Supreme Court shall have jurisdiction over any judicial proceeding challenging the appointment of members to the New Jersey Redistricting Commission, or any action, including the establishment of Congressional districts, by the commission or other public officer or body under the provisions of this section.

8. The establishment of Congressional districts shall be used thereafter for the election of members of the House of Representatives and shall remain unaltered through the next year ending in zero in which a federal census for this State is taken.

9. If a plan certified by the commission is declared unlawful, the commission shall reorganize and adopt another Congressional district plan in the same manner as herein required and within the period of time prescribed by the court or within such shorter period as may be necessary to ensure that the new plan is effective for the next succeeding primary and general election for all members of the United States House of Representatives.

Article II, Section II, added effective December 7, 1995.

ARTICLE III

DISTRIBUTION OF THE POWERS OF GOVERNMENT

1. The powers of government shall be divided among three distinct branches, the legislative, executive, and judicial. No person or persons belonging to or constituting one branch shall exercise any of the powers properly belonging to either of the others, except as expressly provided in this Constitution.

ARTICLE IV

LEGISLATIVE

SECTION I

1. The legislative power shall be vested in a Senate and General Assembly.

2. No person shall be a member of the Senate who shall not have attained the age of thirty years, and have been a citizen and resident of the State for four years, and of the district for which he shall be elected one year, next before his election. No person shall be a member of the General Assembly who shall not have attained the age of twenty-one years and have been a citizen and resident of the State for two years, and of the district for which he shall be elected one year, next before his election. No person shall be eligible for membership in the Legislature unless he be entitled to the right of suffrage.

Article IV, Section I, paragraph 2 amended effective December 8, 1966.

3. Each Legislature shall be constituted for a term of 2 years beginning at noon on the second Tuesday in January in each even numbered year, at which time the Senate and General Assembly shall meet and organize separately and the first annual session of the Legislature shall commence. Said first annual session shall terminate at noon on the second Tuesday in January next following, at which time the second annual session shall commence and it shall terminate at noon on the second Tuesday in January then next following but either session may be sooner terminated by adjournment sine die. All business before either House or any of the committees thereof at the end of the first annual session may be resumed in the second annual session. The legislative year shall commence at noon on the second Tuesday in January of each year.

Article IV, Section I, paragraph 3 amended effective December 3, 1968. (Applicable to the 1970 Legislature and thereafter.)

4. Special sessions of the Legislature shall be called by the Governor upon petition of a majority of all the members of each house, and may be called by the Governor whenever in his opinion the public interest shall require.

SECTION II

1. The Senate shall be composed of forty senators apportioned among Senate districts as nearly as may be according to the number of their inhabitants as reported in the last preceding decennial census of the United States and according to the method of equal proportions. Each Senate district shall be composed, wherever practicable, of one single county, and, if not so practicable, of two or more contiguous whole counties.

2. Each senator shall be elected by the legally qualified voters of the Senate district, except that if the Senate district is composed of two or more counties and two senators are apportioned to the district, one senator shall be elected by the legally qualified voters of each Assembly district. Each senator shall be elected for a term beginning at noon of the second Tuesday in January next following his election and ending at noon of the second Tuesday in January four years thereafter, except that each senator, to be elected for a term beginning in January of the second year following the year in which a decennial census of the United States is taken, shall be elected for a term of two years.

3. The General Assembly shall be composed of eighty members. Each Senate district to which only one senator is apportioned shall constitute an Assembly district. Each of the remaining Senate districts shall be divided into Assembly districts equal in number to the number of senators apportioned to the Senate district. The Assembly districts shall be composed of contiguous territory, as nearly compact and equal in the number of their inhabitants as possible, and in no event shall each such district contain less than eighty per cent nor more than one hundred twenty per cent of one-fortieth of the total number of inhabitants of the State as reported in the last preceding decennial census of the United States. Unless necessary to meet the foregoing requirements, no county or municipality shall be divided among Assembly districts unless it shall contain more than one-fortieth of the total number of inhabitants of the State, and no county or municipality shall be divided among a number of Assembly districts larger than one plus the whole number obtained by dividing the number of inhabitants in the county or municipality by one-fortieth of the total number of inhabitants of the State.

4. Two members of the General Assembly shall be elected by the legally qualified voters of each Assembly district for terms beginning at noon of the second Tuesday in January next following their election and ending at noon of the second Tuesday in January two years thereafter.

Article IV, Section II, paragraphs 1, 2, 3, 4 amended effective December 8, 1966.

SECTION III

1. After the next and every subsequent decennial census of the United States, the Senate districts and Assembly districts shall be established, and the senators and members of the General Assembly shall be apportioned among them, by an Apportionment Commission consisting of ten members, five to be appointed by the chairman of the State committee of each of the two political parties whose candidates for Governor receive the largest number of votes at the most recent gubernatorial election. Each State chairman, in making such appointments, shall give due consideration to the representation of the various geographical areas of the State. Appointments to the Commission shall be made on or before November 15 of the year in which such census is taken and shall be certified by the Secretary of State on or before December 1 of that year. The Commission, by a majority of the whole number of its members, shall certify the establishment of Senate and Assembly districts and the apportionment of senators and members of the General Assembly to the Secretary of State within one month of the receipt by the Governor of the official decennial census of the United States for New Jersey, or on or before February 1 of the year following the year in which the census is taken, whichever date is later.

2. If the Apportionment Commission fails so to certify such establishment and apportionment to the Secretary of State on or before the date fixed or if prior thereto it determines that it will be unable so to do, it shall so certify to the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of New Jersey and he shall appoint an eleventh member of the Commission. The Commission so constituted, by a majority of the whole number of its members, shall, within one month after the appointment of such eleventh member, certify to the Secretary of State the establishment of Senate and Assembly districts and the apportionment of senators and members of the General Assembly.

3. Such establishment and apportionment shall be used thereafter for the election of members of the Legislature and shall remain unaltered until the following decennial census of the United States for New Jersey shall have been received by the Governor.

Article IV, Section III, paragraphs 1, 2, 3 amended effective December 8, 1966.

SECTION IV

1. Any vacancy in the Legislature occasioned otherwise than by expiration of term shall be filled by election for the unexpired term only at the next general election occurring not less than 51 days after the occurrence of the vacancy, except that no vacancy shall be filled at the general election which immediately precedes the expiration of the term in which the vacancy occurs. For the interim period pending the election and qualification of a successor to fill the vacancy, or for the remainder of the term in the case of a vacancy occurring which cannot be filled pursuant to the terms of this paragraph at the general election, the vacancy shall be filled within 35 days by the members of the county committee of the political party of which the incumbent was the nominee from the municipalities or districts or units thereof which comprise the legislative district.

Article IV, Section IV, paragraph 1 amended effective December 8, 1988.

2. Each house shall be the judge of elections, returns, and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of all of its members shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner, and under such penalties, as each house may provide.

3. Each house shall choose its own officers, determine the rules of its proceedings, and punish its members for disorderly behavior. It may expel a member with the concurrence of two-thirds of all its members.

4. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same. The yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, on demand of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

5. Neither house, during the session of the Legislature, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, or to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

6. All bills and joint resolutions shall be read three times in each house before final passage. No bill or joint resolution shall be read a third time in either house until after the intervention of one full calendar day following the day of the second reading; but if either house shall resolve by vote of three-fourths of all its members, signified by yeas and nays entered on the journal, that a bill or joint resolution is an emergency measure, it may proceed forthwith from second to third reading. No bill or joint resolution shall pass, unless there shall be a majority of all the members of each body personally present and agreeing thereto, and the yeas and nays of the members voting on such final passage shall be entered on the journal.

7. Members of the Senate and General Assembly shall receive annually, during the term for which they shall have been elected and while they shall hold their office, such compensation as shall, from time to time, be fixed by law and no other allowance or emolument, directly or indirectly, for any purpose whatever. The President of the Senate and the Speaker of the General Assembly, each by virtue of his office, shall receive an additional allowance, equal to one-third of his compensation as a member.

8. The compensation of members of the Senate and General Assembly shall be fixed at the first session of the Legislature held after this Constitution takes effect, and may be increased or decreased by law from time to time thereafter, but no increase or decrease shall be effective until the legislative year following the next general election for members of the General Assembly.

9. Members of the Senate and General Assembly shall, in all cases except treason and high misdemeanor, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the sitting of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any statement, speech or debate in either house or at any meeting of a legislative committee, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

SECTION V

1. No member of the Senate or General Assembly, during the term for which he shall have been elected, shall be nominated, elected or appointed to any State civil office or position, of profit, which shall have been created by law, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased by law, during such term. The provisions of this paragraph shall not prohibit the election of any person as Governor or as a member of the Senate or General Assembly.

2. The Legislature may appoint any commission, committee or other body whose main purpose is to aid or assist it in performing its functions. Members of the Legislature may be appointed to serve on any such body.

3. If any member of the Legislature shall become a member of Congress or shall accept any Federal or State office or position, of profit, his seat shall thereupon become vacant.

4. No member of Congress, no person holding any Federal or State office or position, of profit, and no judge of any court shall be entitled to a seat in the Legislature.

5. Neither the Legislature nor either house thereof shall elect or appoint any executive, administrative or judicial officer except the State Auditor.

SECTION VI

2. The Legislature may enact general laws under which municipalities, other than counties, may adopt zoning ordinances limiting and restricting to specified districts and regulating therein, buildings and structures, according to their construction, and the nature and extent of their use, and the nature and extent of the uses of land, and the exercise of such authority shall be deemed to be within the police power of the State. Such laws shall be subject to repeal or alteration by the Legislature.

3. Any agency or political subdivision of the State or any agency of a political subdivision thereof, which may be empowered to take or otherwise acquire private property for any public highway, parkway, airport, place, improvement, or use, may be authorized by law to take or otherwise acquire a fee simple absolute or any lesser interest, and may be authorized by law to take or otherwise acquire a fee simple absolute in, easements upon, or the benefit of restrictions upon, abutting property to preserve and protect the public highway, parkway, airport, place, improvement, or use; but such taking shall be with just compensation.

4. The Legislature, in order to insure continuity of State, county and local governmental operations in periods of emergency resulting from disasters caused by enemy attack, shall have the power and the immediate and continuing duty by legislation (1) to provide, prior to the occurrence of the emergency, for prompt and temporary succession to the powers and duties of public offices, of whatever nature and whether filled by election or appointment, the incumbents of which may become unavailable for carrying on the powers and duties of such offices, and (2) to adopt such other measures as may be necessary and proper for insuring the continuity of governmental operations. In the exercise of the powers hereby conferred the Legislature shall in all respects conform to the requirements of this Constitution except to the extent that in the judgment of the Legislature to do so would be impracticable or would admit of undue delay.

Article IV, Section VI, paragraph 4 added effective December 7, 1961.

SECTION VII

1. No divorce shall be granted by the Legislature.

2. No gambling of any kind shall be authorized by the Legislature unless the specific kind, restrictions and control thereof have been heretofore submitted to, and authorized by a majority of the votes cast by, the people at a special election or shall hereafter be submitted to, and authorized by a majority of the votes cast thereon by, the legally qualified voters of the State voting at a general election, except that, without any such submission or authorization:

A. It shall be lawful for bona fide veterans, charitable, educational, religious or fraternal organizations, civic and service clubs, senior citizen associations or clubs, volunteer fire companies and first-aid or rescue squads to conduct, under such restrictions and control as shall from time to time be

B. It shall be lawful for the Legislature to authorize, by law, bona fide veterans, charitable, educational, religious or fraternal organizations, civic and service clubs, senior citizen associations or clubs, volunteer fire companies and first-aid or rescue squads to conduct games of chance of, and restricted to, the selling of rights to participate, and the awarding of prizes, in the specific kinds of games of chance sometimes known as raffles, conducted by the drawing for prizes or by the allotment of prizes by chance, when the entire net proceeds of such games of chance are to be devoted to educational, charitable, patriotic, religious or public-spirited uses, and in the case of senior citizen associations or clubs to the support of such organizations, in any municipality, in which such law shall be adopted by a majority of the qualified voters, voting thereon, at a general or special election as the submission thereof shall be prescribed by law and for the Legislature, from time to time, to restrict and control, by law, the conduct of such games of chance;

3. The Legislature shall not pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, or depriving a party of any remedy for enforcing a contract which existed when the contract was made.

4. To avoid improper influences which may result from intermixing in one and the same act such things as have no proper relation to each other, every law shall embrace but one object, and that shall be expressed in the title. This paragraph shall not invalidate any law adopting or enacting a compilation, consolidation, revision, or rearrangement of all or parts of the statutory law.

5. No law shall be revived or amended by reference to its title only, but the act revived, or the section or sections amended, shall be inserted at length. No act shall be passed which shall provide that existing law, or any part thereof, shall be made or deemed a part of the act or which shall enact that any existing law, or any part thereof, shall be applicable, except by inserting it in such act.

The Legislature shall pass no special act conferring corporate powers, but shall pass general laws under which corporations may be organized and corporate powers of every nature obtained, subject, nevertheless, to repeal or alteration at the will of the Legislature.

10. Upon petition by the governing body of any municipal corporation formed for local government, or of any county, and by vote of two-thirds of all the members of each house, the Legislature may pass private, special or local laws regulating the internal affairs of the municipality or county. 3. No member of Congress or person holding any office or position, of profit, under this State or the United States shall be Governor. If the Governor or person administering the office of Governor shall accept any other office or position, of profit, under this State or the United States, his office of Governor shall thereby be vacated. No Governor shall be elected by the Legislature to any office during the term for which he shall have been elected Governor.

4. The Governor shall be elected by the legally qualified voters of this State. The person receiving the greatest number of votes shall be the Governor; but if two or more shall be equal and greatest in votes, one of them shall be elected Governor by the vote of a majority of all the members of both houses in joint meeting at the regular legislative session next following the election for Governor by the people. Contested elections for the office of Governor shall be determined in such manner as may be provided by law.

5. The term of office of the Governor shall be four years, beginning at noon of the third Tuesday in January next following his election, and ending at noon on the third Tuesday in January four years thereafter. No person who has been elected Governor for two successive terms, including an unexpired term, shall again be eligible for that office until the third Tuesday in January of the fourth year following the expiration of his second successive term.

6. In the event of a vacancy in the office of Governor resulting from the death, resignation or removal of a Governor in office, or the death of a Governor-elect, or from any other cause, the functions, powers, duties and emoluments of the office shall devolve upon the President of the Senate, for the time being, and in the event of his death, resignation or removal, then upon the Speaker of the General Assembly, for the time being; and in the event of his death, resignation or removal, then upon such officers and in such order of succession as may be provided by law; until a new Governor shall be elected and qualify.

7. In the event of the failure of the Governor-elect to qualify, or of the absence from the State of a Governor in office, or his inability to discharge the duties of his office, or his impeachment, the functions, powers, duties and emoluments of the office shall devolve upon the President of the Senate, for the time being; and in the event of his death, resignation, removal, absence, inability or impeachment, then upon the Speaker of the General Assembly, for the time being; and in the event of his death, resignation, removal, absence, inability or impeachment, then upon such officers and in such order of succession as may be provided by law; until the Governor-elect shall qualify, or the Governor in office shall return to the State, or shall no longer be unable to discharge the duties of the office, or shall be acquitted, as the case may be, or until a new Governor shall be elected and qualify.

8. Whenever a Governor-elect shall have failed to qualify within six months after the beginning of his term of office, or whenever for a period of six months a Governor in office, or person administering the office, shall have remained continuously absent from the State, or shall have been continuously unable to discharge the duties of his office by reason of mental or physical disability, the office shall be deemed vacant. Such vacancy shall be determined by the Supreme Court upon presentment to it of a concurrent resolution declaring the ground of the vacancy, adopted by a vote of two-thirds of all the members of each house of the Legislature, and upon notice, hearing before the Court and proof of the existence of the vacancy.

9. In the event of a vacancy in the office of Governor, a Governor shall be elected to fill the unexpired term at the general election next succeeding the vacancy, unless the vacancy shall occur within sixty days immediately preceding a general election, in which case he shall be elected at the second succeeding general election; but no election to fill an unexpired term shall be held in any year in which a Governor is to be elected for a full term. A Governor elected for an unexpired term shall assume his office immediately upon his election.

10. The Governor shall receive for his services a salary, which shall be neither increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected.

11. The Governor shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed. To this end he shall have power, by the appropriate action or proceeding in the courts brought in the name of the State, to enforce compliance with any constitutional or legislative mandate, or to restrain violation of any constitutional or legislative power or duty, by any officer, department or agency of the State; but this power shall not be construed to authorize any action or proceeding against the Legislature.

12. The Governor shall communicate to the Legislature, by message at the opening of each regular session and at such other times as he may deem necessary, the condition of the State, and shall in like manner recommend such measures as he may deem desirable. He may convene the Legislature, or the Senate alone, whenever in his opinion the public interest shall require. He shall be the Commander-in-Chief of all the military and naval forces of the State. He shall grant commissions to all officers elected or appointed pursuant to this Constitution. He shall nominate and appoint, with the advice and consent of the Senate, all officers for whose election or appointment provision is not otherwise made by this Constitution or by law.

13. The Governor may fill any vacancy occurring in any office during a recess of the Legislature, appointment to which may be made by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate, or by the Legislature in joint meeting. An ad interim appointment so made shall expire at the end of the next regular session of the Senate, unless a successor shall be sooner appointed and qualify; and after the end of the session no ad interim appointment to the same office shall be made unless the Governor shall have submitted to the Senate a nomination to the office during the session and the Senate shall have adjourned without confirming or rejecting it. No person nominated for any office shall be eligible for an ad interim appointment to such office if the nomination shall have failed of confirmation by the Senate.

14. (a) When a bill has finally passed both houses, the house in which final action was taken to complete its passage shall cause it to be presented to the Governor before the close of the calendar day next following the date of the session at which such final action was taken.

(b) A passed bill presented to the Governor shall become law:

(1) if the Governor approves and signs it within the period allowed for his consideration; or,

(2) if the Governor does not return it to the house of origin, with a statement of his objections, before the expiration of the period allowed for his consideration; or,

(3) if, upon reconsideration of a bill objected to by the Governor, two-thirds of all the members of each house agree to pass the bill.

(c) The period allowed for the Governor's consideration of a passed bill shall be from the date of presentation until noon of the forty-fifth day next following or, if the house of origin be in temporary adjournment on that day, the first day subsequent upon which the house reconvenes; except that:

(1) if on the said forty-fifth day the Legislature is in adjournment sine die, any bill then pending the Governor's approval shall be returned, if he objects to it, at a special session held pursuant to subparagraph (d) of this paragraph;

(2) any bill passed between the forty-fifth and the tenth day preceding the expiration of the second legislative year shall be returned by the Governor, if he objects to it, not later than noon of the day next preceding the expiration of the second legislative year;

(3) any bill passed within 10 days preceding the expiration of the second legislative year shall become law only if the Governor signs it prior to noon of the seventh day following such expiration, or the Governor returns it to the House of origin, with a statement of his objections, and two-thirds of all members of each House agree to pass the bill prior to such expiration.

(d) For the purpose of permitting the return of bills pursuant to this paragraph, a special session of the Legislature shall convene, without petition or call, for the sole purpose of acting upon bills returned by the Governor, on the forty-fifth day next following adjournment sine die of the regular session; or, if the second legislative year of a 2-year Legislature will expire before said forty-fifth day, then the day next preceding the expiration of the legislative year.

(e) Upon receiving from the Governor a bill returned by him with his objections, the house in which it originated shall enter the objections at large in its journal or minutes and proceed to reconsider it. If, upon reconsideration, on or after the third day following its return, or the first day of a special session convened for the sole purpose of acting on such bills, two-thirds of all the members of the house of origin agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections of the Governor, to the other house; and if, upon reconsideration, it is approved by two-thirds of all the members of the house, it shall become a law. In all such cases the votes of each house shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal or minutes of each house.

(f) The Governor, in returning with his objections a bill for reconsideration at any general or special session of the Legislature, may recommend that an amendment or amendments specified by him be made in the bill, and in such case the Legislature may amend and reenact the bill. If a bill be so amended and reenacted, it shall be presented again to the Governor, but shall become a law only if he shall sign it within 10 days after presentation, except that any bill amended and reenacted within 10 days preceding the expiration of the second legislative year shall become law only if the Governor signs it prior to noon of the seventh day following such expiration. No bill shall be returned by the Governor a second time. No bill need be read three times and no emergency resolution need be adopted for the re-enactment of any bill at a special session of the Legislature.

Article V, Section I, paragraph 14 amended by referendums approved in 1968, 1981, and 1983.

15. If any bill presented to the Governor shall contain one or more items of appropriation of money, he may object in whole or in part to any such item or items while approving the other portions of the bill. In such case he shall append to the bill, at the time of signing it, a statement of each item or part thereof to which he objects, and each item or part so objected to shall not take effect. A copy of such statement shall be transmitted by him to the house in which the bill originated, and each item or part thereof objected to shall be separately reconsidered. If upon reconsideration, on or after the third day following said transmittal, one or more of such items or parts thereof be approved by two-thirds of all the members of each house, the same shall become a part of the law, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor. All the provisions of the preceding paragraph in relation to bills not approved by the Governor shall apply to cases in which he shall withhold his approval from any item or items or parts thereof contained in a bill appropriating money.

SECTION II

1. The Governor may grant pardons and reprieves in all cases other than impeachment and treason, and may suspend and remit fines and forfeitures. A commission or other body may be established by law to aid and advise the Governor in the exercise of executive clemency.

2. A system for the granting of parole shall be provided by law.

SECTION III

1. Provision for organizing, inducting, training, arming, disciplining and regulating a militia shall be made by law, which shall conform to applicable standards established for the armed forces of the United States.

2. The Governor shall nominate and appoint all general and flag officers of the militia, with the advice and consent of the Senate. All other commissioned officers of the militia shall be appointed and commissioned by the Governor according to law.

SECTION IV

1. All executive and administrative offices, departments, and instrumentalities of the State government, including the offices of Secretary of State and Attorney General, and their respective functions, powers and duties, shall be allocated by law among and within not more than twenty principal departments, in such manner as to group the same according to major purposes so far as practicable. Temporary commissions for special purposes may, however, be established by law and such commissions need not be allocated within a principal department.

2. Each principal department shall be under the supervision of the Governor. The head of each principal department shall be a single executive unless otherwise provided by law. Such single executives shall be nominated and appointed by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, to serve at the pleasure of the Governor during his term of office and until the appointment and qualification of their successors, except as herein otherwise provided with respect to the Secretary of State and the Attorney General.

3. The Secretary of State and the Attorney General shall be nominated and appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate to serve during the term of office of the Governor.

4. Whenever a board, commission or other body shall be the head of a principal department, the members thereof shall be nominated and appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate, and may be removed in the manner provided by law. Such a board, commission or other body may appoint a principal executive officer when authorized by law, but the appointment shall be subject to the approval of the Governor. Any principal executive officer so appointed shall be removable by the Governor, upon notice and an opportunity to be heard.

5. The Governor may cause an investigation to be made of the conduct in office of any officer or employee who receives his compensation from the State of New Jersey, except a member, officer or employee of the Legislature or an officer elected by the Senate and General Assembly in joint meeting, or a judicial officer. He may require such officers or employees to submit to him a written statement or statements, under oath, of such information as he may call for relating to the conduct of their respective offices or employments. After notice, the service of charges and an opportunity to be heard at public hearing the Governor may remove any such officer or employee for cause. Such officer or employee shall have the right of judicial review, on both the law and the facts, in such manner as shall be provided by law.

6. No rule or regulation made by any department, officer, agency or authority of this state, except such as relates to the organization or internal management of the State government or a part thereof, shall take effect until it is filed either with the Secretary of State or in such other manner as may be provided by law. The Legislature shall provide for the prompt publication of such rules and regulations. The Legislature may review any rule or regulation to determine if the rule or regulation is consistent with the intent of the Legislature as expressed in the language of the statute which the rule or regulation is intended to implement. Upon a finding that an existing or proposed rule or regulation is not consistent with legislative intent, the Legislature shall transmit this finding in the form of a concurrent resolution to the Governor and the head of the Executive Branch agency which promulgated, or plans to promulgate, the rule or regulation. The agency shall have 30 days to amend or withdraw the existing or proposed rule or regulation. If the agency does not amend or withdraw the existing or proposed rule or regulation, the Legislature may invalidate that rule or regulation, in whole or in part, or may prohibit that proposed rule or regulation, in whole or in part, from taking effect by a vote of a majority of the authorized membership of each House in favor of a concurrent resolution providing for invalidation or prohibition, as the case may be, of the rule or regulation. This vote shall not take place until at least 20 calendar days after the placing on the desks of the members of each House of the Legislature in open meeting of the transcript of a public hearing held by either House on the invalidation or prohibition of the rule or regulation.

Any such deduction when so granted by law shall be granted so that it will not be in addition to any other deduction or exemption, except a deduction granted under authority of paragraph 3 of this section, to which the said citizen and resident may be entitled, but said citizen and resident may receive in addition any homestead rebate or credit provided by law. The State shall annually reimburse each taxing district in an amount equal to one-half of the tax loss to the district resulting from the allowance of deductions pursuant to this paragraph.

Article VIII, Section 1, paragraph 4 amended by referendums approved in 1963, 1975, 1980, 1984, and 1988.

5. The Legislature may adopt a homestead statute which entitles homeowners, residential tenants and net lease residential tenants to a rebate or a credit of a sum of money related to property taxes paid by or allocable to them at such rates and subject to such limits as may be

Article VIII, Section I, paragraph 5 amended effective December 2, 1976.

6. The Legislature may enact general laws under which municipalities may adopt ordinances granting exemptions or abatements from taxation on buildings and structures in areas declared in need of rehabilitation in accordance with statutory criteria, within such municipalities and to the land comprising the premises upon which such buildings or structures are erected and which is necessary for the fair enjoyment thereof. Such exemptions shall be for limited periods of time as specified by law, but not in excess of 5 years.

Article VIII, Section I, paragraph 6 added effective December 4, 1975.

7. No tax shall be levied on personal incomes of individuals, estates and trusts of this State unless the entire net receipts therefrom shall be received into the treasury, placed in a perpetual fund and be annually appropriated, pursuant to formulas established from time to time by the Legislature, to the several counties, municipalities, and school districts of this State exclusively for the purpose of reducing or offsetting property taxes. In no event, however, shall a tax so levied on personal incomes be levied on payments received under the federal Social Security Act, the federal Railroad Retirement Act, or any federal law which substantially re-enacts the provisions of either of those laws.

Article VIII, Section I, paragraph 7 added effective December 2, 1976, and amended effective December 6, 1984.

SECTION II

1. The credit of the State shall not be directly or indirectly loaned in any case.

2. No money shall be drawn from the State treasury but for appropriations made by law. All moneys for the support of the State government and for all other State purposes as far as can be ascertained or reasonably foreseen, shall be provided for in one general appropriation law covering one and the same fiscal year; except that when a change in the fiscal year is made, necessary provision may be made to effect the transition. No general appropriation law or other law appropriating money for any State purpose shall be enacted if the appropriation contained therein, together with all prior appropriations made for the same fiscal period, shall exceed the total amount of revenue on hand and anticipated which will be available to meet such appropriations during such fiscal period, as certified by the Governor.

3. The Legislature shall not, in any manner, create in any fiscal year a debt or debts, liability or liabilities of the State, which together with any previous debts or liabilities shall exceed at any time one per centum of the total amount appropriated by the general appropriation law for that fiscal year, unless the same shall be authorized by a law for some single object or work distinctly specified therein. Regardless of any limitation relating to taxation in this Constitution, such law shall provide the ways and means, exclusive of loans, to pay the interest of such debt or liability as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within thirty-five years from the time it is contracted; and the law shall not be repealed until such debt or liability and the interest thereon are fully paid and discharged.

Except as hereinafter provided, no such law shall take effect until it shall have been submitted to the people at a general election and approved by a majority of the legally qualified voters of the State voting thereon. No voter approval shall be required for any such law authorizing the creation of a debt or debts in a specified amount or an amount to be determined in accordance with such law for the refinancing of all or a portion of any outstanding debts or liabilities of the State heretofore or hereafter created, so long as such law shall require that the refinancing provide a debt service savings determined in a manner to be provided in such law and that the proceeds of such debt or debts and any investment income therefrom shall be applied to the payment of the principal of, any redemption premium on, and interest due and to become due on such debts or liabilities being refinanced on or prior to the redemption date or maturity date thereof, together with the costs associated with such refinancing. All money to be raised by the authority of such law shall be applied only to the specific object stated therein, and to the payment of the debt thereby created. This paragraph shall not be construed to refer to any money that has been or may be deposited with this State by the government of the United States. Nor shall anything in this paragraph contained apply to the creation of any debts or liabilities for the purposes of war, or to repel invasion, or to suppress insurrection or to meet an emergency caused by disaster or act of God.

Article VIII, Section II, paragraph 3 amended effective December 8, 1983.

4. There shall be credited to a special account in the General Fund: (a) for each State fiscal year commencing on and after July 1, 1999 an amount equivalent to the revenue derived from $0.09 per gallon from the tax imposed on the sale of motor fuels pursuant to chapter 39 of Title 54 of the Revised Statutes; (b) for the State fiscal year in which the amendment to this paragraph is approved by the voters an amount not less than $100,000,000 derived from the State revenues collected from the tax on the gross receipts of the sale of petroleum products imposed pursuant to P.L. 1990, c.42 (C.54:15B-1 et seq.) as amended and supplemented, or any other subsequent law of similar effect, and for each State fiscal year thereafter an amount not less than $200,000,000 derived from those revenues; and (c) for the State fiscal year next commencing after the amendment to this paragraph is approved by the voters an amount not less than $80,000,000 from the State revenue collected from the State tax imposed under the “Sales and Use Tax Act,” pursuant to P.L. 1966, c.30 (C.54:32B-1 et seq.), as amended and supplemented, or any other subsequent law of similar effect, for the State fiscal year thereafter an amount not less than $140,000,000 from those revenues, and in each State fiscal year thereafter an amount not less than $200,000,000 from those revenues; provided, however, the dedication and use of such revenues as provided in this paragraph shall be subject and subordinate to (a) all appropriations of revenues from such taxes made by laws enacted on or before December 7, 2000 in accordance with Article VIII, Section II, paragraph 3 of the State Constitution in order to provide the ways and means to pay the principal and interest on bonds of the State presently outstanding or authorized to be issued under such laws or (b) any other use of those revenues enacted into law on or before December 7, 2000. These amounts shall be appropriated from time to time by the Legislature, only for the purposes of paying or financing the cost of planning, acquisition, engineering, construction, reconstruction, repair and rehabilitation of the transportation system in this State and it shall not be competent for the Legislature to borrow, appropriate or use these amounts or any part thereof for any other purpose, under any pretense whatever.

5. (a) With respect to any provision of a law enacted on and after January 17, 1996, and with respect to any rule or regulation issued pursuant to a law originally adopted after July 1, 1996, and except as otherwise provided herein, any provision of such law, or of such rule or regulation issued pursuant to a law, which is determined in accordance with this paragraph to be an unfunded mandate upon boards of education, counties, or municipalities because it does not authorized resources, other than the property tax, to offset the additional direct expenditures required for the implementation of the law or rule or regulation, shall, upon such determination cease to be mandatory in its effect and expire. A law or rule or regulation issued pursuant to a law that is determined to be an unfunded mandate shall not be considered to establish a standard of care for the purpose of civil liability.

(b) The Legislature shall create by law a Council on Local Mandates. The Council shall resolve any dispute regarding whether a law or rule or regulation issued pursuant to a law constitutes an unfunded mandate. The Council shall consist of nine public members appointed as follows: four members to be appointed by the Governor; one member to be appointed by the President of the Senate; one member to be appointed by the Speaker of the General Assembly; one member to be appointed by the minority leader of the Senate; one member to be appointed by the minority leader of the General Assembly; and one member to be appointed by the Chief Justice of the New Jersey Supreme Court. Of the members appointed by the Governor, at least two shall be appointed from a list of six willing nominees submitted by the chairman of the political party whose candidate for Governor received the second largest number of votes at the most recent gubernatorial general election. The decisions of the Council shall be political and not judicial determinations.

(c) Notwithstanding anything in this paragraph to the contrary, the following categories of laws or rules or regulations issued pursuant to a law, shall not be considered unfunded mandates:

(1) those which are required to comply with federal laws or rules or to meet eligibility standards for federal entitlements;

(2) those which are imposed on both government and non-government entities in the same or substantially similar circumstances;

(3) those which repeal, revise or ease an existing requirement or mandate or which reapportion the costs of activities between boards of education, counties, and municipalities;

(4) those which stem from failure to comply with previously enacted laws or rules or regulations issued pursuant to a law;

(5) those which implement the provisions of this Constitution; and

(6) laws which are enacted after a public hearing, held after public notice that unfunded mandates will be considered, for which a fiscal analysis is available at the time of the public hearing and which, in addition to complying with all other constitutional requirements with regard to the enactment of laws, are passed by 3/4 affirmative vote of the members of each House of the Legislature.

Article VIII, Section II, paragraph 5 added effective December 7, 1995.

6. There shall be credited annually to a special account in the General Fund an amount equivalent to 4% of the revenue annually derived from the tax imposed pursuant to the “Corporation Business Tax Act (1945),” P.L. 1945, c.162 (C.54:10A-1 et seq.), as amended and supplemented, or any other State law of similar effect.

It shall not be competent for the Legislature, under any pretense whatever, to borrow, appropriate, or use the amount credited to the special account pursuant to this paragraph, or any portion thereof, for any purpose or in any manner other than as enumerated in this paragraph. It shall not be competent for the Legislature, under any pretense whatever, to borrow, appropriate, or use the amount credited to the special account pursuant to this paragraph, or any portion thereof, for the payment of the principal or interest on any general obligation bond that was approved by the voters prior to this paragraph becoming part of this Constitution.

All moneys derived from repayments of any loan issued from the amount dedicated pursuant to this subparagraph (b) shall be dedicated, and shall be appropriated from time to time by the Legislature, only for the purposes authorized pursuant to this subparagraph (b). SECTION III

1. A Governor shall be elected for a full term at the general election to be held in the year one thousand nine hundred and forty-nine and every fourth year thereafter.

2. The taking effect of this Constitution or any provision thereof shall not of itself affect the tenure, term, status or compensation of any person then holding any public office, position or employment in this State, except as provided in this Constitution. Unless otherwise specifically provided in this Constitution, all constitutional officers in office at the time of its adoption shall continue to exercise the authority of their respective offices during the term for which they shall have been elected or appointed and until the qualification of their successors respectively. Upon the taking effect of this Constitution all officers of the militia shall retain their commissions subject to the provisions of Article V, Section III.

The Legislature in compliance with the provisions of this Constitution, shall prior to the first day of July, one thousand nine hundred and forty-nine, and may from time to time thereafter, allocate by law the executive and administrative offices, departments and instrumentalities of the State government among and within the principal departments. If such allocation shall not have been completed within the time limited, the Governor shall call a special session of the Legislature to which he shall submit a plan or plans for consideration to complete such allocation; and no other matters shall be considered at such session.

Subsequent to the adoption of this Constitution the Governor shall nominate and appoint, with the advice and consent of the Senate, a Chief Justice and six Associate Justices of the new Supreme Court from among the persons then being the Chancellor, the Chief Justice and Associate Justices of the old Supreme Court, the Vice Chancellors and Circuit Court Judges. The remaining judicial officers enumerated and such Judges of the Court of Errors and Appeals as have been admitted to the practice of law in this State for at least ten years, and are in office on the adoption of the Constitution, shall constitute the Judges of the Superior Court. The Justices of the new Supreme Court and the Judges of the Superior Court so designated shall hold office each for the period of his term which remains unexpired at the time the Constitution is adopted; and if reappointed he shall hold office during good behavior. No Justice of the new Supreme Court or Judge of the Superior Court shall hold his office after attaining the age of seventy years, except, however, that such Justice or Judge may complete the period of his term which remains unexpired at the time the Constitution is adopted.

4. Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution and until otherwise provided by law, all courts now existing in this State, other than those abolished in paragraph 3 hereof, shall continue as if this Constitution had not been adopted, provided, however, that when the Judicial Article of this Constitution takes effect, the jurisdiction, powers and functions of the Court of Common Pleas, Orphans' Court, Court of Oyer and Terminer, Court of Quarter Sessions and Court of Special Sessions of each county, the judicial officers, clerks, and employees thereof, and the causes pending therein and their files, shall be transferred to the County Court of the county. All statutory provisions relating to the county courts aforementioned of each county and to the Judge or Judges thereof shall apply to the new County Court of the county and Judge or Judges thereof, unless otherwise provided by law. Until otherwise provided by law and except as aforesaid, the judicial officers, clerks, surrogates, and courts shall continue in the exercise of their duties, as if this Constitution had not been adopted.

5. The Supreme Court shall make rules governing the administration and practice and procedure of the County Court; and the Chief Justice of surrogates and clerks of all courts now existing, other than those abolished in paragraph 3 hereof, and the employees of said officers, the Supreme Court shall be the administrative head of these courts with power to assign any Judge thereof of any county to sit temporarily in the Superior Court or to sit temporarily without the county in a County Court.

6. The Advisory Masters appointed to hear matrimonial proceedings and in office on the adoption of this Constitution shall, each for the period of his term which remains unexpired at the time the Constitution is adopted, continue so to do as Advisory Masters to the Chancery Division of the Superior Court, unless otherwise provided by law.

7. All Special Masters in Chancery, Masters in Chancery, Supreme Court Commissioners and Supreme Court Examiners shall, unless as Special Masters, Masters, Commissioners, and Examiners of the otherwise provided by rules of the Supreme Court, continue respectively Superior Court, with appropriate similar functions and powers as if this Constitution had not been adopted.

8. When the Judicial Article of this Constitution takes effect:

(a) All causes and proceedings of whatever character pending in the Court of Errors and Appeals shall be transferred to the new Supreme Court;

(d) All causes and proceedings of whatever character pending in the Prerogative Court other than those stated shall be transferred to the Chancery Division of the Superior Court;

(e) All causes and proceedings of whatever character pending in all other courts which are abolished shall be transferred to the Superior Court.

For the purposes of this paragraph, paragraph 4 and paragraph 9, a cause shall be deemed to be pending notwithstanding that an adjudication has been entered therein, provided the time limited for review has not expired or the adjudication reserves to any party the right to apply for further relief.

9. The files of all causes pending in the Court of Errors and Appeals shall be delivered to the Clerk of the new Supreme Court; and the files of all causes pending in the present Supreme Court, the Court of Chancery and the Prerogative Court shall be delivered to the Clerk of the Superior Court. 10. Upon the taking effect of the Judicial Article of this Constitution, all the functions, powers and duties conferred by statute, rules or otherwise upon the Chancellor, the Ordinary, and the Justices and Judges of the courts abolished by this Constitution, to the extent that such functions, powers and duties are not inconsistent with this Constitution, shall be transferred to and may be exercised by Judges of the Superior Court until otherwise provided by law or rules of the new Supreme Court; excepting that such statutory powers not related to the Administration of justice as are then vested in any such judicial officers shall, after the Judicial Article of this Constitution takes effect and until otherwise provided by law, be transferred to and exercised by the Chief Justice of the new Supreme Court.

11. Upon the taking effect of the Judicial Article of this Constitution, the Clerk of the Supreme Court shall become the Clerk of the new Supreme Court and shall serve as such Clerk until the expiration of the term for which he was

13. Appropriations made by law for judicial expenditures during the fiscal year one thousand nine hundred and forty-eight, one thousand nine hundred and forty-nine may be transferred to similar objects and purposes required by the Judicial Article.

14. The Judicial Article of this Constitution shall take effect on the fifteenth day of September, one thousand nine hundred and forty-eight, except that the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall have the power to fill vacancies arising prior thereto in the new Supreme Court and the Superior Court; and except further that any provision of this Constitution which may require any act to be done prior thereto or in preparation therefor shall take effect immediately upon the adoption of this Constitution.

The STATE HOUSE
West State Street
Trenton, N.J. 08625
Tel. 609-292-2121

The State House stands on West State Street near Willow Street, Trenton. The grounds have a frontage of about 650 feet on West State Street and extend southerly toward the Delaware River. The original plot, up to the year 1910, had a frontage of 310 feet, extended back in a parallelogram, and embraced about three and a half acres. The present area of the State House grounds, exclusive of what had been a park south of Sanhican Creek, is about eight acres. The former park area has been paved and made into parking lots.

The seat of the government was fixed at Trenton by an act of the Legislature approved Nov. 25, 1790. James Cooper, Thomas Lowery, James Ewing, Maskell Ewing, George Anderson, James Mott and Moore Furman were appointed commissioners to select, purchase, or accept so much land as was needed, and to erect buildings for the use of the Legislature. They purchased a site of about three and three-quarters acres—a frontage on Second Street (now West State Street) of 247 feet and 6 inches, and a depth from the front to low water line of the Delaware River of 666 feet—at a cost of 250 pounds, 5s.

The old State House was a plain, bare-looking building with its pebble and mortar rough casting, and was erected at a cost of 3,992 pounds, 3s. 1/2d. By an act of March 4, 1795, a building was erected to serve as an office for the Secretary of State, and for the preservation of the public records, at a cost of 620 pounds, 19s. 10d. Numerous improvements and repairs were made, and on March 3, 1806, an act was passed appointing commissioners to make certain repairs and improvements to the State House, and to hang a bell for announcing sessions of the legislative houses and the courts.

In 1848 the State House was altered by the removal of the rough-casting, by constructing porticoes over the front and rear entrances, and erecting two additional buildings adjoining the main one, as offices for the clerks of the Chancery and Supreme Courts. The rotunda was also erected, the grounds fenced and graded, and shade trees planted, all at a cost of $27,000. The commissioners under whose direction the work was completed were Samuel R. Gummere, Samuel R. Hamilton and Stacy A. Paxson. Additional space for the State Library and executive chambers was constructed between 1863 and 1865. In 1871, Charles S. Olden, Thomas J. Stryker and Lewis Perrine were appointed commissioners to enlarge the Capitol. The sum of $50,000 was appropriated, and the buildings for the Legislature were ready for occupancy in time for the meeting of the Legislature in 1872. In 1872, $120,000 was appropriated for completing the building, $3,000 for fitting up the executive chamber, $4,000 for fitting up the Chancery and Supreme Court rooms, and $2,000 for fitting up the offices on the first floor of the east wing. In 1873, $43,000 was appropriated for the improvement of the front of the building, completing unfinished work, and for fitting up the Library. On March 18, 1875, $15,000 was appropriated for a new three-story front for the building, fitting up offices on the second floor for the clerks of the Court of Chancery and Supreme Court, and for providing a suitable museum for geological specimens and for the battle flags New Jersey volunteer regiments carried during the Civil War.

On March 21, 1885, fire destroyed the front part of the State House. The Legislature appropriated $50,000 for rebuilding, and in 1886, an additional $225,000.

The new building was finished in 1889. It is of what has been called both Beaux Arts and Renaissance style of architecture, with a frontage of 160 feet on State Street and a depth of 67 feet. The building is three and a half stories high. The rotunda, which connects the new section of the Capitol with the original part, is 39 feet in diameter, and is surmounted by a dome whose top is 145 feet above ground level.

The building has about sixty feet more frontage than the former one, and approaches about 10 feet closer to the street.

The walls are of brick masonry, faced with a light-colored stone from Indiana, known as Salem Oolitic, with foundations and trimmings of New Jersey free stone, from the Prallsville quarries in Hunterdon County. The portico, doorhead, and trimmings about the door are of the same material. The portico, with balcony, is supported by massive pillars of polished granite and surmounted by the coat-of-arms of the State. This front portion, including the dome, was designed and constructed under the plans and supervision of L.H. Broome, architect, of Jersey City.

In 1891, a new Assembly Chamber was erected. The old one was deemed too small and poorly ventilated, and there was a lack of suitable committee rooms.

The new chamber was built by James W. Lanning, of Trenton, from plans prepared by James Moylan, of Jersey City. Its size is 120 by 75 feet. The exterior finish and design of the building are similar to the adjoining portion of the Capitol. The foundation is of brownstone, from the Stockton quarries, and the trimmings of light Indiana stone. The interior is finished in Trenton tile, quartered oak, and Italian statuary marble. It cost the State $140,500. The cost of the steam-heating and ventilating systems was about $25,000.

A new Senate Chamber was erected in 1903, and was ready for occupancy in 1904, at a cost of about $182,000.

The Senate Chamber's decoration includes 16 murals, said to have been inspired by Liberty and Abundance, the two figures of the State Seal. Liberty is reflected in four panels depicting scenes at Morristown and the battles of Monmouth, Princeton, and Trenton. The other panels suggest abundance in scenes of industry, science, agriculture and government. The subjects, beginning at the left corner of the wall behind the President's desk and going from left to right around the chamber, are building construction, glassmaking, Liberty and Abundance, Morristown, electricity, education, ceramics, agriculture, Monmouth, iron and steel, legislation, commerce, Trenton, Princeton, silk, and terra cotta. The artist was W. B. VanIngen of New York.

The stained glass dome that lights the Senate Chamber consists of 10 panels, each bearing a name that is part of New Jersey history. One name is Frelinghuysen, recognizing a family that had given New Jersey three U.S. senators and which later produced another senator and a congressman. The other panels honor Garrett A. Hobart, who was vice president; Mercer Beasley, who was chief justice; Joseph Henry, a teacher, scientist, and secretary of the Smithsonian Institution; Civil War General and later New Jersey Governor George B. McClellan; Seth Boyden, inventor and industrial processor; Jonathan Dayton, one of the youngest men to sign the Constitution; William Livingston, the state's first governor; Civil War Maj. Gen. Philip Kearny; and the Rev. John Witherspoon, the only clergyman to sign the Declaration of Independence.

After an inspection in December, 1983, the dome was declared unsafe due to deterioration of the lead rods used to join the glass pieces. The dome was dismantled and rebuilt over the next several weeks, during part of which the Senate held its meetings in Room 114 of the State House Annex.

In 1904 about $60,000 was expended for improvements in the Capitol. The architect was Arnold H. Moses, of Merchantville. There was another addition in 1907, at a cost of about $100,000. The plans were drawn by George E. Poole, state architect.

In 1911 the Legislature appropriated $60,000 for the extension of the west wing of the front part of the building, and in 1912 $70,000 was appropriated for the extension of the east wing.

In 1910 and subsequent years, the State purchased Delaware Street, the William E. Green property which fronted on West State Street, and properties along Front and Willow Streets which extended to a stream, later known as Sanhican Creek, on the property of the old Trenton Water Power Company.

Additional properties on West State Street, east of the Capitol, were purchased in 1917 and subsequent years, and were used for office purposes through 1921. The buildings were torn down and the land added to the State House grounds after a state office building had been erected on West Hanover Street directly north of the Capitol at a cost of about $375,000, including the amount paid for the land required. The Moore property, directly in front of the State House, was purchased in 1922 and the building torn down to provide an approach from West State Street to the West Hanover Street office building.

During the years 1924 and 1925 the Henry W. Green, Vroom, and Dayton properties to the west, with a frontage of more than 200 feet on West State Street and extending back to the Water Power, were purchased at a cost of about $215,000. Upon these grounds, during the late 1920s, the four-story State House Annex was built at a cost, including the land, of approximately $3,000,000. The Annex housed the Supreme Court and the Department of Law and Public Safety before they moved into the Richard J. Hughes criminal justice building in 1981 and 1982.

During the administrations of Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll (1947-1954) and Gov. Robert B. Meyner (1954-1962), there were extensive renovations and improvements to the State House. The work included the installation of a modern oil-burning heating plant, new toilet facilities, and new water and electric service. The front entrance and main corridor were done over and the dome was redecorated inside and outside, including interior murals. New roof sections, fire escapes and exits, an automatic fire alarm system, and three elevators were installed. Parking areas were extended to provide for 1,500 cars.

When the Senate membership was increased from 21 to 29 in 1965, individual desks were replaced by continuous semi-circular tables on two levels, similar to the seating in the United Nations Assembly. The old desks and chairs were sold to members for $25 each. The rostrum of the Senate president and the desk of the Senate secretary and journal clerks remained undisturbed in the front of the Senate Chamber.

In 1967, the Senate and Assembly Chambers were renovated to accommodate the expanded Legislature of 40 senators and 80 Assembly members.

An extensive restoration and expansion of the legislative chambers and ancillary facilities was initiated in 1985. Activity was suspended for months when Gov. Thomas H. Kean objected to the cost of proposals legislators had adopted. Eventually, in early 1987, a compromise was reached and the project was taken over by the state Building Authority, with a cost limit of $65 million.

The project was complete in 1992 at a cost of $64.5 million. It included restoration of the meeting chambers for the two houses, conversion of adjacent space into legislative offices and meeting rooms, and construction of a new wing in the rear of the State House to quarter staff members.

On Sept. 26, 1991, senators held their first meeting in the restored Senate chambers, and the Assembly returned to its chambers on Dec. 2, 1991.

During renovations both houses met temporarily in the State House Annex. When they returned to their restored chambers, a $75.3 million renovation of the annex began. The project included new plumbing, heating and electrical systems, a new roof, and reconstructed office and meeting rooms for the Office of Legislative Services and legislative committee staff. The annex was completed and occupied in 1995. The project also included a parking garage for 1,100 cars to the rear of the annex, completed in September, 1995, and a cafeteria, completed in 1999. The following year, a plaza on the roof of the parking garage and a welcome center were added to the State House complex. Also included in the project and completed in December, 1999, was the renovation and restoration of the War Memorial, Old Barracks, Kelsey Building and nearby state-owned brownstone properties.

In September, 1997, contracts were awarded for restoration of the State House dome. The $12 million project, which included the removal, repair and replacement of damaged and missing cast iron components and reinstallation of the dome, lantern, cupola and finial, was completed in July 1999. Funds for new gold leaf to cover the exterior of the restored dome, $48,000, were raised by New Jersey school children under a program titled "Dimes for the Dome." Interior work included stained glass window restoration, plaster conservation, decorative painting and lighting.

The Division of the State Library was created in 1945 (P.L. 1945, Ch. 50), receiving the functions, powers and duties of the State Library, the former Public Record Office and the former Public Library Commission. Chapter 158 of the Laws of 1969 amended the 1945 statute. In 1996, the division was transferred from the Department of Education to the State Department which then delegated responsibility for the daily operation and administration of the library to Thomas Edison State College. The State Library now contains the State Library Information Center, the Bureau of Library Development, and the Library for the Blind and Handicapped. In November of 2003 the library had a staff of 92.

The State Library Information Center maintains a law library and a governmental reference library. Any New Jersey resident may use the library or borrow books in person, or on interlibrary loan through public, school, college, university, or special libraries. Electronic access to the library's collection is also available to persons with a personal computer.

The law library has a comprehensive collection of Anglo-American materials including books, journals, and statutes and cases for all 50 states with special strength in New Jersey and federal law. Researchers have access to legal and legislative reference services, computerized legal databases, legislative history of New Jersey laws, and information about pending legislation.

The governmental reference unit maintains an extensive reference collection and provides access to a wide variety of on-site computerized databases.

The information center's collection is in excess of 2,000,000 items including books, emails, documents, periodicals, and titles and includes early New Jersey maps and newspapers. Subject strengths within the collection include the social and political sciences, current affairs of New Jersey, state and local history, and genealogy. The library is an official depository for New Jersey and federal documents, and it also distributes state documents to other libraries through the New Jersey Document Depository system.

The Library Development Bureau is the library extension agency, providing professional, advisory and consultative services on problems concerning library methods and standards. It conducts workshops, institutes, and in-service training programs. It prepares and distributes surveys, studies and guides to assist in the development of library services. It administers a program of state aid to public libraries and discretionary grant programs for all types of libraries. It also manages the New Jersey Library Network and its four regional library cooperatives.

The Library for the Blind and Handicapped shares a building with the Records Management Services facilities at 2300 Stuyvesant Avenue, P.O. Box 501, Trenton 08625 (Ewing Township), which was dedicated October 1, 1982. The library provides service to any New Jersey resident who cannot see to read regular size print or is unable to comfortably hold a book or turn pages. This facility accommodates a radio reading broadcast center, a circulating collection of talking books, large print books, Braille books and described video-cassettes for use by persons who are visually impaired. The library offers barrier-free access for browsing and use of the meeting room. About 12,000 blind or handicapped people are registered for the services, which circulated, through free postal service, more than 465,000 items during the 12 months ending June, 2003.

The State Archives, one of the state's oldest institutions, has one of the newest facilities in the capitol complex. Opened to the public in 2000, the archives house New Jersey's documentary treasures in secure, climate-controlled, fire-protected vaults, and offer convenient access to the records for historical and genealogical research, educational use, and exhibitions.

The archives holdings include more than 27,000 cubic feet of records spanning over three centuries of New Jersey history, from the beginning of the British colonial period in 1664 to the present. Original records in many formats are preserved for research use, including paper manuscripts, books, maps and drawings, microfilm, photographs, motion picture film, digital images, and sound and video recordings. Each year thousands of individuals visit the archives to research the state's people, government, public policy, land settlement and use, economy, law enforcement and military affairs, transportation, recreation, and social, cultural, religious and educational institutions.

Responsibility for maintaining the state's public records rested first with the royal provincial secretaries of the British colony and, from 1776 to 1920, with the secretary of state. In 1920, this function was transferred to the Public Records Office; in 1945, to the Bureau of Archives and History, as part of the State Library; and since 1983, to the Division of Archives and Records Management, once again under the auspices of the secretary of state.

Admission to the State Archives is free. Public hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays, excluding state holidays. The public may also access selected archival resources by mail, email and the Internet.

Completed March 1, 1932, the War Memorial, a 1,926-seat auditorium commemorating the end of World War I, was dedicated Jan. 19, 1933.

The Memorial was built on two parcels of land donated by the state for the memorial site. The cost of construction, estimated at $800,000, was funded by the City of Trenton, Mercer County, and contributions from the public. In a one-week campaign that began Nov. 4 and ended Armistice Day, 1927, a total of $418,853 was pledged by private groups and individuals.

The War Memorial was maintained by the Mercer County Memorial Commission for 56 years and has hosted performances by some of the era's most popular entertainers. The Memorial has also been the setting for inaugurations, veterans' events, political meetings, banquets, recitals, and high school and college graduations.

On Aug. 31, 1988, ownership of the War Memorial was transferred to the state and work began to update mechanical systems and restore the decorative qualities of the building. In 1994 funding was authorized by the New Jersey Building Authority for renovation and upgrading. The $34 million restoration project was completed in late 1998, and the building was rededicated Jan. 12, 1999. The War Memorial, a national and state historic site, is administered by the Department of State as a performance venue and a community center.

On Nov. 10, 1766, Gov. William Franklin granted a charter for the college in the name of King George III of England. A second charter, under which college study actually began, was issued in 1770 naming the institution Queen's College. In 1825 the name was changed to Rutgers College and in 1924 the title Rutgers University was adopted. The corporate name was changed to Rutgers, the State University, by Chapter 61, Laws of 1956.

In 1864 the Legislature, in accordance with the Federal Land-Grant Act of 1862, selected the Rutgers Scientific School to be the State College for agriculture and the mechanical arts.

The university is managed by a Board of Governors of 11 members. Six members are appointed by the governor of the state with the advice and consent of the Senate, and five are elected by and from the Board of Trustees of the university. The president of the university is an ex officio non-voting member. The Board of Trustees, which includes 59 public trustees, five of whom are appointed by the governor, acts in an overall advisory capacity to the Board of Governors.

The university traces its origin to the first successful medical and dental school in the state, the Seton Hall College of Medicine and Dentistry, in Jersey City, which admitted its first students in 1956. In 1966, the state acquired the programs and renamed them the New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry. Two years later, the medical school moved to Newark, and the dental school followed suit in 1976.

The college added a graduate school of biomedical sciences in 1969. The following year, Rutgers Medical School, then a two-year basic science school, joined with the college to create the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey. In 1976, the college added a school of osteopathic medicine and a school of allied health careers. In 1981, the Legislature granted the college university status and its name was changed to the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey (UMDNJ). The current eight-school configuration of the university took form with the addition of a school of nursing in 1992, and a school of public health in 1998.

The university's eight schools are located on five campuses: Newark, Camden, New Brunswick and Piscataway, Scotch Plains, and Stratford. Enrollment at the start of the 2003-04 academic year was 5,023. Two schools award M.D. degrees: the New Jersey Medical School, Newark, with a fall 2003 enrollment of 693; and the Robert Wood Johnson Medical School, Camden and Piscataway, with a fall 2003 enrollment of 638. The School of Osteopathic Medicine, Stratford, which awards the D.O. degree, had a fall 2003 enrollment of 352.

More than 100 centers and institutes are part of the university, including the Cancer Institute of New Jersey, Neurological Institute of New Jersey, New Jersey Medical School National Tuberculosis Center at UMDNJ, Center for Aging, Child Health Institute of New Jersey, and the Eye Institute of New Jersey. In addition, the university is affiliated with more than 200 educational and healthcare institutions and hospitals in the state.

The Marie H. Katzenbach School for the Deaf, opened in 1883, provides education services to deaf and hard of hearing children from birth to age 21. Students come from all areas of the state and a residential program is available for students who live too far from the school to commute on a daily basis. Students graduating from Katzenbach are prepared to enter academic post-secondary programs such as those of Gallaudet University in Washington, D.C., or technical-vocational post-secondary programs such as the National Technical Institute for the Deaf in Rochester, N.Y., and community colleges in New Jersey.

Katzenbach's educational services include a parent-infant program for children under three years of age and their parents, a nursery school, a lower school, a middle school, and a high school offering both academic and vocational majors. The school also has programs for students who are deaf-blind and multi-handicapped, for deaf students who are seriously emotionally disturbed, and for deaf students who are academically advanced.

In addition to direct educational services, students are provided with developmental counseling, substance abuse prevention, deaf culture classes, and intramural and competitive sports. Residential programs include child care, tutoring, homework assistance, recreation, and health care services. The school also offers sign language classes to the public and presentations to schools and community groups about deafness and deaf culture.

CORRECTIONAL FACILITIESADULT DIAGNOSTIC and TREATMENT CENTER*8 Production Way, P.O. Box 190*Avenel, N.J. 07001*Tel. 732-574-2250

The Adult Diagnostic and Treatment Center is a specialized institution designed to treat sex offenders committed by the court system. Statutory mandates for the center's operation derive from NJSA 2A:164 and 2C:47. The facility was built from a 1968 bond issue and opened in 1976. Inmates had been housed in state mental hospitals and prison facilities from 1950 to 1976.

The ADTC's population census in October, 2003, was 650. There were four women, sentenced as sex offenders, housed at the Edna Mahan Correctional Institution for Women, Clinton, where they were receiving therapy under the Sex Offender Act. The ADTC staff has 315 custody and 85 civilian members. Medical and psychological services are provided by private companies.

The physical plant is a medium security, concrete building composed of a one-story administration-diagnostic section, a two-story multipurpose area, a three-story housing wing and a housing unit contiguous to the main building, which was completed in 1985. In March, 1990, a housing unit accommodating 352 inmates was opened, and an Education Building was occupied providing classrooms and staff offices.

The center provides outpatient psychological diagnostic services for the courts, the State Parole Board, and other agencies. The inpatient program provides treatment to sex offenders committed by the courts under provisions of the special repetitive-compulsive, amenable-willing sex offender law. An after-care program offers counseling and support services post-release. NATURAL AREAS

New Jersey has designated approximately 38,586 acres of state park land, state forests, hunting and fishing preserves, and other lands within the jurisdiction of the Department of Environmental Protection, for educational and scientific purposes. Natural areas are places which have retained their primeval character. They may have rare species of plant and animal life or may have outstanding features of interest, or may be typical of a particular type of environment. These scientific study areas or "outdoor museum pieces" provide an opportunity to observe nature without excessive interference from man. Educational programs such as interpretive tours, camp fires, and nature centers are available at some locations.

NEW JERSEY MONUMENTS & MEMORIALS in OTHER STATES

New Jersey has contributed some or all of the cost of building a number of monuments and memorials in other states to commemorate historical events and to honor certain individuals. Particularly is this true of monuments erected on Civil War battlefields by New Jersey to remember her sons who fought in those places. These monuments are located at Antietam, Md.; Gettysburg, Pa.; Monocacy, Md.; Salem Church and Spottsylvania, Va., and at Newborn National Cemetery, N.C. In addition to these monuments there are tablets or markers at the Andersonville, Ga., National Cemetery; and at the Chickamauga and Chattanooga, Tenn. National Park. In addition, New Jersey acquired land and contributed it toward establishment of a Memorial Park at the Wilderness battlefields in Virginia.

In the Medal of Honor Grove at Freedom Foundation, Valley Forge, Pa., there is a New Jersey acre. It has a granite obelisk, and plaques for each of the Congressional Medal of Honor winners who entered military service from New Jersey. The New Jersey acre, funded by the Army and Air National Guard Association of New Jersey, was dedicated on June 4, 1977.

Other New Jersey monuments or memorials in other states are the monument to Major General Phil Kearny and the Battleship Maine Monument, both in Arlington National Cemetery; the statue of Richard Stockton in the National Statuary Hall, Washington, D.C.; the Revolutionary Monument, at Valley Forge; and the Memorial Monolith, in the portico of the D.A.R. Continental Hall, Washington, D.C.

Except for the Monocacy Battle Monument, the State has no responsibility for the supervision or maintenance of the monuments and memorials.

RIPARIAN LANDS

New Jersey's riparian lands are those now or formerly under water at mean high tide. This includes every stream, inlet or bay where the tide ebbs and flows, as well as the entire ocean front, extending offshore to the three-mile limit.

Prior to 1869 title to this land was acquired by the upland owners through legislative grant and in some cases by grant of licenses by boards of freeholders. The latter, it was demonstrated during the 1950s, had never conveyed a complete title to the state's lands; in some cases upland owners were required later to obtain a grant from the Riparian Commission. This latter body, originally created under an act of the Legislature of 1864, continued in control until 1915, when the duties and powers of the Commission were transferred to the then board of Commerce and Navigation, which is now the Tidelands Resource Council of the Department of Environmental Protection. The Bureau of Tidelands Management within the department administers riparian affairs in conjunction with the Tidelands Resource Council.

The state's traditional absolute and unqualified claim to all riparian lands was limited by a referendum approved by the voters Nov. 3, 1981. The referendum applies only to those lands which had not been flowed by tide water for at least 40 years. The referendum provided that the state would lose its interest in any such land where it had not expressed its claim by the end of a year following passage of the referendum.

The total fund resulting from the state's lease and sale of its riparian lands is in excess of $48,000,000 to date. Prior to 1894 much of this revenue was used for surveys and other expenses of the Riparian Commission, and the balance merely turned in to the State Treasury. In 1894 the Legislature dedicated the income from its riparian lands to the School Fund. The state also charges a royalty for sand and other earth dredged from tidewater areas.

The Tidelands Resource Council is the sole agency of the state having the power to initiate a procedure to make outright grants or leases. The Bureau of Tidelands Management, with a staff of about 30, is the administrative agency for the Council. Information is available through the bureau by mail at P.O. Box 439, Trenton 08625; or telephone at 609-292-2573.

In administering riparian lands the Tidelands Resource Council has the complete and absolute discretion of a proprietor as to whether or not grant or lease of state tidelands shall be initiated, and its policy is to make conveyances only if it is convinced that the result will be truly in the public interest in accordance with the public trust doctrine, that environmental damage will be minimal, and that consideration received will be, in the minimum, the fair market value of the riparian land. No grant is made unless it receives the independent approvals of the commissioner of Environmental Protection, the attorney general, and the governor. In the making of such grant or lease, the commissioner, the attorney general and the governor have absolute power of veto.

In areas where the state has already divested itself of its riparian title in accordance with the statutory mandates, the Land Use Regulation Program of the department still maintains regulatory authority for waterfront development permits.

FRESHWATER FISH HATCHERIES

The Bureau of Freshwater Fisheries is responsible for the propagation, protection and management of the State's freshwater fisheries as well as promoting its recreational use. In addition to raising and distributing over 2.7 million fish annually, the bureau conducts research and management surveys, classifies waterways, provides technical input on a variety of watershed and habitat-based issues, facilitates habitat restoration projects, serves as a liaison to a variety of sportsmen groups and provides information to the general public, in a variety of forums, concerning the status of fishery resources. The bureau also administers eleven different permits to provide for the effective management and protection of aquatic resources.

The bureau's Fish Culture Unit is responsible for raising 19 species of fish and stocking more than 200 water bodies each year. It is comprised of the Pequest Trout Hatchery and the Charles O. Hayford Hatchery, in Hackettstown, established in 1912. Both facilities are in operation around the clock, 364 days a year.

The Pequest hatchery raises and stocks over 780,000 brook, brown and rainbow trout each year during the spring, fall and winter trout stocking periods. Pequest also provides brown trout for the Division of Fish and Wildlife's sea run brown trout program in the Manasquan River. It consists of more than 6,400 feet of raceways, incubation and nursery buildings, workshops, brood stock facilities, administration offices and a sewage treatment plant. The telephone number is 908-637-4173

The Hackettstown hatchery raises 1.9 million warm water and cool water fish each year. The hatchery also coordinates the division's Children's Fishing Derby program and supplies the state's mosquito commissions with sunfish, killifish and gambusia to assist with the commission's efforts to control mosquito populations. The hatchery's telephone number is 908-852-4950.

The bureau's Research and Management Unit has personnel, including biologists, in three regional offices located in Camden County, telephone 856-629-4950; Hunterdon, 908-236-2118; and Monmouth, 609-259-2132. The unit oversees the management and protection of over 7,000 miles of streams and 400 public lakes.

MARINE FISHERIES

The marine resources of New Jersey support both important recreational and commercial fisheries. With more than 2,000 commercial fishing vessels and approximately one million recreational saltwater anglers, marine fisheries resources generate between $1.5 and $2.5 billion annually to the state's economy. The state annually issues over 5,000 commercial licenses for the use of various nets, crab pots and crab dredges. Approximately 1,000,000 recreational anglers participate in excess of five million fishing trips per year with the most frequently harvested species being summer flounder, black sea bass and weakfish.

The state conducts various projects to develop biological information on numerous marine species which are used to support fisheries management not only in New Jersey, but also on a coastwide basis through cooperative management with the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission and the Mid-Atlantic Fishery Management Council. Habitat protection and enhancement programs, including artificial reef construction, are also conducted. A marine fisheries field station is located at the Nacote Creek Research Station. The telephone number is 609-748-2020.

SHELL FISHERIES

Approximately 400,000 acres of natural shellfish grounds lie beneath New Jersey's tidal waters from Raritan Bay to the head of Delaware Bay. They serve as the basis for a multi-million dollar industry. The state-owned shellfish-producing resources consist of the natural clam and oyster bottoms and some 37,000 acres of clam and oyster planting grounds in the bays and sounds of the coastal counties. The bureau and industry members have implemented various management options including direct market harvest from the seed beds to deal with the two principal oyster diseases, MSX and Dermo. A shellfish research office is maintained at Bivalve. The telephone number is 856-785-0730.

Licensed clambers may remove shellfish from natural areas in season. The state issues leases for use of the oyster and clam planting grounds.

Along with other state agencies, the bureau administers the hard clam relay and depuration programs which currently supply 50 per cent of the total state hard clam landings. The state conducts a continuing program of surveying and mapping the grounds under lease, and defining the usable grounds for sea clams, hard clams and oysters in state waters.

WILDLIFE MANAGEMENT

The Division of Fish and Wildlife's game farm, established in Rockport in 1923, has been modernized and now produces some 55,000 pheasants annually. The office telephone is 908-852-3461.

In operation since 1892, the division has re-established the wild turkey, bobcat and beaver; maintains a progressive deer management program; stocks 53,000 pheasant and 11,000 quail each year; has an active black bear research project to monitor and control problem bears and the expanding bear population; hosts more than 200 schools and civic groups, and 50,000 members of the public at the Pequest Trout Hatchery and Natural Resource Education Center each year; and trains an estimated 15,000 future hunters and trappers annually. The telephone number of the Pequest Hatchery is 908-637-4125.

Since 1931, the state has been acquiring land for Wildlife Management Areas. Today there are 99 areas of more than 234,000 acres, providing fishing, crabbing, hawk watching, hunting, outdoor photography, dog training, nature hikes, wildlife observation, outdoor education, and bow and arrow, shotgun, and rifle training. The division maintains a pathology laboratory and a wildlife control office at the Clinton Wildlife Management Area. The telephone number is 908-735-8793.

FISH AND WILDLIFE LAW ENFORCEMENT

The Division of Fish and Wildlife maintains 50 conservation officers who enforce fish and game laws, and who work out of four regional offices. The officers perform approximately 50,000 inspections and file over 5,000 complaints annually. The Northern Region office is at the Clinton Wildlife Management Area, 26 Route 173 W., Hampton 08827; the telephone number is 908-735-8240. The Central Region office is at the Assunpink Wildlife Management Area, One Eldridge Rd., Robbinsville 08691; the telephone number is 609-259-2120. The Southern Region office is at the Winslow Wildlife Management Area, 220 New Brooklyn-Blue Anchor Road, Sicklerville 08081; the telephone number is 856-629-0555. The Marine Regional office is at the Nacote Creek Research Station, P.O. Box 418, Port Republic 08241; the telephone number is 609-748-2050.

PALISADES INTERSTATE PARK

Bear Mountain, N.Y. 10911

Tel. 845-786-2701

Palisades Interstate Park consists of more than 100,000 acres extending along the west shore of the Hudson River from Fort Lee, N.J., to Saugerties, N.Y., and westward into New York State. The park in New Jersey occupies 2,452 acres in northeast Bergen County from just south of the George Washington Bridge to the New York state line and nearly 3,000 acres in northern Passaic County. The park in New York covers 101,358 acres in Rockland, Orange, Ulster and Sullivan Counties.

The New Jersey section offers three picnic areas, two marinas, a boat launching ramp, hiking and cross-country skiing trails, fishing, bicycling, a nature sanctuary (membership required), refreshment stands, scenic overlooks, and the historic sites of Blackledge-Kearney House in Alpine and Fort Lee Historic Park in Fort Lee.

In New York, the park embraces Bear Mountain, Harriman, Sterling Forrest, Storm King, Haverstraw Beach, High Tor, Blauvelt, Nyack Beach, Hook Mountain, Rockland Lake, Tallman Mountain, Goosepond Mountain, Highland Lakes, Lake Superior, Minnewaska, Bristol Beach, and Palisades State Parks. The historic sites are Washington's Headquarters in Newburgh, Knox's Headquarters in Vails Gate, the New Windsor Cantonment in New Windsor, the Senate House in Kingston and the Stony Point Battlefield in Stony Point. New York facilities include the Bear Mountain Inn and seasonal refreshment stands, swimming pools and beaches, lakes for fishing and boating, picnic areas, an outdoor rink for ice skating and square dancing, hiking and cross-country skiing trails, cabins and grounds for camping, golf courses, a museum and zoo, and a merry-go-round.

The Henry Hudson Drive, built with funds specially appropriated by New Jersey, is the main artery of traffic in the New Jersey park along the river. Other important highways are the Englewood and Alpine approaches to the Drive, the Palisades Interstate Parkway which runs along the top of the cliffs from the George Washington Bridge northward to the Bear Mountain Bridge in New York, and the Long Mountain Parkway, Lake Welch Drive, and Seven Lakes Drive, all in New York.

The Palisades Interstate Park Commission was established by New York and New Jersey, authorized in New Jersey by Chapter 148 of the laws of 1937. The commission succeeded one created by Chapter 87 of the laws of 1900. The commission's executive director, Carol Ash, was appointed Feb. 1, 1999.

In December 1995, the commission's authority in New Jersey was expanded to provide for assistance with conservation activities in Bergen, Hunterdon, Morris, Passaic, Somerset, and Warren counties.

The central administration office of the commission is located at Bear Mountain, N.Y. The commission has about 250 permanent employees, and hires more than 550 additional workers in the summer.

TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES

PUBLIC ROADS and HIGHWAYS

Evolution of the state agency responsible for development of transportation began as early as 1891, when the Legislature designated the president of the State Board of Agriculture as the administrator of roads. Under the Public Roads Act of 1894, he became commissioner of public roads.

This arrangement continued until 1909, when the Legislature created a four-member State Highway Commission. Eight years later, a new act provided for a State Highway Department to be governed by an eight-member State Highway Commission.

The commission was supplanted in 1935 by a single commissioner.

It was an awareness of major needs in all areas of transportation as well as concern about the future that prompted establishment of the Department of Transportation on Dec. 12, 1966, effective retroactively to July 1, 1966. The department received the Bureau of Aviation, now the Division of Aeronautics, from the Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

There are about 2,313 miles of state and interstate highways, and 2,361 bridges. Other mileages, as of Dec. 31, 2003, were:

County highways	7,426
Municipal roads.	25,765
State park, forest, and institutional roads	582
Roads in national parks	67
Toll roads and Palisades Interstate Parkway.	404

ATLANTIC CITY EXPRESSWAYFarley Service Area, P.O. Box 351*Hammonton, N.J. 08037-0351*Tel. 609-965-6060

The Atlantic City Expressway is administered by the South Jersey Transportation Authority, created under Chapter 252 of the Laws of 1991 as the successor to the Atlantic City Expressway and the Atlantic County Transportation Authorities and operator of the Atlantic City International Airport. The authority, whose jurisdiction encompasses the counties of Atlantic, Camden, Cape May, Cumberland, Gloucester and Salem, is responsible for the coordination of southern New Jersey's transportation systems including public highways, Atlantic City Expressway projects, Atlantic City International Airport, related facilities and other economic development projects.

The Atlantic City Expressway was authorized under Chapter 10 of the Laws of 1962. Revenue bonds of $46,800,000, were issued on Jan. 22, 1963, and a second series of $5,825,000 on Dec. 21, 1964, to finance the construction from Route 42 at Turnersville to the terminus in Atlantic City. The first contract was awarded on July 26, 1963, and completed on July 31, 1964. The entire 44-mile Expressway was finished July 31, 1965.

In 1992, the South Jersey Transportation Authority issued bonds in the amount of $60,485,000 to settle outstanding debts of the New Jersey Expressway and the Atlantic County Transportation Authority, purchase a parking garage and fund certain road improvements to the expressway. In 1994, the authority issued $15,420,000 to fund the taxable portion of the 1992 bonds. The authority issued bonds in the amount of $204,520,000 in 1999, in part to fund improvements to the Atlantic City-Brigantine connector which opened to traffic in July, 2001. As of December 31, 2003, the outstanding balances from these bonds totalled $220,760,000.

In its first full year of operation, 1966, the Expressway was used by 6,096,547 vehicles. The vehicle count for 1980 was 19,998,359; 1990, 45,035,072; 1995, 47,602,146; 2000, 50,619,361; and 2002, 59,699,086.

GARDEN STATE PARKWAYP.O. Box 5050, Woodbridge, N.J. 07095-5050*Tel. 732-442-8600

On July 9, 2003, the New Jersey Highway Authority, which managed operation of the Garden State Parkway since its inception in 1952, was dissolved by Chapter 79 of the Public Laws of 2003 and control of the highway and the PNC Bank Arts Center were transferred to the New Jersey Turnpike Authority.

Plans for the parkway project had originated in 1945 legislation, but lack of public funds limited its construction by the State Highway Department to three scattered portions, approximating 20 miles, in six years. The authority opened the remaining 143 miles of the basic parkway in sections as soon as each was ready. A major portion was available to traffic in the summer of 1954. Full operation began July 1, 1955.

During 1956, the first full year of operation, about 50,000,000 vehicles used the parkway. Use figures for recent years were: 1980, 216,999,000; 1985, 293,751,000; 1990, 344,305,000; 1995, 356,955,000; 2000, 401,114,000; and 2002, 408,800,000.

A feeder road, extending about nine miles from the original northern terminus at Paramus to the New Jersey-New York state line, was completed in the summer of 1957 to connect the parkway with the New York State Thruway. The parkway thus stretches the length of New Jersey for approximately 173 miles. No trucks other than pickups, panel vans, and similar vehicles are permitted north of Interchange 105.

The parkway has about 1,102 full-time employees, and hires 150 additional workers for the summer season.

NEW JERSEY TURNPIKE

N.J. Turnpike at Route 18 and Interchange 9, P.O. Box 1121
New Brunswick, N.J. 08903
Tel. 732-247-0900

The New Jersey Turnpike, the state's first toll road, was opened in 1951. It stretched 117 miles, from the Delaware Memorial Bridge in Deepwater in Salem County to Ridgefield Park in Bergen County. Since the original roadway was constructed, the Newark Bay-Hudson County Extension, an extension to connect with the Pennsylvania Turnpike, the western spur that runs through Bergen and Hudson counties and the I-95 extension have been added, bringing the Turnpike to a total of 148 miles.

The Turnpike has also been widened over the years. Various widening projects have increased the Turnpike's capacity and improved safety. The first, which began in 1955, expanded the Turnpike from four to six lanes from Interchange 4 to the northern terminus; other widening projects created the dual-dual system between Interchanges 9 and 14. From 1985 to 1996, the widening continued with a twenty-two mile long, two-phase project. Phase I resulted in the widening, from three to five lanes in each direction, of the roadway between Interchanges 8A and 9, and extended the dual-dual segment to Interchange 8A. Phase II saw the 13-mile stretch between Interchange 11 in Woodbridge and Interchange 14 in Newark being widened and ramp improvements and roadway modifications near Interchange 15E. When Phase II was completed, the newly created left lane of the outer roadways between Interchanges 11 and 14 was designated a high occupancy vehicle (HOV) lane during weekday peak travel hours.

In its first year of operation 17,948,325 vehicles traveled the Turnpike. In 2002, the number of vehicles using the Turnpike had increased to 241,324,915. On a typical weekday in October, 2003, approximately 733,000 vehicles travel the Turnpike. The highest daily volume ever recorded was on Friday, June 28, 2002, when 807,156 vehicles used the roadway.

The Turnpike Authority is governed by a chairman and seven commissioners, five appointed by the governor, and one each by the Senate President and General Assembly Speaker. The New Jersey Commissioner of Transportation is an ex officio member of the authority board. There are 1,446 full-time employees and 764 part-time and temporary employees. In addition to the turnpike, the authority manages the Garden State Parkway and the PNC Bank Arts Center.

Per vehicle mile traveled, the Turnpike is one of the busiest and safest toll roads in the United States. It was one of the first roadways to install 'breakdown' shoulders on bridges, variable speed limit and speed warning signs, uniquely designed noise barriers, changeable message signs and a traffic surveillance system which utilize loop detectors buried in the roadway and other newly developed detectors to monitor traffic conditions and divert traffic flow accordingly.

A Highway Advisory Telephone (HAT) and Highway Advisory Radio (HAR) system alert patrons to road conditions, assisting travelers in making their travel plans. Additionally, a cellular phone system, #95, was instituted for patron use to report disabled vehicles, congestion, or accidents on the roadway. The service is toll- and airtime-free through most New Jersey cellular service providers. A Variable Message Sign (VMS) system consisting of eleven overhead structures strategically located along the roadway gives up-to-the-minute information to motorists. A Roadway Weather Information System (RWIS) was installed in July 2001. The system collects weather information including wind speed and direction, relative humidity, barometric pressure, precipitation, visibility, ambient and road surface temperature and salinity.

DELAWARE RIVER CROSSINGS

From New Jersey to Pennsylvania and Delaware

The newest of the 28 Delaware River automobile crossings from New Jersey is the six-lane Interstate 78 Bridge from Phillipsburg to Easton, Pa. It was opened to traffic on Nov. 21, 1989.

The bridge was built and is operated and maintained by the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission. The commission operates a total of seven toll bridges, and 13 non-toll bridges which are supported by revenues generated on the toll bridges. The southernmost is the Route 1 toll bridge joining Trenton and Morrisville, Pa., and the northernmost is that connecting Montague Township and Milford, Pa. The oldest of the commission's toll bridges is the Route 22 bridge, which opened in 1938.

Below Trenton, the Route 276 Bridge crosses the river, joining the New Jersey and Pennsylvania Turnpikes.

The Burlington County Bridge Commission operates two movable toll spans to Pennsylvania: the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge to Philadelphia, opened in 1929, and the Burlington-Bristol Bridge, opened in 1931.

The Delaware River Port Authority operates the Commodore John Barry Bridge, opened to traffic between Bridgeport and Chester, Pa., in 1974; the Benjamin Franklin Bridge, opened in 1926, the Walt Whitman Bridge, opened in 1957, and the Betsy Ross Bridge, opened in 1976, all three joining Camden County with Philadelphia. Through its Port Authority Transit Corp., the authority also operates the PATCO high-speed line across Camden County into Philadelphia.

The principal crossing south of the Camden-Philadelphia area is the twin-span Delaware Memorial Bridge, which serves the New Jersey Turnpike, carrying traffic from Deepwater to New Castle, Del. The southernmost crossing of the Delaware Bay is the ferry service between Cape May and Lewes, Del. Both the Cape May-Lewes Ferry and the Memorial Bridge are operated by the Delaware River and Bay Authority.

THE GEORGE WASHINGTON BRIDGE

Fort Lee to Manhattan

The George Washington Bridge, one of the longest suspension bridges in the world, was built and is operated by The Port Authority of New York and New Jersey. It was opened to traffic on Oct. 25, 1931. On Aug. 29, 1962, a new six-lane lower level was opened to traffic, making it the world's only 14-lane suspension bridge, and increasing its traffic capacity by 75 percent. The George Washington Bridge has a main span of 4,760 feet between anchorages. The bridge cables contain approximately 105,000 miles of steel wire. The cables rest in saddles on top of towers 600 feet high and are anchored on the New Jersey side in the solid rock of the Palisades. On the New York side, the anchorage is a huge concrete block faced with stone.

In 2002 the George Washington Bridge carried more than 54.7 million vehicles in the eastbound (toll-paying) direction.

THE HOLLAND and LINCOLN TUNNELS

Jersey City and Weehawken to Manhattan

Two vehicular tunnels—the Holland and the Lincoln—connect New York and New Jersey under the Hudson River.

The Holland Tunnel, opened to traffic on Nov. 13, 1927, carries traffic through two two-lane tubes, connecting lower Manhattan in the vicinity of Canal Street with Jersey City at 12th and 14th Streets. It was named after Clifford M. Holland, its chief engineer.

The Holland Tunnel was constructed by New York and New Jersey, acting through state commissions. In March, 1931, full control was vested in the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey. An issue of $50,000,000 of Port Authority bonds reimbursed the two states for their investment in the project.

The Lincoln Tunnel's first tube was opened to traffic Dec. 22, 1937; the second on Feb. 1, 1945; and the third on May 25, 1957. It is the only 3-tube underwater vehicular tunnel in the United States. The tunnel forms part of New Jersey Route 495 and links U.S. Routes 1 and 9, and the New Jersey Turnpike to midtown Manhattan. The tunnel's three tubes provide flexibility in traffic handling, allowing the authority to change the six lanes to four lanes in one direction or three lanes in each direction by converting the center tube to a two-way operation. During the weekday peak period, the authority operates an exclusive bus lane that carries approximately 1,700 buses and 60,000 commuters.

In 2002 the Holland Tunnel provided passage for 15.8 million eastbound vehicles. The Lincoln Tunnel handled 21 million eastbound vehicles.

STATEN ISLAND BRIDGES

Perth Amboy, Elizabeth, and Bayonne to Staten Island

Three bridges financed, constructed and operated by The Port Authority of New York and New Jersey connect Staten Island, New York, and New Jersey. The Outerbridge Crossing, a cantilever structure, spans the Arthur Kill between Tottenville, Staten Island, and Perth Amboy. It was completed in 1928 and named in honor of Eugenius Outerbridge, first chairman of the Port Authority. Total length of the bridge, including approach roads, is 10,140 feet.

The Goethals Bridge over the Arthur Kill furnishes an 11,825-foot highway connection between Howland Hook, Staten Island, and Elizabeth. Its name commemorates Maj. Gen. George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal and first consulting engineer of the Port Authority. It is a cantilever structure similar to the Outerbridge Crossing, and was also completed in 1928.

The Bayonne Bridge joins Port Richmond, Staten Island, and Bayonne. The total length of the bridge, including approach roads, is 8,460 feet. It is one of the longest steel arch bridges in the world, and one of the most spectacular bridge structures in the New York Metropolitan area. The Bayonne Bridge was opened to traffic in 1931.

The Staten Island bridges handled a combined traffic volume of 33.9 million eastbound vehicles in 2002.

NEWARK LIBERTY INTL. and TETERBORO AIRPORTS

On March 22, 1948, The Port Authority of New York and New Jersey assumed responsibility for the operation of Newark International Airport under a long-term lease with the City of Newark. The airport was officially renamed Newark Liberty International Airport on Oct. 22, 2002, to honor American heroes, including those of the Sept. 11, 2001 terrorist attacks.

On Oct. 21, 2001, AirTrain Newark, a monorail system connecting the airport's terminals with New Jersey Transit and Amtrak inter-city services, was opened. Air travelers can transfer to rail services that lead directly to Penn Station New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other transportation points along the Northeast Corridor and North Jersey Coast lines. A $3.8 billion redevelopment program at Newark Liberty International Airport included two new parking garages, enhanced terminal concessions, and roadway improvements completed in 2001. A new control tower and customs and immigration facility were completed in late 2002.

More than 45 domestic and international airlines operating at Newark handled over 28 million passengers on over 404,000 aircraft movements in 2002.

On April 2, 1949, the authority bought Teterboro Airport for about $4.6 million. Teterboro is a general aviation facility serving private and corporate aircraft. The Port Authority manages the daily operation and maintenance of the airport with a private sector company. In 2001, the authority initiated the first phase of a program to reduce noise levels for neighboring communities and better handle existing activity.

PORT AUTHORITY BUS TERMINAL

The Port Authority Bus Terminal was opened on Dec. 15, 1950, in the block bounded by Eighth and Ninth Avenues and 40th and 41st Streets in Manhattan, near Times Square. The terminal has three separate bus operating levels capable of loading 223 buses simultaneously. Each of these levels is divided into a south wing, the original terminal, and a north wing. Above the terminal roof is a three-story structure with 1,080 public parking spaces for automobiles.

A unique ramp system provides a direct connection between the terminal and the Lincoln Tunnel. This enables buses using the third and fourth levels, and cars headed for the public parking levels, to avoid New York City streets, thereby reducing traffic congestion on the west side of Manhattan. In 2002, 56.6 million passengers used the bus terminal.

PORT NEWARK

Under a lease with the City of Newark, the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, on March 22, 1948, undertook the operation and development of Port Newark, adjacent to Newark Liberty International Airport on Newark Bay. Port Newark is eight miles from the Narrows by way of the Kill Van Kull. The 930-acre terminal has nearly 23,375 linear feet of berthing space and more than 3 million square feet within distribution buildings available to shippers. Its tenants include a container terminal operator, an auto importer and exporter, bulk and break bulk handlers.

ELIZABETH-PORT AUTHORITY MARINE TERMINAL

In 1958 the Port Authority undertook the development of what became the prototype for most of the world's container terminals, and it pioneered in the handling of container cargo. The Elizabeth facility occupies 1,254 acres encompassing four major container terminals; an on-dock rail transfer terminal, ExpressRail; and automobile import handling facilities.

Twenty-four container cranes serve fully-equipped container ship berths along 16,934 linear feet of wharf on Elizabeth Channel and Newark Bay. The facility has a mean low water depth of 35 to 40 feet, and each container terminal has at least one 45-foot berth to accommodate large vessels.

PORT AUTHORITY AUTO MARINE TERMINAL

The 130-acre Auto Marine Terminal, developed by the Port Authority on the Jersey City and Bayonne waterfront, opened in 1989. This state-of-the-art facility is devoted exclusively to the preparation and distribution of vehicles. Two berths totaling 1,800 linear feet provide direct access to auto carrier vessels requiring up to 32 feet of water.

PORT AUTHORITY TRANS-HUDSON SYSTEM (PATH)

The Port Authority Trans-Hudson (PATH) is a 13.9-mile rail transit system that operates between terminals in Newark, Jersey City and Hoboken in New Jersey and 33rd Street in Manhattan. Under bistate legislation enacted in 1962, the Port Authority was directed to acquire, operate and modernize the antiquated Hudson and Manhattan Railroad which had been in bankruptcy. Since 1962, PATH has invested more than $1.5 billion in capital improvements on the system. The system served 51.3 million passengers in 2002.

In addition to its 11 rail stations, PATH is headquartered at the Journal Square Transportation Center, a multi-modal transportation facility consisting of the PATH rail station, a bus station, parking facility, retail space and an office tower. Approximately 9 million commuters used the center in 2002. The Port Authority opened a temporary Path station at the World Trade Center site in November, 2003, after just 16 months of construction and 26 months after the September 11, 2001, terrorist attack.

ARTS, SCIENCE AND SPORTS FACILITIES

CONTINENTAL AIRLINES ARENA

Route 3, East Rutherford, N.J. 07073

Tel. 201-935-8500

The arena opened July 2, 1981, with a concert by Bruce Springsteen, the popular singer and guitarist who is a New Jersey native. The arena's name was changed from Brendan Byrne Meadowlands Arena to Continental Airlines Arena in January, 1996, as part of a $29 million, 12-year advertising contract the airline entered into with the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority.

The arena seats 20,000 for basketball and 19,040 for hockey. It is the home of the New Jersey Nets of the National Basketball Association, New Jersey Devils of the National Hockey League, winners of three Stanley Cups, and Seton Hall men's basketball.

The arena also presents concerts, W.W.E. wrestling, Harlem Globetrotters, Ringling Bros. Circus, Sesame Street Live, ice shows, and a variety of other events, totaling almost 200 each year.

The arena was the site of one of the most prestigious events in all of American sports, the 1996 NCAA Men's Basketball Championship Final Four, won by the University of Kentucky. In 2004, the arena will host the NCAA Division I East Regional Championship for the 10th time.

The arena is located on a 67-acre tract between the New Jersey Turnpike's western spur and Route 120. There are 4,000 parking spaces surrounding the arena. Pedestrian and vehicle bridges connect the arena site to those of Giants Stadium and Meadowlands Racetrack.

GIANTS STADIUM

Route 3, East Rutherford, N.J. 07073

Tel. 201-935-8500

Giants Stadium has been called one of the best football and soccer stadium in the nation. It has 82,000 chairback seats offering unobstructed views of the field.

Spectators reach their seats via 24 escalators—eight to each of the three tiers—or by walking up gently-sloped circular ramps. There are 70 lavatories, 40 refreshment stands and 8 food courts. The Stadium Club seats 1,000.

Information is presented to fans through a sophisticated sound system and two color video boards.

The stadium is surrounded by 27,000 parking spaces, and is accessible by bus from many communities. The stadium's home teams are the Giants and the Jets, of the National Football League and, since April, 1996, the MetroStars of Major League Soccer. The stadium is home to college football's annual New York Urban League Classic and has hosted the Army-Navy game four times. In 1994, the stadium held seven World Cup soccer matches, including one quarterfinal and one semifinal game. Over 500,000 fans from around the globe attended the World Cup games in New Jersey, while an audience numbering in the billions watched the games on television.

On Oct. 3, 1995, Pope John Paul II celebrated mass at the stadium, attracting a record attendance of 82,948.

In summer, 2003, Bruce Springsteen and the E Street Band sold out 10 shows at Giants Stadium, setting a concert industry record and drawing over 550,000 fans. Giants Stadium opened Oct. 10, 1976.

MEADOWLANDS RACETRACK

Route 3, East Rutherford, N.J. 07073

Tel. 201-935-8500

Meadowlands Racetrack has a one-mile track and a seven-eighths grass oval, both visible without obstruction from the six-tiered all-weather grandstand.

The track is convertible from standardbred to thoroughbred racing and has proven to be among the fastest in the world for each. It schedules about 70 programs of thoroughbred racing, and 150 harness racing programs, each year. The grandstand seats approximately 10,000 spectators and handles crowds of 40,000. The track opened Sept. 1, 1976.

A videomatrix screen in the infield aids fan viewing and the all-year temperature conditioning adds to comfort. The racetrack underwent a $10 million renovation in 1990. More than 1,000 dining room seats were available when the track opened; another 1,326 are provided in another restaurant, Pegasus, which opened in March, 1979.

Stable space is available for 1,600 horses. There are 700 dormitory rooms for backstretch personnel. A half-time training track was put into service in 1977.

The track is home to the leading standardbred race, the Hambletonian, in August of each year.

In addition to the Meadowlands, the Sports Authority operates Monmouth Park in Oceanport, which it acquired on September 4, 1985.

Monmouth Park has grandstand seating for about 13,200, with accommodations for about 5,000 in the clubhouse, and 426 in parterre boxes. Its capacity for all facilities is about 35,000.

Tel. 201-200-1000; Internet www.lsc.org

Although Liberty Science Center is not a State facility, but rather a private, non-profit corporation, the center is located in Liberty State Park, Jersey City, and was built with the support of $10 million in state funds. New Jersey-based pharmaceutical and chemical companies donated the remaining $58 million in construction costs.

The 170,000-square foot center opened January 24, 1993. It features the IMAX Dome Theater, with the nation's largest domed IMAX screen measuring 88 feet wide; the expanding and contracting Hoberman Sphere geodesic ball; and more than 250 interactive exhibits on three themed floors: Environment, Health and Invention. Special attractions include national touring exhibitions, live science demonstrations on stages throughout the building, a laser-enhanced 3-D show, shown daily in the J.D. Williams Science Theater, and a large-scale permanent interactive exhibit, "E-Quest: Exploring Earth's Energy."

Liberty Science Center is open Tuesdays through Sundays, 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., with the exceptions of Thanksgiving and Christmas. Tickets are available at the facility or through its reservation line at 201-200-1000. Tickets for exhibit halls, the IMAX Theater, and the 3-D show are sold separately.

The center, which has been visited by more than 7 million guests, has nearly 200 full and part-time employees and a volunteer pool of approximately 300.

PNC BANK ARTS CENTER
Garden State Parkway, Exit 116
Holmdel, N.J. 07733
Tel. 732-335-0400

The New Jersey Turnpike Authority leases out the PNC Bank Arts Center, formerly the Garden State Art Center, at its Telegraph Hill Nature Area in Holmdel Township on the Garden State Parkway. The Arts Center is accessible only from the Parkway.

Designed by Edward Durell Stone, the facility features a circular eight-columned, open-sided amphitheater, renovated and expanded in 1998, seating 7,000 under its overhanging roof, and accommodating up to 10,500 on the sloping, surrounding lawn.

The project ground was broken in May, 1966, and the amphitheater opened June 12, 1968, with a performance by the Philadelphia Orchestra under Eugene Ormandy and piano soloist Van Cliburn.

The facility is privately operated since May, 1996, by GSAC Partners under terms of a 22-year lease. Also in 1996, an agreement was made with PNC Bank to assume naming rights associated with the Arts Center for a 10-year period. The Arts Center offers a summer season of evening programs, performed by popular artists, between June and September. There were more than 540,000 tickets sold for the 55 paid-admissions performances held in 2002.

The Garden State Cultural Center Fund was established in 1968 to provide free programs for senior citizens, school children, and disadvantaged people. The free programs and heritage festivals in spring and fall attract about 150,000 people annually. In 1984 the non-profit Garden State Arts Center Foundation was established to oversee the fund.

The Telegraph Hill Nature Area is also home to nature trails, the Robert B. Meyner Reception Center, the New Jersey Vietnam Veterans Memorial and the New Jersey Vietnam Era Education Center.

BATTLESHIP NEW JERSEY62 Battleship Place, Camden, N.J. 08103*Tel. 866-877-6262; Fax 856-966-1883*Internet www.battleshipnewjersey.org

The USS New Jersey, a 45,000-ton Iowa class battleship, was built at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, Pa. It was launched on December 7, 1942, and commissioned in May, 1943. The ship saw action in World War II, the Korean War, the Vietnam War and, in 1983 and 1984, the Beirut crisis. The ship earned 16 battle and 3 campaign stars, making the USS New Jersey the most decorated battleship and surviving warship of the United States Navy.

When the ship was decommissioned in 1991, long standing efforts to bring the ship to New Jersey waters as a memorial and museum intensified. In 1999, the ship was towed 5,800 miles from Puget Sound Naval Shipyard in Bremerton, Wash., to a temporary mooring at the Philadelphia Ship Yard. In July, 2000, Navy Secretary Richard Danzig signed a contract shifting title on the ship to the Home Port Alliance, a coalition of business, government and labor leaders. Later that month, the ship was towed across the river to its new home on the Camden waterfront.

Funding to bring the USS New Jersey home came from both the public and private sectors. State funds designated for the battleship, included a $6 million capital appropriation, $7.2 million for refurbishment and an on-shore museum, more than $1 million in vanity license plate fees and income tax check-offs, and a transportation grant.

The USS New Jersey opened as a floating museum on Oct. 15, 2001. The ship is open to the public April 1 to Sept. 30, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and from Oct. 1 to Dec. 31, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily. In February, the ship is open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday through Monday only, except for advanced group reservations. Admission is $12.50 for adults and $8 for children age 6 to 12 and for senior citizens. Admission for children under age 6 and for active military in uniform is free.

The ship had 280,000 visitors in 2003, served by a staff of 90. Troy M. Collins is the museum's president and chief executive officer.

EAST AND WEST JERSEY PROPRIETORS

East and West Jersey Proprietors, established in 1684 and 1676, respectively, are business agencies granting from the proprietors' original titles to the land. In 1998, East Jersey Proprietors sold its assets, including land holdings and its archives, for $300,000 to the state to be managed by the Department of Environmental Protection. West Jersey Proprietors continues to operate independently and, while not properly a part of state government, is listed here because of its unique place in the state's development.

Inquiries regarding the former East Jersey Proprietors should be addressed to Richard Ecks, New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection, P.O. Box 412, Trenton, N.J. 08625; Tel. 609-984-6210.

Inquiries regarding the West Jersey Proprietors may be addressed to Robert S. Haines, president, 230 High Street, P.O. Box 158, Burlington, N.J. 08016; Tel. 609-386-1636.

LEGISLATORS' TERMS and SALARIES

Legislative elections are held in the odd-numbered years. In every odd-numbered year, members are elected to all 80 seats in the General Assembly, for two-year terms. All 40 Senate terms are on a 10-year cycle which is made up of a two-year term followed by two consecutive four-year terms. The election for the two-year term is in the odd-numbered year following the census, such as 2001.

Legislators of both houses take office at noon on the second Tuesday in the January that follows their election. The terms thus begin and end in even-numbered years.

Each legislature lasts two years. The first is called the first session, and the second year the second session. Bills and resolutions introduced during the first session remain valid and available for action through the second session. The Legislature that began its business at noon on Jan. 13, 2004, is the First Session of the 211th Legislature.

Legislators of both houses receive salaries of $49,000 a year. The Senate president and the Assembly speaker each receives an additional allowance equal to one-third of his or her compensation as a member. The money is payable half at the first legislative meeting of each year and half at the beginning of the new fiscal year in July, although a few of the members have at their request received the money in payments spread over the year.

In addition to the salary, each legislator has at his or her disposal $110,000 annually for appointment of personal staff aides. The number of aides, and the portion of the $110,000 assigned to each of them, is at the discretion of the legislator. The cost of the legislator's district office rental and its furnishings is paid by the State.

The State also provides stationery for each legislator, 12,500 postage stamps, and a telephone credit card.

Legislators receive the same health insurance coverage and benefits as other state employees, and they have access to a special pension system, to which they must contribute if they are to benefit.

STATE SENATORS

All terms expire at noon on Jan. 8, 2008. The biographies that follow generally do not include leadership and committee assignments in the sitting Legislature. Those are listed, collectively, in the section of the Manual that precedes this.

STATE SENATORS

1st Legislative District (Cape May County and parts of Atlantic and Cumberland Counties)

POLITICAL COMPLEXION of LEGISLATURES

For the 105 legislative sessions that organized from 1900 through 2004, the Republicans enjoyed a majority in both houses 67 times, and the Democrats, 19. In 15 other sessions, each party had a majority in one house. In 1919 the Republicans controlled the Senate but the Assembly was evenly divided, with each party winning 30 seats. In 1937 the Democrats controlled the Assembly but the Senate was tied, 10-10, after one member was unseated following a dispute over his election. In 2002 and 2003 the Democrats held control of the Assembly but the Senate was tied, 20-20.

As used here the term "session" means the year's work following the organization in January, although the legislative cycle itself was changed from one to two years, beginning in 1970.

Generally, the statistics below show the composition of each session as it was organized, and do not include changes occurring later in the year through death, resignation, special election, or other cause.

The numbers below reflect the expansion of the Senate from 21 to 29 members in 1966, and from 29 to 40 in 1968; and the expansion of the Assembly from 60 to 80 members in 1968. For a detailed explanation of the changes, please see the Manual section on Legislative Apportionment.

FORMER STATE SENATORS

Following is the list of former state senators who served since adoption of the 1947 Constitution, under which the first Legislature was that of 1948. Dates of prior service by those senators are included. Each senator is listed under the county of his or her residence at the time of service. Although single, whole counties are no longer the legislative districts as they were prior to the "one person-one vote" mandate, they are used here as a convenient frame of reference.

FORMER ASSEMBLY MEMBERS

Following is a list of the former Assembly members who served since adoption of the 1947 Constitution, under which the first Legislature was that of 1948. Dates of prior service of those Assembly members are included. Each is listed under the county of his or her residence at the time of service. Although single, whole, counties are no longer the legislative districts as they were before the "one man-one vote" mandate, they are used here as a convenient frame of reference.

LEGISLATIVE APPORTIONMENT

The State Constitution of 1947, duplicating the 1844 Constitution, established a Senate composed of one member from each county, and a 60-member Assembly in which the counties were represented, generally, according to their populations. It was provided that each county, no matter how small its population, have at least one Assembly member.

On June 15, 1964, the United States Supreme Court ruled, in Reynolds vs. Sims, that representation in state legislatures must be based on population only.

On the following Nov. 16, the New Jersey Senate, by a change in its rules, adopted a weighted voting system. The senator from Cape May County would have one vote and the senator from Essex, 19; the others would range in between.

In the meantime, the constitutionality of the State's representative system in the Legislature had been attacked in the State Supreme Court in the case of Jackman vs. Bodine. The court ruled on Nov. 25 that legislative seats must be reapportioned along the lines of the United States Supreme Court decision.

The weighted voting action of the Senate was challenged in the State Supreme Court on Dec. 14, 1964, and declared a nullity not in compliance with the State Constitution. On Dec. 17, 1964, the Senate unanimously rescinded the plan.

In 1965, the Senate was reapportioned into 14 districts represented by 29 senators. The General Assembly remained unchanged with 60 members elected by counties.

Under Chapter 43, Laws of 1965, a Constitutional Convention was authorized to draft a permanent apportionment plan.

The law provided for a special election March 1, 1966, to choose 126 delegates with a total of 112 votes. Some delegates would have only half a vote. The system was adopted in order to maintain the proper representation per county, based on population, while keeping the convention politically balanced evenly between Republicans and Democrats.

The Constitutional Convention, fifth in New Jersey history, was held in New Brunswick from March 21 to June 14, 1966. The convention proposed that the State Senate have 40 members and the General Assembly 80 members, all elected by districts.

An Apportionment Commission was to draw the lines.

The voters approved the proposal, 890,710 to 506,884, in a referendum on Nov. 8, 1966.

Fifteen districts were established for the 1967 election, but some were subdivided, so that the senators were actually elected from 19 constituencies, and the Assembly members from 42 constituencies. A plan of 42 election units was also used in the Assembly election of 1969, but in the 1971 election the Senate candidates ran in 21 districts, and the Assembly candidates in 43.

The plan of 40 districts each electing one Senator and two Assembly members was adopted for the 1973 election, and remains in effect. The Apportionment Commission draws new district lines in time for the election that follows each census year.

Thus the plan for electing legislators, affected by court rulings and new census figures as well as by decisions of the Constitutional Convention, the voters, the Legislature, and the Apportionment Commission, changed in this fashion:

—until 1965: 21 senators and 60 Assembly members, each elected at large from individual counties, with each county having one senator and a number of Assembly members roughly proportionate to its population. Senators served terms of four years, and about half of the 21 were elected every second year. Assembly members served two-year terms, and all of them were elected in every odd-numbered year. (Before the 1947 Constitution, senators served three-year terms and the Assembly was elected annually.)

—1965: 29 senators elected from 14 districts; 60 Assembly members elected from the 21 counties, all for two-year terms.

—1967: 40 senators elected from 19 districts for four-year terms; 80 Assembly members elected from 42 districts for two-year terms.

—1971: 40 senators elected from 21 districts; 80 Assembly members elected from 43 districts, all for two-year terms.

—1973: 40 senators and 80 Assembly members elected from 40 districts, each district electing one senator and two Assembly members in voting at large. Assembly terms are two years. Senate terms are on a 10-year cycle of one two-year term followed by two four-year terms. Election for the two-year term is in the odd-numbered year following the census, such as 2001.

LEGISLATIVE APPORTIONMENT COMMISSION

The Apportionment Commission created under Article IV, Section III, paragraph 1 of the State Constitution consists of 10 members, five appointed by the state chairman of each of the two major parties by Nov. 15 of each census year. The Commission is to produce an apportionment plan by Feb. 1 of the year following a census, or within one month after receipt of the official figures, whichever date is later. If the Commission fails to meet its deadline, or declares itself hopelessly deadlocked before then, the chief justice appoints an 11th member. The Commission then must produce a plan within a month of the appointment.

The 13th member is chosen by the commission and serves as its chairman.

1. In every case of an amendment of a bill agreed to in one House and dissented from in the other, if either House shall request a conference and appoint a committee of three members for that purpose, designating its chairman, and the other House shall also appoint a committee of three members, designating its chairman, to confer, such committee shall, at a convenient hour, to be agreed on by their respective chairmen, meet in conference, and state to each other, verbally or in writing, as either shall choose, the reasons of their respective Houses for and against the amendment, and confer freely thereon.

2. If the conference committee shall agree, an identical report of its agreement shall be made to each House, which shall be signed by the members or a majority of the members of the committee. If in said report it is recommended that additional amendments to the bill be adopted, such amendments shall be stated therein and in said report it may be recommended that the House, in which the amendments dissented from were adopted, shall recede from such amendments, or that the House dissenting from the amendments shall concur therein, with or without the adoption of additional amendments as may be recommended in the report.

3. If the report of the conference committee shall be adopted in both Houses, such action shall be taken, in each House, by receding from the amendments dissented from, or by concurring in the amendments dissented from, or by so receding or so concurring and adopting such further amendments, if any, as are recommended in the report, as shall be necessary to make the recommendations contained in said report effective and each House shall give notice to the other House of its action so taken.

4. When identical bills or bills dealing with the same subject matter but containing different provisions have originated in the two Houses and neither House is willing to pass the bill originating in the other House, either House then may request a conference and appoint a committee of three members for that purpose who shall proceed to confer as in cases in which an amendment to a bill is agreed to in one House and dissented from in the other.

5. If both identical bills are pending in one House, the conference committee may in its report recommend that the bill which has passed the other House be substituted for that which originated in the second House, upon or after the latter's second reading, and that the former be considered immediately upon third reading, but if the identical bills are pending in different Houses, the conference committee in its report may recommend that such proceedings shall be taken upon one bill, designating it by number, so that it may be forwarded to the other House and substitution of one for the other may be made in that House and shall report to both Houses accordingly.

6. If bills dealing with the same subject matter but containing different provisions are the subject matter of the conference, the conference committee may recommend in its report that certain amendments shall be made of one or the other of said bills, designating such bill by number, and that the bill so amended shall be passed by both Houses, which may be done by the substitution in one House of a committee substitute for the bill pending in that House, or if both bills are pending in one House, a committee substitute for both bills, which committee substitute shall then take the usual course of procedure to passage in both Houses, and said conference committee shall report to each House accordingly.

7. In any case in which one bill shall be substituted for another upon final passage the name of the introducer first appearing in each bill shall be endorsed as sponsor of the substituted bill upon the jacket containing the same.

8. If a bill shall have passed both Houses, it shall be delivered to the Secretary of the Senate or the Clerk of the General Assembly, as the bill may originate in one House or the other, and it shall be presented by him to the Governor for his action. Each such bill shall remain in the custody of the Secretary or Clerk, as the case may be, of the House in which the bill originated, but no action shall be taken upon such a bill other than to present it to the Governor, except by the order of both Houses.

d. No member of the Legislature, or any member of his immediate family, nor any partnership, firm or corporation with which he is associated as an officer, director, or holder of an interest, as defined in section 1:1 of this code, shall be an officer, director, employee, or holder of an interest as defined in section 1:1 of this code, in any firm, corporation, or association, or holding or intermediary company with respect thereto, as the same are defined in the Casino Control Act, which is the holder of, or an applicant for, a casino license. A member of the Legislature who is the holder of less than an interest, as defined in section 1:1 of this code, in any firm, corporation, or association, or any holding or intermediary company with respect thereto, which is the holder of, or an applicant for, a casino license; or who is associated as an officer or director with any firm which is the holder of less than an interest, as defined in section 1:1 of this code, in any firm, corporation, or association, or holding or intermediary company with respect thereto, which is the holder of, or an applicant for a casino license; or who is an employee of any firm which is the holder of less than an interest, as defined in section 1:1 of this code, in any firm, corporation, or association, or any holding or intermediary company with respect thereto, which is the holder of, or an applicant for, a casino license; or who is the holder of an interest or less than an interest, as defined in section 1:1 of this code, in any firm which is the holder of an interest or less than an interest, in any firm, corporation, or association, or any holding or intermediary company with respect thereto, which is the holder of, or an applicant for, a casino license; or who is the holder of an interest or less than an interest, as defined in section 1:1 of this code, in any firm which is the holder of less than an interest, as defined in section 1:1 of this code, in any firm, corporation, or association, or any holding or intermediary company with respect thereto, which is the holder of, or an applicant for, a casino license, shall, within 60 days of the adoption of this code and, thereafter, within 10 days of such association, such employment or the acquisition of such holding or the knowledge by the legislator of the acquisition of such holding, file with the Joint Legislative Committee on Ethical Standards a statement so indicating and, in the case of a holding, listing the nature and extent of such holding and date of acquisition thereof. If such statement is properly and timely filed, such association, employment, or holding shall not, in and of itself and without more, be considered a "personal interest" for purposes of section 2:9 of this code, although the filing of such statement shall not relieve a member of the Legislature who shall have a personal interest in any legislation from complying with the requirements of section 2:9.

e. No member of the Legislature, nor any member of his immediate family, nor any partnership, firm or corporation with which he is associated as an officer, director, or holder of an interest, as defined in section 1:1 of this code, shall be an officer, director, or holder of an interest, as defined in section 1:1 of this code, in any firm, corporation, or association, or holding or intermediary company with respect thereto, as the same are defined in the Casino Control Act, which is the holder of, or an applicant for, a casino service industry license or which is doing or seeking to do business, other than provision of goods and services as a licensed public utility or as a patron or on a casual basis, with a casino license or its affiliated hotel. A member of the Legislature who is an employee of, or who is the holder of less than an interest, as defined in section 1:1 of this code, in, such a firm, corporation, or association, or holding or intermediary company with respect thereto; or who is associated as an officer or director with any firm which is the holder of less than an interest, as defined in section 1:1 of this code, in such a firm, corporation, or association, or holding or intermediary company with respect thereto; or who is an employee of any firm which is the holder of an interest or less than an interest, as defined in section 1:1 of this code, in such a firm, corporation, or association, or holding or intermediary company with respect thereto; or who is the holder of an interest or less than an interest, as defined in section 1:1 of this code, in a firm which is the holder of less than an interest in such a firm, corporation, or association, or holding or intermediary company with respect thereto; or who is the holder of less than an interest, as defined in section 1:1 of this code, in a firm which is the holder of an interest or less than an interest, as defined in section 1:1 of this code, in such a firm, corporation or association, or holding or intermediary company with respect thereto, shall, within 60 days of the adoption of this code and, thereafter, within 10 days of such association, such employment or the acquisition of such holding or the knowledge by the legislator of the acquisition of such holding, file with the Joint Legislative Committee on Ethical Standards a statement so indicating and, in the case of a holding, listing the nature and extent of such holding and the date of acquisition thereof. Notwithstanding the foregoing, no such statement shall be required with respect to the ownership or control of a holding in a publicly traded corporation which is the holder of, or applicant for, a casino service industry license, or any holding or intermediary company with respect thereto; or which is doing or seeking to do business, other than provision of goods and services as a licensed public utility or as a patron or on a casual basis, with a casino licensee or its affiliated hotel; or which is the holding or intermediary company of any firm, corporation, or association which is doing or seeking to do such business. If such statement is properly and timely filed, such association, employment, or holding shall not, in and of itself and without more, be considered a "personal interest" for purposes of section 2:9 of this code, although the filing of such statement shall not relieve a member of the Legislature who shall have a personal interest in any legislation from complying with the requirements of section 2:9. For the purposes of this subsection and subsection g., business “on a casual basis” shall include, but not be limited to, business conducted with a casino licensee or its affiliated hotel by a firm, corporation, or association with which the licensee has or would have no separate or individual contract or agreement which is required to be approved by the Casino Control Commission pursuant to subsection b. of section 104 of the Casino Control Act. (P.L. 1977, c 110; C 5:12-104b).

f. A member of the Legislature who is an officer, director, employee, or holder of an interest or less than an interest, as defined in section 1:1 of this code, in any firm, corporation, or association, or holding or intermediary company with respect thereto, which is doing or seeking to do business on a casual basis with a casino licensee or its affiliated hotel shall, within 60 days of the adoption of this code and, thereafter, within 10 days of becoming such an officer, director, employee, or holder of an interest or less than an interest, as defined in section 1:1 of this code, file with the Joint Legislative Committee on Ethical Standards a statement so indicating and, in the case of a holding, listing the nature and extent of such holding and the date of acquisition thereof. Notwithstanding the foregoing, no such statement shall be required with respect to the ownership or control of a holding in a publicly traded corporation which is doing or seeking to do business on a casual basis with a casino licensee or its affiliated hotel, or which is the holding or intermediary company of any such firm, corporation, or association. If such statement is properly and timely filed, such association as an officer, director, employee, or holder of an interest or less than an interest, as defined in section 1:1 of this code, shall not, in and of itself and without more, be considered a “personal interest” for purposes of section 2:9 of this code, although the filing of such statement shall not relieve a member of the Legislature who shall have a personal interest in any legislation from complying with the requirements of section 2:9. For the purposes of this subsection, “business on a casual basis” shall mean business conducted with a casino licensee or its affiliated hotel by a firm, corporation, or association with which the licensee has or would have no separate or individual contract or agreement which is required to be approved by the Casino Control Commission pursuant to subsection b. of section 104 of the Casino Control Act (P.L. 1977, c 110; C 5:12-104b.), but shall not mean the provision of goods and services as a licensed public utility.

g. If a member of the immediate family of a member of the Legislature is the holder of an interest or less than an interest, as defined in section 1:1 of this code, in any firm, corporation, or association, or holding or intermediary company with respect thereto, which is the holder of, or an applicant for, a casino license or a casino service industry license, or which is doing or seeking to do business, other than provision of goods and services as a licensed public utility or as a patron or on a casual basis, with a casino licensee or its affiliated hotel, the family member shall, within 60 days of the adoption of this code and, thereafter, within 10 days of the knowledge by the legislator of the acquisition of such holding by the family member, file with the Joint Legislative Committee on Ethical Standards, a statement listing the nature and extent of such holding, the holder thereof and the date of acquisition thereof. Notwithstanding the foregoing, no such statement shall be required with respect to the ownership or control of a holding in a publicly traded corporation which is the holder of, or applicant for, a casino service industry license, or any holding or intermediary company with respect thereto; or which is doing or seeking to do business, other than provision of goods and services as a licensed public utility or as a patron or on a casual basis, with a casino licensee or its affiliated hotel; or which is the holding or intermediary company of any firm, corporation, or association which is doing or seeking to do such business. If such statement is properly and timely filed, such holding shall not, in and of itself and without more, be considered a "personal interest" for purposes of section 2:9 of this code, although the filing of such statement shall not relieve a member of the Legislature who shall have a personal interest in any legislation from complying with the requirements of section 2:9.

h. A member of the Legislature who has or enters into any financial relationship, whether as debtor, creditor, mortgagor, mortgagee, or otherwise, with a holder of or applicant for a casino license or with a holding or intermediary company with respect thereto, or a member of his immediate family who has or enters into any such relationship, shall, within 60 days of the adoption of this code and, thereafter, within 10 days of entering into such a relationship or of the knowledge by the legislator of such a relationship, file with the Joint Legislative Committee on Ethical Standards, a statement listing the nature of the relationship, the parties thereto and the terms thereof.

i. A member of the Legislature who owns or holds an interest in any land or building in any city in which casino gambling is authorized, or a member of his immediate family who owns or holds an interest in any land or building in any city in which casino gambling is authorized shall, within 60 days of the adoption of this code and, thereafter, within 10 days of the acquisition of such ownership or holding, file with the Joint Legislative j. No member of the Legislature shall accept any complimentary service, discount, or credit from any casino applicant or licensee which he knows or has reason to know is other than such service, discount, or credit that is offered to the general public.

2:9. No member of the Legislature shall participate by voting or any other action on the floor of either House, in committee or elsewhere, in the enactment or defeat of legislation in which he has a personal interest unless and until he files with the Secretary of the Senate or the Clerk of the General Assembly, as the case may be, and with the Joint Legislative Committee on Ethical Standards a statement that he has a personal interest in the legislation, identifying it by bill or resolution number, and that notwithstanding his interest, he is able to cast a fair and objective vote and otherwise participate in connection with and consideration of such legislation.

The Joint Legislative Committee on Ethical Standards is authorized to investigate the circumstances giving rise to the filing of a statement of personal interest and upon a finding, after a hearing thereon, that the member's participation with respect to the enactment or defeat of the legislation would constitute a violation of the public trust or create an impression among the public of a violation of the public trust, the joint committee shall direct the member to withdraw his sponsorship of, or participation in, the enactment or defeat of the legislation.

For the purpose of this section a "personal interest" means the member of the Legislature believes or has reason to believe he will derive a direct monetary gain or suffer a direct monetary loss by the enactment or defeat of the legislation; a "personal interest" does not mean that by enactment or defeat of the legislation no benefit or detriment to him could be expected to accrue to him, as a member of a business, profession, occupation or group, to any greater extent than any such benefit or detriment could be expected to accrue to any other member of such business, profession, occupation or group.

Statements filed pursuant to this section shall be entered verbatim in the Senate Journal or Minutes of the General Assembly, as the case may be. (C. 52:13D-18).

2:10. No member of the Legislature shall solicit, receive or agree to receive, whether directly or indirectly, any compensation, reward, employment, gift or other thing of value, from any source other than the State of New Jersey for any service, advice, assistance or other matter related to his official duties, except reasonable fees for speeches or published works on matters within his official duties and except, in connection therewith, reimbursement of actual expenditures for travel and reasonable subsistence for which no payment or reimbursement is made by the State of New Jersey. This section shall not apply to the solicitation or acceptance of contributions to the campaign of an announced candidate for elective public office and the member has no knowledge or reason to believe that the solicited campaign contribution, if accepted, would be given with the intent to influence the member in the performance of his public duties and responsibilities. (C. 52:13D-24).

2:11. No member of the Legislature shall willfully disclose to any person, whether or not for pecuniary gain, any information not generally available to members of the public which he receives or acquires in the course of and by reason of his official duties. No member of the Legislature shall use for the purpose of pecuniary gain, whether directly or indirectly, any information not generally available to members of the public which he receives or acquires in the course of and by reason of his official duties. (C. 52:13D-25).

2:12. If any person shall attempt to induce a member of the Legislature to violate any provision of the New Jersey Conflicts of Interest Law or this code, the member shall report the matter to the Attorney General in writing no later than 72 hours after the attempt and shall advise concurrently in writing the Joint Legislative Committee on Ethical Standards that he has made such a report to the Attorney General. (C. 52:13D-26).

2:13. Any member of the Legislature may request and obtain an advisory opinion of the Joint Legislative Committee on Ethical Standards as to whether or not the amount of a fee for a speech or published work is reasonable or that any proposed activity or conduct would in its opinion constitute a violation of the provisions of the New Jersey Conflicts of Interest Law or this code. Advisory opinions of the joint committee shall not be made public, except when the joint committee by the vote of three-fourths of all of its members directs that the same be made public or upon the request of the member seeking the advisory opinion. Public advisory opinions shall not disclose the name of any member of the Legislature unless the joint committee in directing that the same be made public so directs. All advisory opinions shall remain on file for 5 years from the date of issuance. (C. 52:13D-22 (g) and 52:13D-24).

2:14. a. Within 60 days of the adoption of this code and, thereafter, no later than May 15 of each year, each member of the Senate and General Assembly shall file with the Joint Legislative Committee on Ethical Standards or any successor thereto a financial disclosure statement, on a form to be prescribed by the Joint Legislative Committee on Ethical Standards or its successor, with respect to the member's, his spouse's and minor children's sources of income, received from sources other than the State, during the preceding calendar year. Without disclosing the amounts of income, reimbursements and gifts, the statement shall include an enumeration of:

(1) Each of the following categories of earned income totalling more than $1,000.00: salaries, bonuses, royalties, fees, commissions, and profit sharing paid to the member or his spouse as an officer, employee, partner or consultant of a named corporation, professional association, partnership or sole proprietorship;

(2) Each of the following categories of unearned income totalling more than $1,000.00: rents, dividends and other income received by the member, his spouse or minor child from named investments, trusts and estates;

(3) Fees and honorariums totalling more than $100.00 for personal appearances, speeches or writings received by the member or his spouse from named payers;

(4) Reimbursements totalling more than $100.00 for travel, subsistence or facilities provided in kind received by the member, his spouse or minor child from named payers or providers other than the State, any political subdivision thereof, a principal employer, or a nonprofit organization; and

(5) Gifts having a value totalling more than $250.00, other than devises, bequests, interstate estate distributions or principal distributions of trusts or gifts from a spouse or other relative, received by the member, his spouse or minor child from named donors.

b. The failure of a member of the Legislature to file a statement as required by this section shall be reported to the President of the Senate or the Speaker of the General Assembly.

c. The Joint Legislative Committee on Ethical Standards or its successor after review of statements filed pursuant to this section may by advisory opinion determine that in its opinion a particular category of income, reimbursements or gifts gives rise to an appearance of conflict with the member's service as a member of the Legislature.

d. Advisory opinions issued pursuant to subsection c. shall be public records and shall remain on file for 5 years from the date of issuance.

3. OFFICERS AND EMPLOYEES IN THE LEGISLATIVE BRANCH.

3:1. No State officer or employee or special State officer or employee shall accept from any person, directly or indirectly, whether by himself or through his spouse or a member of his family or through any partner or business or professional association, any gift, favor, service, employment or offer of employment or any other thing of value, which he knows or has reason to believe is made or offered to him with the intent to influence him in the performance of his duties as a State officer or employee or special State officer or employee.

This section shall not apply to the acceptance of contributions to the campaign of an announced candidate for any elective public office by a special State officer or employee. (C. 52:13D-14).

3:2. 3:3. No special State officer or employee nor any partnership or firm of which he is a member or any corporation in which he owns or controls an interest, nor any partner, officer or employee of any such partnership, firm or corporation, shall represent, appear for, or negotiate on behalf of, or agree to represent, appear for, or negotiate on behalf of, any person or party other than the State in connection with any cause, proceeding, application or other matter pending before the Legislature or either House thereof or any agency, commission or committee in the Legislative Branch. (C. 52:13D-16a).

3:4. a. The provisions of section 3:2 above shall not prohibit or restrict a State officer or employee from representing himself in negotiations or proceedings concerning his own interest in real property, or prohibit or restrict a partnership or firm with which a State officer or employee is associated or a corporation in which he owns or controls an interest from appearing before a State agency in any cause, proceeding or other matter on its own behalf. (C. 52:13D-16).

3:5. A State officer or employee whose conditions of employment permit him to engage in private law practice is authorized to represent, appear for, or negotiate on behalf of, or agree so to do, any person other than the State in any action, cause, proceeding or application before:

- d. The Department of State in connection with the filing of corporate or other documents;
- e. The Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund Board, solely for the purpose of filing a protective notice of intention. (C. 52:13D-16).

3:6. No State officer or employee or special State officer or employee, subsequent to the termination of his office or employment in any State agency, shall represent, appear for or negotiate on behalf of, or agree to represent, appear for, or negotiate on behalf of, whether by himself or through any partnership, firm or corporation in which he owns or controls an interest or through any partner, officer or employee thereof, any person or party other than the State in connection with any cause, proceeding, application or other matter with respect to which such State officer or employee or special State officer or employee shall have made any investigation, rendered any ruling, given any opinion, or been otherwise substantially and directly involved at any time during the course of his office or employment. (C. 52:13D-17).

3:7. Prior approval of the Joint Legislative Committee on Ethical Standards shall be obtained for a State officer or employee, individually, through a partnership or firm with which he is associated or by a corporation in which he owns or controls an interest, to bid on and to accept awards of contracts let or awarded by a State agency where the dollar value thereof is $25.00 or more.

Where approval is desired to bid on and, if successful, to accept and undertake contracts to be awarded by a State agency after public notice and competitive bidding or to negotiate, accept and execute contracts of the types enumerated in P.L. 1954, c. 48, s. 5 (C. 52:34-10) awarded without advertising with the approval of the State Treasurer or contracts of insurance to be entered into pursuant to P.L. 1944, c. 112, s. 10 (C. 52:27B-62), an application to, and approval by, the joint committee may be made for a period not in excess of one legislative year.

Upon the award of a contract by a State agency to a State officer or employee, his partnership or firm or corporation described in this section he shall file with the joint committee a notice of the award, the name of the State agency involved and the dollar amount of the contract. Any amendment or change order to any such contract involving a change in the dollar amount involved shall likewise be reported to the joint committee. (C. 52:13D-19).

3:8. A State officer or employee or special State officer or employee shall not act as an agent of the Legislature, either House thereof or agency in the legislative branch in connection with the transaction of any business with himself or with a corporation, company, association or firm in which he owns or controls an interest. (C. 52:13D-20).

3:9. Any State officer or employee whose conditions of employment so permit and who engages in the conduct or practice of a particular business, profession, trade or occupation which is subject to licensing or regulation by a particular State agency shall file a notice that he is the holder of a particular license or is engaged in such activity with the Joint Legislative Committee on Ethical Standards. A State officer or employee whose conditions of employment authorize him to engage in private law practice shall so report to the joint committee. Renewal of licenses need not be reported. (C. 52:13D-23 (e) (2)).

3:10. a. No State officer or employee, nor any member of his immediate family, nor any special State officer or employee, or any partnership, firm or corporation with which he is associated or in which he holds an interest, shall represent, appear for, or negotiate on behalf of the holder of, or an applicant for, a casino license or any holding or intermediary company with respect thereto, as the same are defined in the Casino Control Act.

c. No State officer or employee or special State officer or employee, or any firm with which he is associated, shall appear or practice in any capacity representing any person, firm, corporation or association before the Casino Control Commission or the division of Gaming Enforcement.

3:11. No State officer or employee or special State officer or employee shall solicit, receive or agree to receive, whether directly or indirectly, any compensation, reward, employment, gift or other thing of value from any source other than the State of New Jersey, for any service, advice, assistance or other matter related to his official duties, except reasonable fees for speeches or published works on matters within his official duties and except, in connection therewith, reimbursement of actual expenditures for travel and reasonable subsistence for which no payment or reimbursement is made by the State of New Jersey. This section shall not apply to the solicitation or acceptance of contributions to the campaign of an announced candidate for elective public office by a special State officer or employee; provided, the special State officer or employee has no knowledge or reason to believe that the contribution is solicited, offered or accepted with the intent to influence the special State officer or employee or the candidate to whose campaign it is offered or made in the performance of his public duties and responsibilities.

3:12. No State officer or employee or special State officer or employee shall accept any complimentary service, discount, or credit from any casino applicant or licensee which he knows or has reason to know is other than such service, discount, or credit that is offered to the general public in like circumstance.

(C. 52:13D-25).

3:14. 3:15. Any State officer or employee or special State officer or employee may request and obtain an advisory opinion of the Joint Legislative Committee on Ethical Standards as to whether or not the amount of any fee for a speech or published work is reasonable or any proposed activity or conduct would in its opinion constitute a violation of the provisions of the New Jersey Conflicts of Interest Law or this code.

Advisory opinions of the joint committee shall not be made public, except when the joint committee by the vote of three-fourths of all of its members directs that the same be made public or upon the request of the officer or employee seeking the advisory opinion. Public advisory opinions shall not disclose the name of any State officer or employee or special State officer or employee unless the joint committee in directing that the same be made public so directs. All advisory opinions shall remain on file for 5 years from the date of issuance. (C. 52:13D-22 (g) and 52:13D-24).

4:4. All notices or statements to be filed with the Joint Legislative Committee on Ethical Standards shall be public records. The EXECUTIVE

This section of the Manual contains entries relating to the office of the governor. It contains the salaries but not the biographies of the cabinet officers, which appear, more appropriately, with their departments. Entries in this section, in order, deal with:

- Governor's Powers and Duties
- Drumthwacket, the Executive Mansion
- Governor McGreevey's Biography and Picture
- Governor's Staff Biographies
- Cabinet and Staff Members' Salaries
- Chronological List of Governors Since 1624
- Elections of Governors Since 1844
- Former Cabinet Members
- Governor McGreevey's Annual Message

GOVERNOR'S POWERS and DUTIES

New Jersey elects its governor every fourth year in a sequence that began, under the present constitution, in 1949. The governor's four-year term begins at noon on the third Tuesday in the January following election. To be eligible to serve as governor, one must be at least 30 years old, at least 20 years an American citizen, and at least seven years a resident of New Jersey.

The governor's salary is authorized at $175,000; however, Governor McGreevey has elected to receive a salary of $157,000. The governor also has a $75,000 allowance for entertaining and other expenses, for which accounting is not required.

In addition to the salary, the governor has the use of Drumthwacket, the executive mansion at Princeton, and the summer home at Island Beach; the use of state automobiles; and the service of State Police personnel who are assigned to provide protection and transportation for the governor and his or her family.

In the oath of office, the governor says "I (repeating his or her name), do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of New Jersey and that I will faithfully, impartially, and justly perform the duties of the governor of the State of New Jersey to the best of my ability, so help me, God."

The governor's role, narrow and limited under both the 1776 and 1844 Constitutions, was greatly enlarged by the Constitution of 1947. It strengthened the veto power by requiring a two-thirds vote in each house, rather than simple majorities, to override the veto. The new constitution also gave the governor vast appointive powers formerly reserved to the Legislature; and in place of a single three-year term it gave a prospective longevity of eight years, through a four-year term and re-election provision. The governor must retire after two consecutive terms, but may run for the office again after the expiration of four years. It is often said that the governor of New Jersey is among the nation's most powerful civil officials.

The governor has the power, pending an election, to fill any vacancy from New Jersey that may occur in the United States Senate. The governor may grant pardons and reprieves in all cases other than impeachment and treason, and may suspend and remit fines and forfeitures. The State Parole Board aids and advises the governor in the exercise of executive clemency.

Through veto power over the minutes of their meetings, the governor has a limited control over certain semi-autonomous agencies such as the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, and the New Jersey Turnpike, Highway, and South Jersey Transportation Authorities. The governor is commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces of the State, and is presiding officer or a member of many boards and agencies, such as the State House Commission and the Board of State Canvassers.

The State Constitution requires the governor to deliver a message on “the condition of the State” at the opening of each legislative session. In years following the election of a governor, it is the outgoing governor who delivers the annual message; a week later the incoming governor is sworn and delivers an inaugural address. A governor does not deliver an annual message until he or she has been in office almost a full year.

The governor may call the Legislature, or the Senate alone, into special session whenever deeming it in the public interest.

The governor annually receives and reviews budget requests from the cabinet officers, and then prepares a proposed budget and presents it to the Legislature in January or February. The budget does not become law until the Legislature has enacted it as an appropriations bill, and the governor has signed it. It covers the fiscal year that begins July 1.

Subject to the advice and consent of the Senate, the governor appoints all the judges of the state courts, the department heads of state government, the members of the different intra-state or bi-state authorities, and others. The governor also makes a number of appointments that are not subject to Senate confirmation.

The governor's veto over legislation may be either outright or conditional, the latter being the case where the governor suggests specific changes, and agrees to sign the bill if the Legislature complies. The governor is also empowered to veto specific items in an appropriations bill. The rest of the bill becomes law when he or she signs it.

The governor issues proclamations and performs a wide range of other ceremonial functions. In many matters the governor provides political party leadership, although the state chairman is the chief party officer.

The Extra Early Eureka, a variety of potato, was first grown by George R. Pedrick in New Jersey in 1895.

“These investments in jobs, in education, and in health care for our citizens reflect the priorities of our government. They are all things that will build a better state and will keep New Jersey moving on the right track.” (Governor's Annual Budget Message, February 24, 2004)

GOVERNOR JAMES E. MCGREEVEY

James E. McGreevey was elected the 51st governor of New Jersey Nov. 6, 2001, and took the oath of office Jan. 15, 2002. His term runs until noon on Jan. 17, 2006.

In his first two years as chief executive, the governor closed multi-billion dollar deficits in the State's budget without raising sales or income taxes. Among the measures he employed was to eliminate corporate tax loopholes that allowed 30 of the state's largest companies to pay only $200 a year in taxes.

In 2002, Governor McGreevey launched a four-year literacy program to put reading coaches in elementary schools to work with teachers, parents and school administrators to improve reading levels in classrooms. By the end of 2003, the program had placed 60 coaches in nearly 160 schools. He also created a book club to encourage students to read, and is managing an $8.6 billion school construction project that will improve and expand educational facilities statewide over the next ten years.

Governor McGreevey has dedicated $56 million in new funding over two years for cancer prevention, treatment and research, including support to the Cancer Institute of New Jersey. Additional funds were also given to the Department of Health and Senior Services and the New Jersey State Commission on Cancer Research to improve cancer screening and incidence investigation.

The governor created the Office of Counter-Terrorism to coordinate the State's counter-terrorism and preparedness efforts. He signed anti-terrorism legislation and established new bioterrorism protocols in cooperation with local health departments, hospitals, laboratories and pharmaceutical companies.

In 2003, the governor signed legislation allowing stem cell research, regulating telemarketers and outlawing predatory mortgage lending practices. He created an Office of the Child Advocate to monitor protective and social services and, as a cost-savings measure, merged the New Jersey Highway Authority with the New Jersey Turnpike Authority. He increased penalties for those convicted of identity theft and signed auto insurance reform legislation. He enacted a law requiring a 300-foot buffer between development projects and water supplies.

Prior to being elected governor, Mr. McGreevey served as mayor of Woodbridge, the state's sixth largest municipality, since 1992. He also served one term in the State Senate, from 1994 to 1998, and one term in the General Assembly, from 1990 to 1992.

While in the legislature, he sponsored laws establishing a state budget cap, enacting strict ethical standards for public officials and creating a permanent New Jersey Commission on Holocaust Education. He was a key sponsor of the Pollution Prevention Act, and he also sponsored numerous health care reform bills including one that required insurers to reimburse policy holders for mammograms.

As Woodbridge mayor, Mr. McGreevey started a public-private partnership that brought more than 6,000 new jobs and millions in new investment into the township. Another such partnership, Woodbridge Tech 2000, brought computers into local classrooms and connected senior citizens to the Internet. He also stabilized property taxes and led efforts to revitalize the municipality's downtown business district.

Governor McGreevey was born Aug. 6, 1957, at Margaret Hague Hospital in Jersey City. He was raised in Carteret. His father was a Marine Corps drill instructor and his mother a nurse.

He graduated from St. Joseph's High School in Metuchen in 1975, and received his B.A. from Columbia University in 1978. He graduated from Georgetown University with a law degree and was admitted to the bar in 1981. He also holds a master's degree from Harvard University.

Mr. McGreevey was an assistant Middlesex County prosecutor, and, in 1983 and 1984, served as an attorney and policy counsel for the Assembly Democratic Office. He was executive director of the New Jersey State Parole Board in 1985 and 1986. He also served in a management position with Merck and Company.

The governor has held chairmanships in a number of civic organizations including the National Conference of Christians and Jews, Middlesex County Cultural and Heritage Commission, and the Central Jersey Chapter of the American Red Cross. He is a past president of the Diocese of Metuchen Catholic Lawyers Guild.

President Clinton appointed Mr. McGreevey to the National Cancer Advisory Board in 1998. He has also served as chairman of the United States Conference of Mayors' Subcommittee on Health Insurance and as vice president of the New Jersey Conference of Mayors.

Governor McGreevey married the former Dina Matos on Oct. 7, 2000. Their daughter, Jacqueline Matos, was born Dec. 7, 2001. The governor also has a daughter from a previous marriage, Morag Veronica, born Oct. 27, 1992.

DRUMTHWACKET

The Executive Mansion 354 Stockton Street (Route 206), Princeton

Drumthwacket was designated New Jersey's executive mansion and was extensively renovated in the early 1980s. It has since served as the primary residence of Governor and Mrs. James J. Florio, Gov. James E. McGreevey and his family, and part-time home of Gov. Christine Todd Whitman's family, who maintained their primary residence in Oldwick. During his administration, Gov. Thomas H. Kean's family used Drumthwacket for entertaining, but resided in Livingston. Likewise, Acting Gov. Donald T. DiFrancesco's family resided in Scotch Plains and used the mansion for meetings and receptions.

From 1957 to 1981 the official governor's residence was Morven, the gracious old Stockton family home which is also on Route 206, Princeton, less than a mile north of Drumthwacket.

William Olden bought the property on which Drumthwacket stands in a deed dated Feb. 15, 1696. His grandson, Thomas Olden, built the small house that remains at the front of the property. In that house, in 1799, was born Charles S. Olden.

Charles S. Olden built the center section of the mansion, probably in 1833. The lines of that part of the house are unchanged. The roof is hipped, and broken by dormer windows. It is believed the kitchen was in a separate building that stood to the west of the house.

Charles S. Olden, who was governor from 1860 to 1863, died in 1876; his wife, Phoebe, survived him by 16 years. After her death the property was sold, in 1893, to Moses Taylor Pyne. He had attended Princeton University and married Margaretta Stockton. The deed conveying the property uses the name "Drumthwacket"—said to be of Celtic origin, meaning "wooded hill"—for the first time.

Pyne put up the two-story wings to the east and west. In the central part of the mansion he replaced the stairway, and installed the Palladian window on the landing. He did extensive landscaping, planned and directed by Daniel W. Langton. The most ambitious work was the series of terraces, lawns, and walks in the rear of the house.

Pyne died in 1921; Mrs. Pyne in 1941, after which the property was sold. Mr. and Mrs. Abram Spanel owned the property and made some interior changes before selling it to the state in 1967.

The New Jersey Historical Society took the lead in the program to restore and furnish Drumthwacket in the early 1980s, and collected private subscriptions of more than $1,700,000 for the work.

VOTING for GOVERNOR SINCE 1844

Under the 1776 Constitution, the governor was elected annually by the Legislature. Popular election of governors began with the 1844 Constitution, which set the term at three years. The 1947 Constitution extended it to four years.

Of the 49 contests from 1844 through 2001, 22 Democrats were elected or re-elected 28 times; 13 Republicans won 17 elections. There were two Opposition party winners, and one Whig. The longest series of consecutive party victories were the nine Democratic successes from 1868 to 1892.

In the listings that follow, political parties are abbreviated as: Communist, C; Conservative, Cv; Democrat, D; Greenback, G; Libertarian, L; National Prohibition, NP; New Jersey Conservative, NJC; Opposition (a coalition of American, Know-Nothing, Republican, and Whig elements), O; Peoples, P; Prohibition, Pr; Republican, R; Socialist, S; Socialist Labor, SL; Socialist Workers, SW; Whig, W; Workers, Wk. Party status in this listing is accorded to those which won an election or were represented by a candidate in at least three campaigns. Other groups, although they may have aligned themselves with a popular national leader or cause, are not recognized as parties, and their nominees are listed, with non-affiliated candidates, as: Independent, I.

SECOND ANNUAL MESSAGE

Governor McGreevey delivered his Second Annual Message to the First Session of the 211th Legislature on Jan. 13, 2004, the day of its organization. The session was held in the General Assembly Chambers in Trenton.

The governor spoke for about 48 minutes. An abridged version of the text he used appears below. The bold-faced headings were inserted by the Manual editors as reference aids for the reader.

For two years we have worked to re-establish that the three most important things in New Jersey are a clean environment, a strong economy, and a quality education for our children. We have dedicated ourselves to the people who get up early every day, work hard, pay their bills, and play by the rules. We made the difficult decisions that others avoided and brought change to a government that had lost its focus.

We forced giant corporations to pay their fair share in taxes and closed one billion dollars in corporate tax loopholes rather than ask hard-pressed families to dig deeper into their pockets. We took on the gun lobby to make sure New Jersey's children are safer with the nation's first child-proof handgun law. We stood up to developers with the nation's toughest standards to protect our drinking water and our open space. We punished polluters with tougher enforcement and collected more from polluters in the last two years than the previous administration did in all eight. We answered the prayers of hope with a landmark law to use stem cell research to find new cures for age-old afflictions.

We balanced two budgets, closed billions in deficits, held the line on state spending, and restored fiscal responsibility all without raising the sales or income tax. We made New Jersey a leader in homeland security and bioterrorism protections. We stood up for good drivers, we cracked down on fraud, and we brought more choices to New Jersey motorists. We honored the dignity of committed relationships with our legislation to recognize domestic partners. We said "yes" to parents who want dinner conversations with their children instead of telemarketers, and we said "no" to discrimination when we made New Jersey the first state to make racial profiling a crime. We stood up for consumers by forcing cable companies to put your time ahead of theirs. And when the power went out over the fourth of July, we held JCP&L accountable, and for the first time, forced a utility to compensate small businesses and families.

Our state is better because every day of the last two years we have taken on the right fights. We dedicated over half of the state budget to property tax relief and we provided more aid to local school districts than ever in the history of our state. We ended decades of state subsidies for professional sports franchises at the Meadowlands. We cut spending on state government and held overall spending below the rate of inflation for two years in a row, a feat that hasn't been accomplished in nearly fifteen years.

So on this January afternoon, I can say to you that the state of our state is strong, and New Jersey is setting a standard for other states to follow.

Stopping Sprawl and Preserving Our Future

No state rivals our performance on standing up to polluters and protecting the water we drink and the air we breathe. For the first time in state history, we shut down a Pennsylvania power plant that was polluting our air. We stood up to the administration in Washington when they tried to appease their coal industry friends with new giveaways that threatened to pollute the air New Jersey families breathe. As long as the federal government continues to put the interests of polluters ahead of the health of New Jersey residents, we will be in court every single day until Washington changes its priorities or we change it for them.

Last year in this chamber, I came before you and said there was no single greater threat to our quality of life than the unrestrained development that is driving up property taxes, crowding our schools, and threatening our water supply. We didn't reverse decades of bad decisions overnight, but we did more in two years to stop sprawl than was done in the entire decade before.

We said we were going to preserve 20,000 acres of farmland, a milestone that had never been achieved in New Jersey history, and next year we are going to do it again. We preserved 18,000 acres in the Highlands, and working with our task force, local communities, and the Legislature, we are going to take bold steps to preserve that area which supplies drinking water to half of New Jersey's families. We made New Jersey the first state in the nation to require a 300-foot buffer between any development and a water supply. We put 300,000 acres of land, 7,865 acres of reservoirs, 96 rivers and lakes -- the drinking water for 3.5 million people -- off-limits to developers.

This year we will build on these successes by protecting more waterways and passing transfer development rights legislation so towns can better preserve their futures. I will continue to use every tool available to me as Governor to preserve the communities that we love from the excesses of over-development. I invite this new Legislature to join me, but I will continue alone if necessary. As we speak, the New Jersey Builder's Association is in court, attempting to repeal the very protections that keep our drinking water clean.

So let me be clear: they must not prevail in court, they must not prevail in the Legislature, and they will not prevail in this state as long as I am Governor. These drinking water protections must stand.

Embracing New Priorities in Education

Our children's reading and math scores are among the highest in the nation, but we know we can and must do more to better prepare our students. Last year in this Chamber, I said we must be ready to break with past policies and embrace new priorities, particularly early childhood literacy. Through our reading coaches program, there are now sixty coaches in 158 schools that are helping 50,000 children become better readers. We are building and fixing over 1,300 schools across New Jersey. We are fighting for the children in our classrooms by raising the quality of teaching across the state. We are partnering with the business community to create new incentives for national certification for teachers. We are making sure that middle school teachers are proficient in the subjects they teach. We are making technology part of everyday learning, and we're making our school children safer with a law to stop bullying.

Good News for Drivers

Six months ago, we enacted the most comprehensive auto insurance reform package in decades. We are replacing years of failed policies with more competition, more consumer protection, and a commitment that good drivers should not pay for bad drivers. Last year, good drivers waited months to get a new policy. Today, 70% of policies are being issued within one week of a request.

For the first time in nearly a decade, a new auto insurance company, Mercury General, has opened for business. Two companies, State Farm and USAA, voluntarily reduced their rates for over 600,000 drivers. For the first time in twenty-five years, Allstate expanded their operations. In the last six months, five hundred new auto insurance agents have been added throughout the industry in New Jersey. Companies are soliciting new business and actually competing for customers. That's good news for every driver.

We held companies accountable and made them provide three easy-to-read coverage options so consumers can choose what's right for them. We made auto insurance fraud a serious crime; we doubled the number of indictments and we led the nation in the crackdown on fraud.

Drivers are realizing the promise of EZ Pass and taxpayers are saving millions through the merger of the Turnpike and the Garden State Parkway. DMV was tantamount to a four-letter word in New Jersey but no one wanted to risk the political capital to try and fix it. With only a single vote from across the aisle, we did the right thing for New Jersey drivers and fixed an agency that was an embarrassment to this state.

We know that drivers have better things to do with their time than wait in line. So now you can go online and renew your registration, change your address, or schedule a driving test without leaving your home. We are delivering on our promise to give New Jersey a modern, secure driver's license and on January 24th, for the first time in nearly fifteen years, motor vehicle offices will be open on Saturdays.

Creating a Better-Trained Workforce

That is our record: two years of the right fights, two years of standing up for working men and women. But there is much more to do. We enter these next two years a stronger state, with a clear purpose and a common vision to ease the burden on working men and women.

Our economy is as strong as any in the nation and the productivity and skills of our workers are second to none. We have to keep it that way against a tide of increasing global competition.

There is no single more important thing we can do for our economy than make sure our workers and businesses have the skills they need to compete. We have to make sure that the high school graduate, the single mother, the laid-off worker all have access to some form of advanced training. We have to make sure that the small business that needs to increase its productivity has access to the resources to do it. We have to make sure our high schools, our system of higher education, the private sector and government work together to create a better-trained workforce.

The current system is too fragmented and disconnected. There are 27 programs in three departments. We need one department, with one mission that can deliver a seamless web of services to employees and employers.

Today I have presented a plan to the Legislature to restructure workforce development in New Jersey through a single department, the new Department of Labor and Workforce Development. This new department will have a single task. Whether someone is unemployed or underemployed, a high school graduate or a Ph.D., we are going to provide the skills they need and our economy demands.

Investing in Research and Small Business

To move to the next level, the research in our public universities must become a catalyst for the private sector. I have asked each of the public research universities to present a plan that eliminates the institutional barriers that prevent the enhanced research and teaching opportunities that our state desperately needs.

Today, I am proposing the creation of three innovation zones that will build industry clusters around our public research universities. These initiatives will use tax credits and financial incentives to facilitate collaboration and the transfer of innovative discoveries from the laboratory to the marketplace.

More than 50% of all jobs come from small businesses. They are the unsung economic workhorses of New Jersey and they need our support to compete. Most small business owners live the job: they don't have time to conduct a lengthy hiring search of find the government agency responsible for the advice, permit, or financing they need. But they still need help and we are going to provide it with new business resource centers that will serve every county.

To meet their needs for skilled labor, we are reserving 20% of all workforce-training grants for small businesses and, to keep small manufacturers competitive, we are going to provide additional incentives to modernize their plants and equipment.

Investments in people, investments in research, investments in small business: that is how our New Jobs for New Jersey initiative will set the national standard for economic excellence.

The Challenge of Finding a Cure for the Incurable

Two weeks ago I signed the legislation to make New Jersey one of only two states to allow stem cell research. With this compassionate and ethical act, we gave hope to millions of families that cures or treatments can be found. It may be the most important legislation I ever sign. But I am not going to settle for merely signing this legislation; that isn't going to cure anyone's diabetes or Parkinson's. Today, I challenge every biomedical and every pharmaceutical company in America to come to New Jersey, use our incentive grants, our innovation zones, our research universities: reward our faith, find a cure for the incurable.

We brought the expertise of New Jersey's only federally designated cancer center to South Jersey, and our investments have brought the best care, the latest treatments, and the most sophisticated clinical trials to New Jersey patients. But in my visits at the Cancer Institute, I have met too many women with breast cancer and heard of too many insurance company policies that don't cover a mammogram unless a woman is forty years old.

This is wrong. A woman's doctor and her medical history should make the determination about whether or not to have an annual mammogram, not some bureaucratic insurance guideline. Today, I ask this Legislature to stand up for the women of New Jersey and require insurance companies to cover mammograms for those under forty with a family history of breast cancer and a recommendation from her doctor.

Fighting a Silent Killer: Pollution

Pollution is a silent killer. This government has to step forward with a comprehensive plan to protect families from a killer they can neither see nor stop.

I believe the scientists who have told me that high levels of mercury are dangerous to pregnant women and the development of young children. I believe the researchers who report that excessive levels of arsenic in our drinking water increase the risk of cancer. I believe it should be easier, not harder, to prosecute polluters and those who ruin our environment and harm the health of our families should be given harsher penalties.

We have to stand up to the federal government and set the nation's strictest limits on the arsenic in drinking water and the mercury in air.

The soot and exhaust from diesel trucks and buses is contributing to high rates of asthma, premature deaths, and too many emergency room visits. It is a threat to the health of our children. Children can't protect themselves from soot, so that is why I am asking this Legislature to enact new laws to reduce the impact of diesel emissions on New Jersey air quality.

I want New Jersey to send a message to the nation that, in our state, the health of our families comes first. So today, I am setting a new goal to reduce soot and smog air pollution by 20% in the next decade. By meeting these tougher standards, we will prevent a thousand premature deaths, 140,000 asthma attacks, and 13,000 emergency room visits every year.

Increasing Participation in After-School Activities

I believe that raising our children is the most important responsibility we have, but it is getting harder and harder for working parents to balance responsibilities to their children with their need to work. Everyday, working parents, single mothers and fathers struggle to choose between attending a teacher conference and taking time off from work. We can set a national example and be the first state to provide sixteen hours of "kids time" so parents no longer have to make that choice.

Every afternoon, there are too many children on their own, too many sitting alone in front of the television, in front of a video game, in the mall, or on the street finding trouble. Let's keep our schools open from three to six so children can have more time for learning and less time for trouble. Let's give hard-pressed mothers and fathers the peace of mind that when they are at work, their children are in a safe and productive environment.

Today, I am proposing a new partnership among the State, the private sector, and the many dedicated education and community providers, a partnership that will work together to fund and operate a system of after-school programs across the state. "New Jersey After 3" will be the first state-sponsored, non-profit corporation anywhere in America to take on the after school challenge. I will need this Legislature's help, but I am going to challenge us to have 20,000 children enrolled in after-school activities in the next school year.

Spending Dollars Where it Matters Most—in the Classroom

Two months ago, I said it was time for this state to have an honest discussion about how we govern and deliver services. I have been having that discussion in living rooms, diners, AARP senior citizen forums, and even over the Internet. What I learned may shock you: nobody wanted to cut services, but everybody wanted to cut taxes.

That is what makes this discussion so difficult, but we have to start taking action now, in this session of the Legislature. The status quo on school and local government property taxes cannot continue. We spend more than $18 billion dollars a year on education, more than almost any other state. But we don't spend it efficiently because we don't spend it where it matters—in the classroom.

I think it's outrageous that we have 23 school bureaucracies that don't have a single school. Do we really need 172 school districts with only one school building? We must ensure that our education dollars are used for the right reasons: to educate New Jersey's students.

I have directed Education Commissioner Librera to take five immediate steps. First, develop a plan to eliminate the 23 school district bureaucracies that oversee nothing but their own existence. Second, require the 172 one-building school districts to find ways to consolidate services. Third, establish limits on administrative and non-instructional costs and a system of rewards for districts that meet these standards and sanctions for those that do not. Every budgeted dollar that exceeds those limits will either go back to the classroom or go back to the taxpayer. Fourth, provide performance grants to school districts that demonstrate excellence in student achievement while maintaining low administrative costs. Fifth, detail additional measures to require towns, school districts, and county governments to deliver services and purchase products together.

These steps will begin to change a culture that has spawned too much inefficient government and too much unnecessary spending. But this is the beginning, not the end of this discussion and there are more steps and initiatives that we must take over the next several months to bring change to this broken system. There is an incredible amount of expertise in this room and we will need it all. Reforming our system of local and school property taxes is a process that must be bipartisan, and I look forward to working with this Legislature, and all of its leaders, to bring real change. But there is something we can do right now for property taxpayers; we can pass impact fee property tax relief legislation. It is time for developers and not local property taxpayers to pay for the cost of new development. Developers make the profit and communities pay the costs. If that doesn't convince you the system is broken, then I do not know what will. So I ask you again: send me legislation that puts the cost of new development where it belongs, and when you do, I will sign it.

Pursuing a Common Vision for New Jersey

Some of the battles we have fought over the past two years have been high profile; many have not. But whether large or small, every one of them has made life a little better, a little easier for middle class New Jersey.

I am humbled by what we have accomplished, but by no means satisfied. This is our state; this is our community. When we join in common purpose to pursue a common vision, we will build a better state, a better New Jersey. We are strong today and we will be even stronger tomorrow. To paraphrase Bruce Springsteen, the sun is rising in a land of hope and dreams. Now, let's get to work.

Samuel A. Ward was one of the founders of the Orpheus Club of Newark. He is best remembered for composing the music for "America the Beautiful."

Ms. Poritz, a former college English instructor, began her legal career in the Department of Law and Public Safety in 1976 as a summer law clerk. She received her law degree from the University of Pennsylvania Law School in 1977, and in December of that year became a deputy attorney general, assigned to the Environmental Protection Section. Ms. Poritz returned to government in 1994 as Governor Whitman's first attorney general. In that post, Ms. Poritz played a leadership role in several of the administration's most important legislative initiatives, including a 1995 law reforming the juvenile justice system. She personally argued the constitutionality of landmark sex-offender legislation before the New Jersey Supreme Court, which affirmed the measure in July, 1995.

HISTORY of DEPARTMENTS

Under the State Constitution, all executive and administrative offices of the state government are allocated by law among not more than 20 principal departments. The limit was reached in 1981, but by the end of 1998 the number of departments had been reduced to 15. One department, Energy, was abolished effective in 1988; two departments, Higher Education and the Public Advocate, were abolished in 1994; the departments of Banking and Insurance were recombined in 1996, and the Department of Commerce and Economic Development was replaced in 1998 by a Commerce and Economic Growth Commission. Restoration of the Department of the Public Advocate was pending at the end of 2003.

Reorganizing the government after adoption of the Constitution of 1947, the Legislature in 1948 created 13 departments: Agriculture, Banking and Insurance, Civil Service, Conservation and Economic Development, Defense, Health, Institutions and Agencies, Labor and Industry, Law and Public Safety, Public Utilities, State, State Highway, and Treasury.

A Department of Education was added in 1950, and a Department of Community Affairs in 1966. In 1967, higher education functions were taken from the Department of Education and placed in a new Department of Higher Education. In 1970, Banking and Insurance became separate departments. A Department of the Public Advocate was created in 1974. The Department of Institutions and Agencies became the Department of Human Services in 1976, and its correctional functions were transferred to a new Department of Corrections. Commerce and Economic Development became the 20th department in 1981 when it was created from the Department of Labor and Industry, which was continued as the Department of Labor.

In other changes, the State Highway Department was transformed into the Department of Transportation in 1966, the Department of Conservation and Economic Development became the Department of Environmental Protection in 1970, the Department of Public Utilities was reorganized as the Department of Energy in 1977, the Department of Civil Service was renamed the Department of Personnel in 1986, the Department of Defense became the Department of Veterans' Affairs and Defense in 1987 and the Department of Military and Veterans' Affairs in 1988, and the Department of Health became Health and Senior Services in 1996.

Upon abolishment of the Department of Energy, major energy functions were transferred to the Department of Commerce and Economic Development, which was renamed Commerce, Energy and Economic Development. The Board of Public Utilities (originally the Board of Public Utility Commissioners) was allocated to the Department of the Treasury. A 1991 reorganization plan gave energy responsibilities to the Department of Environmental Protection, which became Environmental Protection and Energy, with Commerce and Economic Development resuming its original name. Under the plan, the Board of Public Utilities was renamed the Board of Regulatory Commissioners and moved to the Environmental Protection and Energy department. A second plan, approved in 1994, changed the board's name back to the Board of Public Utilities, consolidated energy functions under its jurisdiction, and returned the board to Treasury, while the Department of Environmental Protection resumed its former name.

Abolishment of the Department of Higher Education was accomplished under legislation which created a Commission on Higher Education and placed the commission and other major higher education functions within the Department of State. The act abolishing the Department of the Public Advocate retained the Office of the Public Defender, which was transferred from the Department of State to the Department of the Treasury in 1998.

Each department is headed by a single executive; four also have boards with policy-making and oversight responsibilities. Department heads and board members are appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate, except for the Secretary of Agriculture, who is chosen by the Board of Agriculture with the approval of the Governor. Department heads continue in office until successors are named and qualified, with the exception of the Attorney General and the Secretary of State, who are appointed to serve during the term of the Governor.

DOMESTIC SECURITY PREPAREDNESS TASK FORCE

(Chapter 246, Laws of 2001)

The task force was created under the New Jersey Domestic Security Preparedness Act signed into law on Oct. 4, 2001, in the wake of the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon. It was placed in, but not of, the Department of Law and Public Safety to provide statewide coordination and supervision of all activities related to domestic preparedness.

Members—Superintendent of State Police, Attorney General, Adjutant General, Commissioner of Transportation, Commissioner of Health and Senior Services, and Coordinator of Office of Recovery and Victim Assistance, ex officio, and three public members, including one with expertise in chemical or biological agents, appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate for terms of three years after initial staggered terms. The act provided that the Governor shall appoint a chairperson; a public member named to that position would be accorded cabinet status. Ronald Riccio, Little Silver, and Lydia Lee Sohn, Ph.D., Princeton, have been appointed to the task force.

The act empowered the task force to appoint professional and other personnel as confidential employees in the unclassified service of the state civil service. It established a Domestic Security Preparedness Planning Group in the Department of Law and Public Safety to assist the task force, and a Weapons of Mass Destruction Advisory Committee within the group. It authorized the task force to establish an Infrastructure Advisory Committee consisting of representatives of private industry.

The task force was directed to report annually to the Legislature, with the information deemed confidential. The act provided for a review process, beginning the 65th month after enactment, to determine if the task force shall continue. The act appropriated $8.95 million to the Division of State Police and its Office of Emergency Management and to the departments of Military and Veterans' Affairs and Health and Senior Services to fund programs and services pursuant to the act.

Chapter 18, Laws of 2002, appropriated $27.2 million in anticipated federal funds to the Department of Health and Senior Services for bioterrorism preparedness. The 2003-04 state budget appropriated $1.8 million to the department for domestic security preparedness. The budget also anticipated $8.3 million in federal funds for emergency preparedness for bioterrorism and $15 million in federal funds for training programs. Chapter 26, Laws of 2002, the "September 11th, 2001 Anti-Terrorism Act," revised various parts of the statutory law with respect to the crime of terrorism.

The Higher Education Restructuring Act of 1994 created the New Jersey Commission on Higher Education to coordinate and plan for the state's system of higher education and to serve as its principal advocate. The system includes both public and independent institutions and enrolls approximately 361,000 full- and part-time credit-seeking students statewide. The 31 public colleges and universities are Rutgers, The State University; the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey; the New Jersey Institute Technology; nine state colleges and universities, and 19 county community colleges. The 26 independent institutions consist of 14 senior colleges and universities with a public mission, which receive state operating aid; eight religious institutions, and four degree-granting proprietary schools.

The commission works closely with the New Jersey Presidents' Council, also created by the restructuring act, to ensure coordination of the system. The Presidents' Council is an advisory body composed of the presidents of the 45 institutions that receive direct state funding, and five presidents representing the 12 other degree-granting institutions licensed by the commission. The commission also includes the Educational Opportunity Fund and its board of directors.

The commission, which has 17 state and two federal staff positions, is placed in the Department of State, but independent of its supervision or control. The commission's 2003-04 state appropriation totaled $42.4 million, of which $44.1 million funded grant programs, including $35.1 million for the Educational Opportunity Fund. The state budget act also provided $819.7 million for the senior public universities and colleges; $213.3 million for the county community colleges; $22.8 million for independent institutions, and $285.5 million for higher education grants-in-aid, of which $204 million funded student assistance.

In 1999, they approved a $500 million bond act for bridge repair and other transportation investments, and in 2000 they authorized dedicating revenues from the petroleum products gross receipts tax and the sales tax to the trust fund. There are 2,344 miles of state-maintained roadways and 2,454 state bridges. The department employs approximately 3,900 persons and had budget appropriations of $2.6 billion in state and federal funds for fiscal 2003-04, including New Jersey Transit Corporation funding. REVENUE SUMMARY
Fiscal Year Ended June 30, 2003
(Source: Department of the Treasury Report)

This summary encompasses the state's General Fund and four Special Revenue Funds—the Property Tax Relief Fund, the Casino Revenue Fund, the Casino Control Fund, and the Gubernatorial Elections Fund. The amounts do not include federal grants or dedicated revolving funds.

Fiscal Year 2003 revenue collections totalled $23.5 billion, $2.9 billion above fiscal 2002 revenue. Revenue changes in the state's three major taxes were as follows: the Sales Tax decreased by $60.7 million or 1.0 percent; the Gross Income Tax decreased by $101.7 million or 1.5 percent, and the Corporation Business Tax increased by $81.4 billion or 115.6 percent. Major increases in the business tax were mainly attributable to tax restructuring, loophole closures, and one-time accelerations. Overall, fiscal 2003 levels reflected the slowdown of New Jersey's economy.

Collections for the state's three major taxes, as a percentage of Fiscal Year 2003 total receipts, were as follows: the Gross Income Tax represented 28.7 percent; the Sales Tax equaled 25.3 percent, and the Corporation Business Tax represented 10.7 percent. The state's three major taxes represented 64.7 percent of fiscal 2003 total receipts, as compared to 68.1 percent for fiscal 2002.

Fiscal Year 2004 Projections
(Year Ended June 30, 2004)

Fiscal Year 2004 revenue projections were based on estimates of modest economic growth. To a large extent, the future direction of economic recovery nationally and in New Jersey hinges on the assumptions of no further terrorist attacks, supportive monetary and fiscal stimulus, and increasing stable financial markets.

Fiscal Year 2004 revenues were projected to be $24.0 billion, $523.2 million above fiscal 2003 revenue. Projected revenue changes in fiscal 2004 for the state's three major taxes were as follows: the Sales Tax was expected to increase by $228.9 million or 3.9 percent, the Gross Income Tax was expected to increase by $394.7 million or 5.9 percent, and the Corporation Business Tax was expected to decrease by $470.4 million or 18.6 percent. The three major taxes were projected to represent 62.9 percent of total resources.

During Fiscal 2002, the state released $720 million from the Surplus Revenue Fund to offset lower revenue collections. The fund's undesignated balance as of June 30, 2003, was zero. The fund is used to account for revenues reserved for appropriation in the event revenues in the General Fund are estimated to be less than those certified by the Governor. The General Fund is the State's chief operating fund.

TAX DESCRIPTIONS and REVENUES

ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE TAX

The Alcoholic Beverage Tax dates from 1933, after repeal of Prohibition. It is applied to the first sale or delivery to retailers in New Jersey and is based upon the number of gallons sold or otherwise disposed of in the state. The tax is collected from licensed manufacturers, wholesalers and state beverage distributors. Current rates were effective July 1, 1992; except, Chapter 153, Laws of 1997, reduced the rate on hard apple ciders containing between 3.2% and 7% of alcohol from 70 cents to 12 cents per gallon. Sales to organizations of armed forces personnel are exempt; so are sales for medicinal, dental, industrial and other nonbeverage uses.

Rates per Gallon

Liquor, $4.40; Still Wine, Vermouth and Sparkling Wine, 70¢; Beer and Hard Apple Ciders, 12¢.

ATLANTIC CITY AND CAPE MAY COUNTY TAXES AND FEES

The Division of Taxation administers collection of the Atlantic City Casino Parking Fee, the Atlantic City Luxury Sales Tax, the Atlantic City Tourism Promotion Fee and the Cape May County Tourism Sales Tax.

Casino hotels in Atlantic City are required under Chapter 159, Laws of 1993, to impose a minimum charge for use of their parking spaces. Chapter 124, Laws of 2003, increased this parking fee from $2 to $3. The fees collected are placed in a special fund held by the State Treasurer to finance public improvements in the Atlantic City area by the Casino Reinvestment Development Authority. The amount collected in fiscal 2003 was $15.4 million. (The 2003 act also imposed a state tax on casino "complimentaries" at a rate of 4.25% of the value.)

The Atlantic City Luxury Tax applies to the receipts from specified retail sales, including sales of alcoholic beverages for on-premises consumption, cover charges, room rentals, the hiring of rolling chairs, beach chairs and cabanas, and tickets of admission within Atlantic City. The rates are 3% on alcoholic beverages and 9% on other taxable items. Revenues are forwarded to the Sports and Exposition Authority for funding and operating convention facilities. The Tourism Promotion Fee provides revenue to the Atlantic City Convention Center Operating Authority. The rates are $2 per day for each occupied room in casino hotels and $1 per day in other hotels. The fee also applies to "no charge" occupancies. Luxury tax and promotion fee revenues in fiscal 2003 amounted to $29.9 million.

The Tourism Improvement and Development District Act, Chapter 165, Laws of 1992, authorized certain municipalities in Cape May County to collect a 2% tax on tourism-related retail sales or pay a tourism development fee. Businesses in Wildwood, North Wildwood and Wildwood Crest are affected. Revenues for fiscal 2002 amounted to $3.5 million.

CIGARETTE TAX

The Cigarette Tax is collected primarily from licensed distributors who receive cigarettes directly from out-of-state manufacturers. Unless otherwise provided by law, every package of cigarettes must be stamped before being transferred from the original acquirer in New Jersey. The tax is not imposed on other tobacco products.

The tax was imposed in 1948 at a rate of 1 1/2¢ for each 10 cigarettes (3¢ per pack of 20). That rate was increased to 2 1/2¢ in 1956, to 3¢ in 1960, to 3 1/2¢ in 1962, to 4¢ in 1963, to 5 1/2¢ in 1966, to 7¢ in 1968 and to 9 1/2¢ in 1972. A surtax of 5% of the wholesale price was added in 1982 and was increased to 6% in 1983 and to 8% in 1987. The base rate was changed to 2¢ on each cigarette in 1990, and that rate was increased to 4¢ effective Jan. 1, 1998, and to 7 1/2¢ effective July 1, 2002. Chapter 115, Laws of 2003, increased the tax on each cigarette to 10 1/4¢ ($2.05 per pack), effective July 1, 2003.

Exempted are sales to the United States government or its agencies, sales in interstate commerce and sales to the Department of Veterans Affairs for free distribution and consumption by veterans in state hospitals.

Rate of Tax

The rate is 10 1/4¢ per cigarette ($2.05 per pack of 20).

Under Chapter 115, Laws of 2003, effective July 1, 2003, the first $150 million of revenue collected annually from the cigarette tax shall be deposited into the Health Care Subsidy Fund, the next $390 million shall be appropriated for health programs, the next $50 million shall be appropriated to the Economic Development Authority for debt service on school facilities projects for fiscal years 2003 and 2004, and the next $30 million shall be directed to the Department of Health and Senior Services for anti-smoking initiatives, rising to $40 million in fiscal 2005 and to $45 million in fiscal 2006 and thereafter. Revenues for 2002 were at the rate of 80¢ per pack that had been in effect since 1998; revenue for 2003 reflected the increase to $1.50 per pack effective July 1, 2002, and the estimated amount for 2004 reflects the increase to $2.05 effective July 1, 2003.

CORPORATION BUSINESS TAX

The Corporation Business Tax Act, approved in 1945 and amended and supplemented, imposes a franchise tax on domestic corporations for the privilege of existing under New Jersey law, and on foreign corporations for the privilege of having or exercising their corporate charters in the state or doing business, employing or owning capital or property, or maintaining an office in the state. The tax applies to all domestic and foreign corporations having a taxable status unless specifically exempt.

Corporation business taxes in New Jersey date to 1884 when a franchise tax was imposed on all domestic corporations. Chapter 40, Laws of 2002, the Business Tax Reform Act, revised and updated the tax and established filing fees for certain returns. It provided for an alternative minimum assessment based on sales or gross profits at the payor's option.

Rates of Tax

The rate is 9% upon entire net income or the portion allocated to New Jersey. The 2002 reform act increased the minimum tax from $200 to $500 or to $2,000 for members of controlled or affiliated groups of corporations having aggregate annual payrolls of $5 million or more. The rate for corporations with net incomes of $50,000 to $100,000 is 7.5%; the rate is 6.5% for those with nets of $50,000 or less. Subchapter S corporations with net incomes of $100,000 or less are still subject to the minimum tax, but if their nets exceed $100,000 the rate is 1.33%. Professional corporations having more than two licensed professionals are required to pay income tax filing fees of $150 for each licensed professional up to a maximum of $250,000; the same range of fees applies per owner to entities classified as partnerships for federal income tax purposes and having more than two owners.

Disposition of Revenues

Revenues collected from general business corporations are deposited in the State Treasury for general state use. Revenues collected from banking and financial corporations are distributed 25% to counties, 25% to municipalities, and 50% to the state. Article VIII, Section II, of the State Constitution was amended in 1995 to dedicate 4% of Corporation Business Tax revenue to fund hazardous discharge cleanup, underground storage tank improvements, and surface water quality projects. Chapter 40, Laws of 2002, created a restricted reserve fund to be known as the "Corporation Business Tax Excess Revenue Fund."

GROSS INCOME TAX

The Gross Income Tax is a graduated tax levied on gross income earned or received by resident and nonresident individuals, estates and trusts. The tax was enacted July 8, 1976, retroactive to July 1, 1976. It was to expire June 30, 1978; however, it was made permanent under Chapter 299, Laws of 1977, which provided for certain pension exclusions.

The rates now range from 1.4% to 6.37%. The initial rates were 2% of taxable income up to $20,000 plus 2.5% of taxable income over $20,000. Legislation in 1982 increased the rate to 3.5% on amounts in excess of $50,000. A 1985 act allowed residents a deduction or credit for property taxes. A 1990 act provided new rates of from 2% to 7%, established two new filing statuses (head of household and surviving spouse), and increased the exemption for dependents from $1,000 to $1,500. The act also instituted a new homestead rebate program.

Legislation in 1994 reduced the tax rates by 5% for the 1994 tax year, raised the minimum income exemption from $3,000 to $7,500 ($3,750 for married persons filing separately), and further reduced the rates as of the 1995 tax year. Chapter 165, Laws of 1995, provided another rate reduction as of the 1996 tax year when the current rates became effective. Under Chapter 60, Laws of 1996, a property tax deduction (or credit) was provided for resident homeowners and tenants on their principal residence in New Jersey; taxpayers are now allowed the larger of either a $50 tax credit or a deduction of up to $10,000 for property taxes paid.

Chapter 260, Laws of 1999, increased the minimum income threshold at which a taxpayer becomes liable to pay the gross income tax. The increase was phased in to a threshold of $20,000 for married persons filing jointly and to $10,000 for married persons filing separately and single filers.

Chapter 177, Laws of 1999, increased the maximum amount of certain retirement income that may be excluded from taxable income. For 2003 and thereafter, the exclusions are $20,000 for a married couple filing jointly, $10,000 for a married person filing separately, and $15,000 for a single person.

Exemptions pertaining to New Jersey Better Education Savings Trust accounts, medical savings accounts, sale of a principal residence, Roth IRAs and military pensions and survivors' benefits were enacted in 1997 and 1998. The requirement that the taxpayer be at least 62 years old or disabled to qualify for the military pension benefit exclusion was eliminated in 2001.

Chapter 80, Laws of 2001, established a New Jersey Earned Income Tax Credit for certain taxpayers, and Chapter 162, Laws of 2001, increased the exclusion for commuter transportation benefits to $1,200 and authorized an annual inflation adjustment.

In 2000, 3,485,363 individual income tax returns were filed on taxable income of $218.2 billion. Though there were 73,370 fewer returns than in 1999, taxable income rose by $20.3 billion. Statewide average gross income was $67,957, up $9,790, and the average income tax was $1,859, up $358.

The rates are 1.4% to 6.37%.

(1) The rates for married individuals filing jointly and individuals filing as head of household or as a surviving spouse are as follows on taxable income for the year 2003:

HOTEL AND MOTEL OCCUPANCY FEE AND TAX

Chapter 114, Laws of 2003, imposed a 7% state hotel and motel occupancy fee beginning Aug. 1, 2003, and authorized municipalities to impose by ordinance a local occupancy tax of up to 1%. Thirty-one municipalities had adopted the required ordinances by October 2003. The act reduces the fee to 5% and allows the local tax to be increased to 3% as of July 1, 2004. Special provisions were made for municipalities that already had occupancy taxes under prior legislation.

The levies apply to the rent of a room or rooms, and are imposed directly on the customer. Exemptions include rentals for the purposes of assembly, such as meetings and weddings, and rentals to a permanent resident.

The state fees collected by the Division of Taxation are deposited in the General Fund. For fiscal 2005 and thereafter, the act requires that at least 40% of the fee proceeds be allocated as follows: 22.68% but not less than $22.68 million to the State Council on the Arts for cultural projects; 3.84% but not less than $3.84 million to the New Jersey Historical Commission for its purposes; 12.76% but not less than $12.76 million to the Commerce and Economic Growth Commission for tourism advertising and promotion, and .72% but not less than $720,000 to the New Jersey Cultural Trust. The state's revenue estimate for fiscal 2004 was $111.4 million.

The local taxes also are collected by the state, and the proceeds are distributed to the participating municipalities.

INSURANCE PREMIUMS TAX

The Insurance Premiums Tax applies to premiums collected on insurance risks by every insurance company transacting business in New Jersey. The tax base is gross contract premiums less specified deductions. Annuity considerations and reinsurance premiums are not taxed. The first insurance premiums tax in New Jersey was enacted in 1885.

Rates of Tax

The rate is 2% on premiums collected. Major exceptions include group accident and health insurance premiums (1%); ocean marine risks (5% of three-year average of underwriting profits), and workers' compensation premiums (2.25%). If the ratio of New Jersey business to total business is greater than 12.5%, the tax is imposed on only 12.5% of total premiums. Surtaxes of .05% are imposed on group accident and health premiums and 0.1% on all other insurance premiums, with the revenues dedicated to the Department of Banking and Insurance. The Life and Health Guaranty Association formed in 1991 is supported by assessments of up to 2% each year on certain accounts.

Revenues, with the exception of some domestic revenues, are deposited in the State Treasury for general state use. Counties and municipalities continue to receive payments to replace revenues from a repealed insurance franchise tax.

LANDFILL CLOSURE AND SOLID WASTE TAXES

The Landfill Closure and Contingency Tax and the Solid Waste Services Tax are levied upon the owner or operator of every sanitary landfill facility located in New Jersey. Effective Jan. 1, 2004, the services tax rates increased from $1.40 to $1.45 per ton on all solid waste accepted for disposal and from 42 cents to 43.5 cents per cubic yard for solid waste in liquid form. The closure rates remained at 50 cents per ton and 15 cents per cubic yard. For both taxes, the rate for liquid solid waste reportable in gallons remained at .002 cents.

Revenue from the landfill tax is credited to the Sanitary Landfill Facility Contingency Fund administered by the Department of Environmental Protection for the proper closure and operation of landfills. The amount collected in fiscal 2002 was $1.9 million. The service tax revenue is deposited in the Solid Waste Services Tax Fund also administered by that department for allocation to the counties for implementing solid waste management plans. The amount collected in fiscal 2002 was $4.08 million.

LITTER CONTROL FEE

The Litter Control Fee, imposed under Chapter 128, Laws of 2002, replaced a tax on litter-generating products that expired at the end of 2000. The new law, titled the Clean Communities and Recycling Grant Act, is substantially the same in content as the former tax act. The fee is for the privilege of engaging in business as a manufacturer, wholesaler, distributor or retailer of litter-generating products measured by the gross receipts from sales of such products. The rates are $\frac{3}{100}$ of 1% (.0003) and $\frac{2.25}{100}$ of 1% (.000225) upon the wholesale and retail sales of litter-generating products, respectively. The fee is not imposed upon retailers with less than \$500,000 annual gross receipts from such sales. Restaurants where less than 10% of the business is take-out food are excluded.

Revenues are deposited in the Clean Communities Account Fund administered by the Department of Environmental Protection. Of the annual amount credited to the fund, 25%, but not more than $4 million, is appropriated to the State Recycling Fund for grants to municipalities and counties; the balance shall be used for municipal and state litter pickup and removal programs and enforcement of litter-related laws. In fiscal 2003, $13.5 million was credited to the Clean Communities Fund.

MOTOR FUELS TAX

The Motor Fuels Tax applies to sales of gasoline, diesel fuel or liquefied petroleum gas and compressed natural gas used in motor vehicles on public highways.

The state's first gasoline tax law became effective July 1, 1927, at the rate of 2¢ per gallon. The rate was increased to 3¢ in 1930, 4¢ in 1954, 5¢ in 1958, 6¢ in 1961, 7¢ in 1968, 8¢ in 1972 and 10.5¢ effective July 1, 1988. Liquid petroleum gas and liquefied or compressed natural gas are taxed at one-half the rate. Diesel fuels are taxed at a separate rate.

The Unfair Motor Fuels Practices Act of 1953 enables the Division of Taxation to check dealers' practices in giving rebates, concessions, allowances or discounts. Preferential treatment is unlawful if given with intent to injure, destroy or substantially lessen competition.

Rates of Tax

The general motor fuels rate is 10.5¢ per gallon; 5.25¢ per gallon on petroleum gas and liquefied or compressed natural gas. The diesel fuels rate is 13.5¢ per gallon, of which 3¢ per gallon is refundable for fuel used in passenger automobiles and motor vehicles of less than 5,000 pounds gross weight. There is no tax on sales to the United States or New Jersey governments.

Disposition of Revenues

Revenues are deposited in the State Treasury. In 1984, voters approved an amendment to the state Constitution dedicating, 2½ cents per gallon of the motor fuels tax to the Transportation Trust Fund program. In 1995, voters approved increasing the dedicated portion to nine cents per gallon. (See Article VIII, Section II, paragraph 4, of the Constitution.)

MOTOR VEHICLE FEES

Registration, licensing and other fees collected by the Division of Motor Vehicles amounted to $404,162,549 in fiscal 2002 and $445,691,783 in fiscal 2003. Annual registration fees ranged from $25.50 to $74, including $49 for new cars and $36.50 for cars older than two years (back to model year 1980). Legislation signed on Jan. 28, 2003, imposed a $7 surcharge on new and renewal registrations. Seniors and the handicapped are exempt from the surcharge.

OUTDOOR ADVERTISING FEE

Chapter 124, Laws of 2003, imposed a fee of 6% on the gross amounts collected by a retail seller of billboard advertising space on or after July 1, 2003, through June 30, 2004. The fee, which is addition to all other fees or excises for signs, applies to any sign permitted pursuant to the Roadside Sign Control and Outdoor Advertising Act of 1991. The revenue collected by the Division of Taxation shall be deposited with the State Treasurer and disbursed to the Department of Transportation to defray the expenses of administering the act.

PETROLEUM PRODUCTS GROSS RECEIPTS TAX

The Petroleum Products Gross Receipts Tax is imposed on all companies engaged in refining or distributing petroleum products for distribution in New Jersey. The tax act became effective July 1, 1990, excluding receipts from sales of No. 2 home heating oil and propane used for residential heating. The exemption was broadened in 1991 to Nos. 4 and 6 heating oils and kerosene. Also exempt are receipts from sales of petroleum products used by marine vessels in interstate or foreign commerce and sales of aviation fuels similarly used by common carriers, other than the burnout portion; receipts from sales of asphalt and polymer grade propylene used in the manufacture of polypropylene and receipts from sales to qualifying nonprofit entities and the governments of the United States and New Jersey.

Chapter 156, Laws of 2000, provided for a three-year phase out of the tax on fuel used by any utility, co-generation facility or wholesale generation facility to generate electricity sold at wholesale or through certain retail channels, beginning Jan. 1, 2001.

The tax was effective at a rate of 2.75% on gross receipts from the first sale in New Jersey. Chapter 181, Laws of 1991, allowed for conversion to a cents-per-gallon basis adjusted semi-annually to be at or above 4¢ per gallon for fuel oil, aviation fuel and motor fuels, including gasoline. This rate is converted to 4¢ per gallon pursuant to Chapter 48, Laws of 2000.

Revenues are deposited in the State Treasury. In 2000, voters approved an amendment to the state Constitution dedicating a portion of petroleum products tax revenue to the Transportation Trust Fund. (See Article VIII, Section II, paragraph 4, of the Constitution.)

PUBLIC COMMUNITY WATER SYSTEM TAX

The Public Community Water System Tax is levied upon the owner or operator of every public community water system in New Jersey based upon water delivered to consumers, not including water purchased for resale. The tax rate is one cent per 1,000 gallons. Revenues are deposited in the Safe Drinking Water Fund administered by the Department of Environmental Protection. The amount collected in fiscal 2003 was $3 million.

PUBLIC UTILITY TAXES

Legislation eliminating the Public Utility Franchise and Gross Receipts taxes, and replacing them with a combination of the Corporate Business Tax and the Sales Tax was effective on and after Jan. 1, 1998. A Transitional Energy Facility Assessment tax was enacted to maintain revenue neutrality in 1998, and then to be phased down by 20% per year until eliminated in 2003. However, Chapter 433, Laws of 2001, froze the assessment unit rate surcharges at 2001 rates through 2004 and reduces that surcharge ratably for 2005 through 2006.

TRANSITIONAL ENERGY FACILITY ASSESSMENT

The assessment is a temporary, partial substitute for the Public Utility Energy Unit Tax previously assessed against utilities engaged in the sale and-or transmission of energy (therms of gas or kilowatt-hours of electricity). The rates for each class and category of gas and electrical energy are established by the Board of Public Utilities.

Disposition of Revenues

Revenues are deposited into an account that is used to fund the Energy Tax Receipts Property Tax Relief Fund, which is distributed to municipalities pursuant to Chapter 167, Laws of 1997. The assessment realized $231,778,253 in fiscal 2001, $221,165,267 in fiscal 2002 and $233,037,477 in fiscal 2003. The anticipated amount for fiscal 2004 is $218,300,000.

UNIFORM TRANSITIONAL UTILITY ASSESSMENT

The Uniform Transitional Utility Assessment is assessed against utilities engaged in the sale and-or transmission of energy (therms of gas or kilowatt-hours of electricity) which were subject to the Public Utility Energy Unit Tax prior to Jan. 1, 1998, and against telecommunication providers previously subject to the Franchise and Gross Receipts Public Utility Tax assessed under Chapter 4, Laws of 1940.

Rates

For energy taxpayers, the assessment equals 50% of the taxpayer's estimate of Sales and Use Tax on energy (natural gas or electricity) and service (transportation or transmission) and Corporation Business Tax for the calendar year. For telecommunications taxpayers, the assessment equals 50% of the taxpayer's estimate of its Corporation Business Tax liability.

Disposition of Revenues

Revenues are deposited into accounts that are used to fund the Energy Tax Receipts Property Tax Relief Fund, which is distributed to municipalities. Public utility and cable television assessments realized $26,582,232 in fiscal 2001, $27,961,000 in fiscal 2002 and $27,471,000 in fiscal 2003. The anticipated amount for fiscal 2004 is $27,232,000.

PUBLIC UTILITY FRANCHISE, GROSS RECEIPTS AND EXCISE TAXES

The Public Utility Franchise Tax applies to sewerage and water companies having lines and mains along public streets; the Gross Receipts Tax is in lieu of local taxation of certain properties of sewerage and water companies, and the Excise Tax is an additional tax on sewerage and water public utilities.

Rates of Taxes

The rate of the Franchise Tax is 2% for companies with annual gross receipts of $50,000 or less and 5% for other companies; the Gross Receipts rate is 7.5% of the gross receipts, and the Excise rate is 0.625% upon gross receipts subject to the franchise tax (0.25% when gross receipts do not exceed $50,000 annually) and 0.9375% upon gross receipts of all sewerage and water public utilities.

RAILROAD PROPERTY TAX

The Railroad Tax Act of 1948 as amended distinguishes three classes of property: Class I, "main stem" roadbed; Class II, all other real estate used for railroad purposes; Class III, facilities used in passenger service. The Railroad Property Tax is a state tax on Class II property.

When the first railroad in New Jersey was chartered (Feb. 4, 1830), the state required payment for the privilege of operating a railroad. Early railroad charters provided for annual payments to the state for this privilege. The first general railroad tax law was enacted in 1884.

Rate of Tax

The rate is $4.75 for each $100 of true value of Class II railroad property.

Disposition of Revenues

Revenues are deposited in the State Treasury for general state use. However, under legislation adopted in 1966, municipalities are guaranteed certain replacement revenues. Since 1995, payments have been paid on Class II railroad properties owned by the New Jersey Transit Corporation through the Consolidated Municipal Tax Relief Aid Program administered by the Department of Community Affairs.

RAILROAD FRANCHISE TAX

The Railroad Franchise Tax is levied upon railroads or systems of railroads operating within New Jersey. The tax base is that portion of the road's or system's net railway operating income of the preceding year allocated to New Jersey. The allocating factor is the ratio of the number of miles of all track in the state to the total number of miles of all track over which the railroad or system operates.

Laws of 1941 introduced a tax base formula which replaced a franchise valuations systems. In 1948, net railway operating income allocated to New Jersey became the tax base and a tax rate of 10% was imposed. The minimum rates are $100 for railroads having operating revenues in the preceding year of less than $1 million and $4,000 for those with operating revenues in excess of $1 million.

Revenues are deposited in the State Treasury for general state use. The tax produced $1,097,901 in fiscal 2003. The anticipated amount for fiscal 2004 is $540,000.

REALTY TRANSFER FEE

The Realty Transfer Fee, is applied to the recording of deeds which transfer title to real property in New Jersey. The act requires a record be made of the selling price of real property. Proceeds from the fee are shared by the state and the counties.

The fee does not apply in a number of circumstances, including sales for less than $100, transactions between husband and wife or parent and child, and sales to effect distribution of an estate or as a result of a divorce decree. Two types of transfers are exempt from the state portion of the fee. These are sales of one- or two-family residences owned and occupied by a senior citizen (age 62 or older) or a blind or disabled person, and sales of low and moderate income housing as defined by law.

The basic fee was established in 1968 and was increased from 50¢ to $1.75 for each $500 of consideration of fractional part thereof in 1975. In 1985, an additional fee of 75¢ was imposed for each $500 of the sale price in excess of $150,000. Chapter 113, Laws of 2003, added supplemental fees of 25¢ for each $500 not in excess of $150,000, 85¢ for each $500 over $150,000 but not in excess of $200,000, and $1.40 for each $500 over $200,000. The fees are paid by the sellers.

Rates of Fee

Effective July 14, 2003, the fees became $2 for each $500 of consideration or fractional part thereof not in excess of $150,000; $3.35 for each $500 over $150,000 but not over $200,000, and $3.90 for each $500 over $200,000.

Disposition of Revenues

Revenues are collected by the county recording officer. An amount equal to 28.6% of the proceeds from the first $1.75 for each $500 of consideration (50¢) is retained for county use. The county also receives 25¢ of the supplemental fees per $500 of consideration that were enacted in 2003; the first $4.1 million collected by the counties must be remitted to the Public Health Priority Fund. The rest of the revenue is for the use of the state, with the first $25 million dedicated to shore protection projects. Additional revenue under the fee structure in effect prior to the 2003 changes is credited to the Neighborhood Preservation Nonlapsing Revolving Fund; the amount was $52.6 million in fiscal 2002. The balance of the supplemental fees enacted in 2003 is deposited in an Extraordinary Aid Account established for providing extraordinary special education and Municipal Property Tax Relief Act aid.

SALES and USE TAX

The Sales and Use Tax Act applies to receipts from retail sale, rental or use of tangible personal property, retail sale of producing, fabricating, processing, installing, maintaining, repairing, storing and servicing tangible personal property, maintaining, servicing or repairing real property, certain direct mail services, sales of restaurant meals, rental of hotel and motel rooms, certain admission charges and telecommunications services.

A compensating use tax is also imposed on retail purchases of tangible personal property or services made outside the state for use in New Jersey on which a sales tax would be due but has not been paid.

All persons required to collect the tax must file an application for registration.

New Jersey's first sales tax was enacted in 1935 at a rate of 2%. It expired in 1938. The Sales and Use Tax Act, Chapter 30, Laws of 1966, became effective July 1, 1966, at a rate of 3%. The rate was increased to 5% effective March 1, 1970, to 6% effective Jan. 3, 1983, and to 7% effective July 1, 1990. Chapter 11, Laws of 1992, reduced the rate to its current level of 6% effective July 1, 1992.

The 1966 act exempted various items and services from the tax. Additional exemptions were provided in 1970, in conjunction with the rate increase to 5%. Production machinery and equipment were exempted in 1978, as were the sale, rental and leasing of commercial motor vehicles weighing more than 18,000 pounds. Recycling equipment was exempted in 1982. Nonprescription drugs, household paper products, soaps and detergents were exempted in 1983, after the rate was increased to 6%.

Effective July 1, 1990, when the rate was increased to 7%, the tax was extended to several previously exempt items and services. These included household soaps and soap products, disposable paper products, alcoholic beverages sold by the drink and as package goods, cigarettes sold over the counter and through vending machines, the sale, rental, leasing and repair of trucks weighing over 18,000 pounds, janitorial services, advertising space in telephone directories, and certain telecommunications services. Later in 1990, the tax affecting trucks was retroactively changed to apply only to vehicles weighing over 26,000 pounds. In 1991, the exemption on disposable paper products for household use was reinstated. In 1993, local public pay phone calls were exempted, retroactive to 1990. In 1995, advertising space in telephone "yellow pages" and certain radio and television broadcast production equipment were exempted, effective in 1996. The tax was extended to sales of energy in 1997. It was repealed on sales of advertising services, other than direct mail, in 1998. Exemptions approved in 1999 included repairs to certain aircraft, the costs and repair of commuter ferryboats, and sales of firearm trigger locks and firearm vaults. Also in 1999, the film and video industries were granted expanded exemptions, the farm use exemption was revised, and exempt status was extended to the National Guard, the Marine Corps League and war veterans' posts or associations. In 2001, an exemption was granted for the sale and repair of limousines (but not the cost of labor).

Other major exemptions include sales of newspapers and magazines, casual sales except motor vehicles and registered boats, clothing except furs, farm supplies and equipment, flags of the United States and New Jersey, unprepared food for off-premises consumption, food sold in school cafeterias, prescription drugs and other medical aids, motor fuels, periodicals and textbooks, professional and personal services, real estate sales, tangible personal property used in research and development, and transportation of persons or property.

Disposition of Revenues

Revenues are deposited in the State Treasury for general state use. In 1998, voters approved an amendment to Article VIII, Section II, of the Constitution dedicating $98 million in each fiscal year for 10 years (1999 to 2009) from sales and use tax revenues for the acquisition and development of lands for recreation and conservation purposes, for the preservation of farmland, and for historic preservation. The amendment also dedicates up to $98 million a year for up to 20 years thereafter (2009 to 2029) to satisfy related debt obligations. In 2000, voters approved another amendment dedicating a portion of the revenue to the construction and repair of the state's transportation system—a minimum $80 million in fiscal 2002, $140 million in fiscal 2003, and $200 million in each fiscal year thereafter, approximating amounts equal to one-third of tax revenues from the sale of new motor vehicles.

SAVINGS INSTITUTION TAX

The Savings Institution Tax, based upon net income, was eliminated under the Business Tax Reform Act of 2002, which incorporated its features into the Corporation Business Tax. The tax was imposed in 1973, and a rate of 3% of net income had been in effect since 1980. Revenues for fiscal 2003 amounted to $9,292,175, and the anticipated amount for fiscal 2004 was $5 million.

SPILL COMPENSATION AND CONTROL TAX

The Spill Compensation and Control Tax is imposed on owners or operators of one or more refineries, storage or transfer terminals, pipelines, deep water ports or drilling platforms used to refine, store, produce, handle, transfer, process or transport hazardous substances, including petroleum products, to ensure compensation for cleanup costs and damages due to discharge of hazardous substances. The tax is also imposed on owners of a hazardous substance which is transferred to a public storage terminal, and to any transferor of a previously untaxed nonpetroleum hazardous substance from a major state facility to one which is a non-major facility. The tax was enacted in 1976 and became effective in 1977.

Rates of Tax

Nonpetroleum hazardous substances—greater of $0.015 per barrel or 1% of fair market value plus $0.0025 per barrel; Petroleum products, precious metals and elemental phosphorus — $0.015 per barrel. The tax rate may be increased in the case of a major discharge or series of discharges, to up to 4¢ per barrel and until the revenue produced equals 150% of costs and damages.

TOBACCO PRODUCTS WHOLESALE SALES AND USE TAX

The Tobacco Products Wholesale Sales and Use Tax is imposed on the receipts from every sale of tobacco products, other than cigarettes, by a distributor or a wholesaler to a retail dealer or consumer. The tax was effective July 1, 1990, and is applicable to products such as cigars, cigarillos, chewing tobacco, pipe and smoking tobaccos, tobacco substitutes and snuff.

Rate of Tax

The rate was 24% through 1997 on the receipts from all sales of tobacco products. Chapter 264, Laws of 1997, increased the rate to 48%, effective Jan. 1, 1998. Chapter 448, Laws of 2001, reduced the rate to 30%, effective March 1, 2002, and established the manufacturer's wholesale price as the tax base.

TRANSFER INHERITANCE AND ESTATE TAXES

The Transfer Inheritance Tax applies to the transfer of all personal property and New Jersey real property having a value of $500 or more in estates of resident decedents and of real property and tangible personal property in New Jersey of nonresident decedents.

The Estate Tax is imposed in addition to the Transfer Inheritance Tax on estates of resident decedents. Chapter 31, Laws of 2002, provided that the tax is to be computed either according to the terms of the Federal Estate Tax in effect on Dec. 31, 2001, or by using a simplified system developed by the Division of Taxation. This preserved the New Jersey tax as the federal credit on which it was based was being phased out.

New Jersey first imposed an inheritance tax in 1892 at a rate of 5% on property transferred from a decedent to a beneficiary. In 1909, legislation was enacted which formed the basis of the present inheritance tax. In 1934, legislation was enacted which formed the basis of the estate tax. Various changes were made in subsequent years.

Exemptions include all transfers under $500; life insurance proceeds paid to a named beneficiary; charitable and public purpose transfers, federal civil service retirement benefits payable to a beneficiary other than the estate, annuities payable to survivors of military retirees, and qualified employment annuities paid to a surviving spouse.

Rates of Tax

Transfer inheritance rates are from 11% to 16%, beginning with shares of over $25,000, on transfers to brother or sister of decedent, wife or widow of a son of decedent, or husband or widower of a daughter of decedent, and from 15% to 16%, beginning with shares of over $500, on other taxable bequests. No tax is imposed on immediate family (direct ancestors or descendants) or spouses.

LOCAL PROPERTY TAX

An ad valorem tax—The local property tax is measured by property values and is apportioned among taxpayers according to the assessed value of taxable property owned by each taxpayer. It applies to real estate and tangible personal property of telephone, telegraph and messenger systems companies.

A local tax—The property tax is a local tax assessed and collected by municipalities for the support of municipal and county governments and local school districts. No part of it is used for support of state government.

Amount of tax (a residual tax)—The amount of local property tax is determined each year, in each municipality, to supply whatever revenue is required to meet budgeted expenditures not covered by monies available from all other sources. School districts and counties notify municipalities of their property tax requirements. Municipalities add their own requirements and levy taxes to raise the entire amount. As a residual local tax, the total property tax is determined by local budgets and not by property valuations or tax rates.

Property assessment (the tax base)—All taxable property is assessed (valued for taxation) by local assessors in each municipality. Assessments are expressed in terms of “taxable value,” except for qualified farm land, which is specially valued.

The property tax may be said to have originated in 1670 with a levy of one half-penny per acre to support the central government. Through the middle of the 19th century property taxes were levied upon real estate and certain personal property at arbitrary rates within certain limits called "certainties." In 1851, the concepts of a general property tax and uniform assessments according to actual value were developed.

For almost a century following the 1851 legislation, a continuing effort was made to accomplish uniform taxation under a general property tax. The State Constitution adopted in 1947 provided that "property shall be assessed for taxation under general laws and by uniform rules." The state Supreme Court in Switz v. Middletown Township, et al., a 1957 decision, required that all taxable property be assessed at "true value" (100% assessment). This was the beginning of a series of court decisions which have been a major factor in development of uniform real estate tax assessment.

A long period of legislative history has developed numerous exemptions and various special property tax treatments. Generally exempt are government-owned property and property of religious, educational, charitable and various types of nonprofit organizations. In addition, qualified senior citizens and disabled persons are permitted a tax deduction of $250 annually. Voters in 1999 approved increasing the veterans' deduction from $50 to $250 over four years; the deduction reached the $250 level in 2003.

Chapter 348, Laws of 1997, created the Property Tax Reimbursement Program which effectively freezes property taxes for eligible senior citizens and disabled persons by reimbursing them for property tax increases. Applicants must meet certain income eligibility limits.

Rate of Tax

The local property tax rate is determined each year in each municipality by relating the total amount of tax levy to the total of all assessed valuations taxable. Expressed in $1 per $100 of taxable assessed value, the tax rate is a multiplier for use in determining the amount of tax levied upon each property. The total taxable value of land and improvements in New Jersey in 2001 was $494.8 billion, up $23.8 billion from 2000.

HOMESTEAD AND NJ SAVER REBATES

Chapter 61, Laws of 1990, created a new Homestead Property Tax Rebate Program to provide rebates for both homeowners and tenants. The program replaced certain other direct property tax relief programs, including the original program enacted in 1976.

The application for the Homestead Property Tax Rebate was combined with the resident income tax return beginning with the tax return for 1990; benefits were linked to income level and amount of property tax paid. For tax year 2002, homestead rebates ranged from $90 to $775; the range for tenants was $100 to $775. Homeowners and tenants under 65 were not eligible if their gross incomes exceeded $40,000. The eligibility limit was $100,000 for those 65 or older or blind or disabled.

Chapter 63, Laws of 1999, the New Jersey School Assessment Valuation Exemption Relief (NJ SAVER) and Homestead Rebate Act, created a new, direct property tax relief program. The SAVER program provides a reimbursement based on the amount of school taxes paid. Homeowners who qualify for both the homestead rebate and the SAVER rebate receive the one providing the greater benefit. SAVER rebate checks mailed in September 2003, for the 2002 tax year, averaged $250, half the amount for tax year 2001. Individual and married couples with gross income in excess of $200,000 were not eligible.

URBAN ENTERPRISE ZONES

The Urban Enterprise Zones Act of 1983 provides tax and other advantages to enhance development efforts in economically distressed urban centers. Qualified municipalities apply to the Urban Enterprise Zone Authority to have an area designated as an Urban Enterprise Zone. Businesses must apply to the local municipal zone coordinator to be certified as a "qualified business" before they can take advantage of the benefits.

Initially ten zones were established in Bridgeton, Camden, Elizabeth, Jersey City, Kearny, Millville-Vineland, Newark, Orange, Plainfield and Trenton. A 1993 act allowed for the designation of up to ten additional zones. New zones were established in Asbury Park-Long Branch, Carteret, Lakewood, Mount Holly, Passaic, Paterson, Perth Amboy, Phillipsburg, Pleasantville and Union City. Seven additional zones were authorized in 1996, adding East Orange, Guttenberg, Hillside, Irvington, North Bergen, Pemberton and West New York to the list. Three more zones were established in 2002: Bayonne, Roselle and a joint zone consisting of North Wildwood, Wildwood, Wildwood Crest and West Wildwood. This brought the total number of zones to 30, covering 35 municipalities.

The possible benefits conferred on qualified businesses that choose to operate within a designated Urban Enterprise Zone include:

Corporation Business Tax credits for hiring new employees; Sales and Use Tax exemption for purchases of building materials, most tangible personal property and most services for business use; unemployment tax rebates; authorization to impose state sales tax at 50% of the regular rate; skills training programs to meet employment demands; priority for funding by Local Development Financing Fund; exemptions from certain state and municipal regulations; eligibility for reduced utility rates and energy assistance funds.

A vendor within an Urban Enterprise Zone wishing to collect the sales tax at the reduced rate of 3% must first be certified as a “qualified business,” and then approved by the Division of Taxation.

A qualified business may collect at the reduced rate only on a face-to-face retail sale of tangible property to a buyer who comes to its business location within the zone. Thus, telephone, mail order or catalog sales do not qualify. Sales of certain items are not eligible. The tax must be collected at the full regular rate on sales of restaurant meals and prepared food, cigarettes, alcoholic beverages, energy and the sale, rental or lease of motor vehicles. The reduced rate does not apply to sales of any services.

A qualified business may purchase items of tangible personal property (office and business equipment, supplies, furnishings, fixtures, etc.) and taxable services (construction work, repair and installation services, etc.) which are for the exclusive use of the business at its location in the zone without paying sales tax. Building materials used at the zone location are also exempt from tax, whether purchased by the qualified business or the contractor. The exemption from sales tax does not apply to purchases or repairs of motor vehicles, or purchases of telecommunications services and energy.

TOBACCO SETTLEMENT

The Department of the Treasury reported in 2000 that New Jersey was expected to receive approximately $7 billion over the next 24 years from the Tobacco Settlement reached in 1998 between 46 states and the major tobacco companies. The settlement resolved cigarette-smoking related claims in exchange for certain payments to be made to the settling states, and certain advertising with regard to tobacco marketing restrictions.

During fiscal 2003, the state established the Tobacco Settlement Financing Corporation (TSFC) as an instrumentality of, but separate from, the state. A board consisting of the Commissioner of Health and Senior Services, the State Treasurer and a public member appointed by the Governor governs the TSFC. The state sold to the TSFC all of its future right, title and interest in the Tobacco Settlement Revenues under the Tobacco Settlement Agreement and the Decree of Final Judgment. As of June 30, 2003, the TSFC had issued approximately $3.46 billion of Tobacco Settlement Asset-Backed Bonds. For fiscal 2003, the state's general fund received $1.557 billion of bond proceeds and other settlement payments, and for fiscal 2004 it was to receive an estimated $1.612 billion. The remaining funds were used to make a deposit to the Debt Service Reserve Account, pay certain costs of issuance on the bonds, fund capitalized interest and make a deposit to the Operating Account.

The John Wells, a ship of the Newark Whaling Company commanded by Captain Uriah Russell, sailed for whaling grounds in the Pacific on Nov. 24, 1834. When she returned to Newark Feb. 23, 1837, the value of her cargo was estimated at $50,000 to $60,000.

Arcade Building, Tennessee Avenue and the Boardwalk
Atlantic City 08401
Tel. 609-441-3422; Fax 609-441-3552

The commission was created in 1977 after voters approved casino gambling in Atlantic City. It is responsible for licensing casinos, their employees and firms doing business with them. It promulgates regulations, conducts inspections and collects license fees and taxes from casino gaming.

The commission is an independent agency in, but not of, the Department of the Treasury. Its task of regulating casinos is shared with the Division of Gaming Enforcement in the Department of Law and Public Safety.

From May 26, 1978, when Resorts International opened the first casino, through June 30, 2003, the commission collected $5.62 billion in taxes on gross casino revenue of $70.29 billion. This money, which earned $124.1 million in interest, was used to aid eligible senior citizens and disabled persons through programs authorized by the Legislature.

The tax rate is 8 percent of the gross casino revenue. Income from the tax goes into the Casino Revenue Fund. License fee income is allocated to the Casino Control Fund. The fiscal 2003-04 state budget appropriated $26.9 million from the control fund for the administration of casino gambling and $35.8 million for gaming enforcement. There are 12 casino-hotels in Atlantic City (Chapter 116, Laws of 2003, imposed a 7.5 percent fee on the annual adjusted net income of casinos in calendar years 2003-06).

The bipartisan commission, established in 1973, administers the Campaign Contributions and Expenditures Reporting Act, which requires candidates and campaign committees to file reports of contributors, contributions and expenditures, and as amended to include contribution limits, political action registrations, campaign fund usage guidelines and the listing of contributors' occupations and employers. The authority, created in 1971 under legislation signed by Gov. William T. Cahill, is the administrative agency for Meadowlands Racetrack, Giants Stadium and the Continental Airlines Arena, which occupy a 750-acre tract in East Rutherford. The authority originally had seven public members and four ex officio members. Two more public members were added in 1992. Legislation signed in January 2002 increased the public membership to 11 and removed the Attorney General as an ex officio member.

In 1984, Gov. Thomas H. Kean signed legislation enabling the authority to build a baseball stadium outside the existing Meadowlands tract, acquire ownership interests in sports franchises, expand its racing operations, build and operate hotels on or near the Meadowlands, and build and operate aquariums. The authority acquired Monmouth Park race track in Oceanport in 1985 under the legislation, and oversaw construction of the Thomas H. Kean New Jersey State Aquarium on the Delaware River waterfront in Ulysses S. Wiggins Park, Camden, which opened in 1992. A proposal for a $185 million state bond issue to finance construction of a baseball stadium in Lyndhurst was defeated by voters in 1987.

Gov. James J. Florio signed legislation in 1992 empowering the authority to undertake additional projects, including a convention center in Atlantic City, expansion of the Rutgers University football stadium, and the funding of other collegiate sports facilities. CONVENTION DELEGATES

2000 DEMOCRATIC DELEGATES

The 122 delegates who represented New Jersey at the Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles, California, August 14 through 17, 2000, are listed below. All cast their votes for the nomination of Vice President Albert Gore of Tennessee. Jon Corzine was the delegation chairman.

The delegates were accredited in a fourfold process.

Sixty-eight were elected as district delegates in the June 6 primary election. The constituencies were 20 districts created by pairing the state's 40 Legislative Districts.

Twenty-three delegates at large and 14 other public leaders or elected officials were chosen at the June 17 Democratic state convention. They were voted upon by Democratic State Committee members and the 68 district delegates.

Seventeen other "automatic" delegates were accredited by virtue of their party titles or public offices.

2003 PUBLIC QUESTIONS

2003 QUESTION: LANGUAGE and TOTAL VOTE

Votes cast Nov. 4, 2003

Public Question No. 1

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO INCREASE BONDING AUTHORITY FOR STATE'S OPEN SPACE, FARMLAND, AND HISTORIC PRESERVATION PROGRAMS

Shall the amendment to Article VIII, Section II, paragraph 7 of the Constitution of the State of New Jersey, agreed to by the Legislature, increasing, from an amount not to exceed $1,000,000,000 to an amount not to exceed $1,150,000,000, to aggregate principal amount of bonds, notes, or other obligations which may be issued by the Garden State Preservation Trust for open space, farmland, and historic preservation purposes and which are payable from the constitutional dedication through State fiscal year 2029 of up to $98 million annually in State revenue for the State tax imposed under the "Sales and Use Tax Act," be approved?

INTERPRETIVE STATEMENT

Approval of this constitutional amendment would increase the cap on the total amount of bonds that may be issued by the Garden State Preservation Trust to raise revenue for open space, farmland, and historic preservation efforts in the State. The cap currently is $1 billion, and this measure, if approved, would increase it by $150 million, so that the new cap would be $1.15 billion. The Constitution dedicates for State fiscal years 2000 through 2009 the sum of $98 million annually, in State sales and use tax revenue to finance open space, farmland, and historic preservation, including the payment of any debt that may be incurred from the issuance of bonds for those purposes. This measure would make available $150 million more in bond funding for open space, farmland, and historic preservation but would not increase the amount of the constitutional dedication of up to $98 million annually in State sales and use tax revenue to be used for such purposes.

Public Question No. 2

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO EXPAND USES OF DEDICATED TAX REVENUE TO FUND HAZARDOUS DISCHARGE CLEANUPS

Shall the amendment to Article VIII, Section II, paragraph 6 of the Constitution of the State of New Jersey, expanding the authorized uses of the constitutionally dedicated Corporation Business Tax revenue, to include funding the costs of the remediation of hazardous discharges, and funding the costs of a State underground storage tank inspection program, be approved?

INTERPRETIVE STATEMENT

Approval of this constitutional amendment would expand the authorized uses of the constitutionally dedicated portion of the Corporation Business Tax revenues to allow funding, including the provision of loans or grants, for the costs of remediation of discharges of hazardous substances. Since 1966, 4% of the annual revenue from the Corporation Business Tax has been constitutionally dedicated, with a minimum of one-half allocated for hazardous discharge cleanup performed by the State, a minimum of one sixth or a minimum of $5 million allocated for water quality projects and, until December 31, 2008, a minimum of one third allocated for funding loans or grants for underground storage tank upgrades, replacements, closures and remediations. This constitutional amendment would, without increasing taxes, expand the authorized uses of the one third dedicated to underground storage tank projects, to allow that portion to be used also for funding loans or grants to remediate hazardous substance discharges, and for the use of up to $2 million per year for an underground storage tank inspection program, and, by removing the December 31, 2008 expiration date, would continue its allocation for those purposes.

Public Question No. 3

DAM, LAKE, STREAM, FLOOD CONTROL, WATER RESOURCES, AND WASTEWATER TREATMENT BOND ISSUE

Shall the “Dam, Lake, Stream, Flood Control, Water Resources, and Wastewater Treatment Project Bond Act of 2003,” which authorizes the State to issue bonds in the amount of $200,000,000 for the purposes of providing financing for the restoration and repair of dams, the dredging and restoration of lakes, the cleaning and desnagging of streams to diminish flooding and property damage therefrom, and providing financing for flood control projects, water resources projects and wastewater treatment system projects, and providing the ways and means to pay the interest on the debt and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof, be approved?

INTERPRETIVE STATEMENT

Approval of this act would authorize the sale of $200,000,000 in State general obligation bonds to be used for the purposes of providing $15,000,000 to restore and repair State-owned dams, $95,000,000 in low-interest loans to owners of dams for dam restoration and repair projects, and $15,000,000 in low-interest loans to owners of lakes and streams and private lake associations, with local governments as co-applicants, for lake dredging and restoration, or stream cleaning and desnagging projects, necessary to diminish severe flooding in the State; $25,000,000 to finance State flood control projects, and $50,000,000 for water resources projects and wastewater treatment system projects.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT

Counties derive their authority from the State. New Jersey is the only state in which the county governing body is called the Board of Chosen Freeholders. The basic law establishing boards of freeholders was enacted in 1798 and provided for representation on the board from each municipality. This structure remained unchanged until 1912, when the Legislature authorized the election of a small board representing the county-at-large. All counties now are governed by boards of no more than nine freeholders. The dates in the listings below are the years in which fixed terms expire or the final year of elective terms. Freeholders and sheriffs are elected for terms of three years; county executives are elected for four years, and county clerks and surrogates are elected for five years. Board of Elections members are appointed for two years. Board of Taxation members are appointed for three years in counties having three-member boards and for five years in counties with populations over 510,000, which have five-member boards. County prosecutors are appointed for five years. The minimum salaries of county clerks, sheriffs, surrogates and registers of deeds and mortgages are fixed at 65% of the annual salary of Superior Court Judges.

NEW JERSEY ASSOCIATION OF COUNTIES

150 W. State St., Trenton 08608

Tel. 609-394-3467; Fax 609-989-8567; Internet www.njac.org

The association was founded in 1921 to represent the interests of the 21 county freeholder boards. Incorporated as the New Jersey Association of Chosen Freeholders, its name was changed in 1977 to provide for the participation and representation of all county officials.

Freeholder John P. Kelly, Ocean, president; Freeholder Helene M. Reed, Gloucester, vice-president; Freeholder Frank J. Fuzo, Hunterdon, second vice president; Freeholder Louis N. Magazzu, Cumberland, secretary-treasurer; Freeholder Jane Z. Brady, Middlesex, immediate past president.

Executive Director—Celeste Carpiano, Colts Neck.

The Walsh Act, enabling municipalities to adopt the commission form of government, was enacted in 1911. It was regarded as a great reform because of the direct lines of accountability that it established.

UNITED STATES SENATORS

Senators serve terms of six years. Senator Corzine's term expires in January of 2007; Senator Lautenberg's in January of 2009. The Senate salary was increased 2.2 percent to about $158,000, effective in January 2004. The salary was $154,700 in 2003. Both houses of Congress approved the raise in their salaries. An annual inflation increase is automatic unless voted down. Senators are prohibited from accepting honoraria, but are allowed up to 15 percent of salary in other outside earned income.

JON S. CORZINE, DEM., HOBOKEN

Senator Corzine was elected to the Senate in 2000, receiving 50.1 percent of the vote against Republican Robert D. Franks and nine other candidates. Congressional Quarterly said he conducted the "most expensive self-financed race in history, spending more than $50 million of his own money." A report filed with the Federal Election Commission placed the cost of his campaign at nearly $62 million.

He is a member of the Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs, the Committee on the Budget and the Committee on Foreign Relations. He is a member of the banking panel's subcommittees on Economic Policy, Financial Institutions, Housing and Transportation, and Securities and Investment. He was named chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee in December of 2002.

Senator Corzine was born in Taylorville, Ill., on Jan. 1, 1947. He received a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign in 1969, and a master's degree in business administration from the University of Chicago in 1973. He served in the Marine Corps Reserve from 1969 to 1975, rising to the rank of sergeant in an infantry unit. He began a career in finance as a portfolio analyst at Continental Illinois National Bank in Chicago, and after receiving his MBA degree worked at Bank Ohio in Columbus. In 1975, he was hired as a bond trader at Goldman, Sachs & Co., a New York investment bank, and moved with his family to New Jersey. He became chairman and chief executive officer of the firm in 1994. He retired in 1999 after converting the firm to a public company.

Senator Corzine, who is divorced, has three adult children.

FRANK R. LAUTENBERG, DEM., CLIFFSIDE PARK

Senator Lautenberg retired after serving three consecutive terms in the Senate from 1982 through 2000. On Oct. 1, 2002, the Democratic State Committee selected him to replace Sen. Robert G. Torricelli as the party's Senate candidate in the Nov. 5 general election. This occurred the day after Mr. Torricelli, who had been "severely admonished" by the Senate Ethics Committee for violating a ban on accepting gifts, withdrew from the race. After a five-week campaign, Mr. Lautenberg was elected with 53.9 percent of the vote against Republican Douglas Forrester and four other candidates. He began his new term in the Senate in January 2003.

The switch in candidates was upheld by the state Supreme Court, which ruled that it "is in the public interest and the general intent of the election laws to preserve the two-party system and to submit to the electorate a ballot bearing the names of candidates of both major political parties as well as of all other qualifying parties and groups." A provision in the laws provided for filling a vacancy that occurred not later than the 51st day before the general election, but the court said the statutes should be liberally construed to allow the voters a choice on election day.

Upon his return, Senator Lautenberg was assigned to the Committee on Commerce, Science and Transportation and the Committee on Governmental Affairs.

Senator Lautenberg was born in Paterson on Jan. 23, 1924. He attended Nutley High School, served in the Army Signal Corps during World War II, and in 1949 received a Bachelor of Science degree from the Columbia University School of Business.

He was a sales representative for the Prudential Insurance Co. from 1949 to 1952, when he joined Automated Payrolls, Inc., which later became Automatic Data Processing, Inc. He was president of Automatic Data Processing from 1969 to 1975 and chairman of its board and chief executive officer from 1975 to 1982. He served as a member of the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey from 1978 to 1982, and also formerly served on the New Jersey Economic Development Authority. He is founder of the Lautenberg Center for General Tumor Immunology, Medical School of Hebrew University, Jerusalem.

Senator Lautenberg, who is divorced, has four adult children and three grandchildren.

Members are prohibited from accepting honoraria, but are allowed up to 15 percent of salary in other outside earned income.
